

A Landscape Transformed

Enfield, MA was one of four towns in the Swift River Valley. This view of Enfield Village was taken in 1927.

The Reservoir project was begun in 1927 and all land to be flooded was cleared of structures and vegetation. This view shows the site of Enfield Village at the end of the clearing in 1939.

This view of Quabbin Reservoir from Enfield Lookout in 1989 shows the transformation of the landscape from Valley to Reservoir.

photo by Les Campbell