Gay-Straight Alliances

Youth Survey 2014

TOPICS IN GSA MEETINGS

Brief Report 2

“ A Gay-Straight Alliance (GSA) is a student-run club, typically in a high school or middle school, which provides a safe place for students to meet, support each other, talk about issues related to sexual orientation and gender identity and expression, and work to end homophobia and transphobia.”

- gsanetwork.org

Some GSAs have started renaming themselves Gender Sexuality Alliances to be more inclusive of the wide spectrum of gender and sexual orientations. Previous studies across the nation have provided evidence showing that...¹⁻⁶

- the presence of GSAs may make schools safer and more accessible for LGBTQ youth by challenging biased language and harassment as well as by creating a more positive school climate;
- GSA involvement may help LGBTQ youth identify supportive school staff and foster members' sense of school connectedness and academic achievement;
- LGBTQ youths' participation in GSAs may have a positive impact on their wellbeing into their young adulthood.

To extend this area of work, a collaborative team of researchers, practitioners, youth workers across several community-based agencies, teachers, and members of the Massachusetts Commission on LGBTQ Youth developed a broad GSA youth survey. This questionnaire aimed to capture: (a) the varied experiences of youth involved in GSAs across Massachusetts and how these experiences related to positive developmental outcomes; and, (b) the ways in which GSAs operated and the activities and discussions that occurred within them. The interdisciplinary team aimed to identify issues of pressing interest and concern, as well as relevant facets of GSAs to be examined. The team drew from empirically-supported models of positive youth development in general, the existing conceptual and empirical literature on GSAs specifically, and field-based data and reports to inform the development and refinement of this project. Based on the data collected from 308 youth in 42 GSAs across Massachusetts, we have generated a series of brief reports on the following set of topics:

- activities and events done by GSAs
- members' involvement and group dynamics
- topics discussed in GSA meetings
- members' wellbeing
- functions of GSAs
- members' diversity knowledge and interactions

USAGE GUIDE

We hope that these briefs can serve as a tool for stimulating discussions among GSA members and advisors on how to maximize the potential for your GSA to meet the needs and interests of members. Variations in responses exist across GSAs in different schools. For GSAs with more than seven participants, results specifically based on your GSA are presented separately from those based on the overall sample of GSAs participating in this project. For GSAs with fewer than seven respondents, results reflect responses from the overall sample. In both cases, however, please interpret the findings with caution, as the sample of youth in your GSA and the overall sample may not be entirely representative of the overall membership of your GSA or population of GSA-involved youth in Massachusetts. Lastly, please note that the amount of missing data varied across items.

This brief focuses on the topics discussed in GSA meetings.

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT?

- ☼ There may be some issues your GSA has overlooked that could be important to some members, or that could encourage more people to come to the GSA
- ☼ This could help your GSA think of ways to discuss important issues that members know less about or that could be challenging

WHAT CAN WE DISCUSS BASED ON THIS BRIEF?

- ☼ Are there any topics you feel we should spend more or less time discussing? Why?
- ☼ What can we do so that we feel able to discuss some topics that might be difficult or challenging?
