Dear Attorney General,

I just watched your announcement regarding the Fantasy Sports Regulations that you are about to impose. I want to applaud you for spending a considerable amount of time looking into and analyzing this very complex subject of on-line sports gambling. Thank you for not making a quick knee-jerk stand against fantasy sports. It shows your concern for the enjoyment and the welfare of all Massachusetts citizens.

I am a 70 year old sports fan who played sports all my life and really enjoy watching them on TV now. I never thought of getting into playing fantasy sports until a friend of mine told me about his $10,000 win last year. He's NOT an expert nor is he extremely knowledgeable about sports but just another sports fan as myself. Your statement that less than 2% of the players win 90% of the winnings may be slightly inaccurate. My first $10 entry using Draft Kings resulted in a $70 profit, the following week $36. This was not by CHANCE as is hitting the spin button on DerbyJackpot.com randomly picking horses. I'm a football fan and spend a fairly large amount of time researching and analyzing my picks. In my opinion this takes skill and knowledge of the game (football).

I'm about to read your regulations in full and agree with your decision banning college games and players under 21. Regulations are very important to safeguard against abuses by the operators and/or players with an advantage.

Again, thank you for not shutting down fantasy sports and for putting in place responsible regulations which allows the average sports fan to enjoy the games with a small investment. As we all know you can lose money taking a chance on stocks too.
