Municipalities with Pay-As-You-Throw Programs

Prepared by:

Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection

Bureau of Waste Prevention

October 2008

KEY

Pay-As-You-Throw (PAYT) - also known as unit-based pricing - is a system in which residents pay for each unit of waste discarded rather than paying a fixed fee per residential household. It is equivalent to putting a price tag on each container of trash that is placed at the curb or taken to the landfill or transfer station for disposal. As residents pay directly for waste disposal services, they have a financial incentive to reduce their waste through recycling, composting and source reduction.

Town Name:		Start Date:	Date PAYT program was implemented	Population:	Number of residents
# of Households:	Total number of households in community	# of HH served:	Total number of households participating in the PAYT program	Type of Residences Served	Range of residential units per building that are served by PAYT program
