Massachusetts
grown...and fresher!™

farm fresh direct from local growers

Whether you live in the city or suburbs, a Massachusetts farmers' market is not too far from you. From spring until late fall, you can find local growers set up with their canopies and colorful displays of just-harvested fruits and vegetables in town squares, parks and other public spaces. At many farmers' markets you will also find an array of other farm products, including baked goods, jams and jellies, maple products, honey, farmstead cheeses, flowers, turkey products, eggs and more! The festive atmosphere and fresh foods will certainly please all your senses.
