Professional Development Workshop for Educators

Project WILD; Mammals in Winter

Sat., March 12; 9:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m. $25

Educators of children in grades K-12 are invited to a special Project WILD workshop at Northfield Mountain Recreation and Environmental Center. Project WILD is an award-winning interdisciplinary, conservation, and environmental education program that emphasizes wildlife, people, and the environment. The program guide contains over 100 activities for K-12 educators and is correlated to Next Generation Science Standards Student Performance Expectations. We will model fun and engaging activities that teach about a variety of Massachusetts mammals and winter ecology. Taking place both indoors and outdoors, we'll track animals in the field and learn different track patterns as well as activities to teach about tracking. Workshop participants will receive a copy of the Project WILD Activity Guide, natural history information about local mammals, 6 hours towards PDPs as well as a certificate of completion. The workshop will be taught by Kim Noyes, Education Coordinator at Northfield Mountain and Patti Steinman, Education Coordinator for MassAudubon's Connecticut River Valley Sanctuaries. Please bring snowshoes if you have them or they are available to rent at Northfield.
