

BRAVO PET FOOD RECALL

Bravo is recalling select lots of dog and cat food because they have the potential to be contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes.

Listeria monocytogenes is an organism which can cause serious and sometimes fatal infections in young children, frail and elderly people and people with weakened immune systems. Healthy individuals may suffer short-term symptoms such as high fever, headaches, stiffness, nausea, abdominal pain and diarrhea.

Healthy dogs and cats rarely become sick from Listeria, but if they do, symptoms will be similar to that of humans.

This is a nationwide recall. The recalled products are:

The voluntary recall has been issued because the FDA has reported an independent lab detected the bacteria in a sample during a recent review. To date, the company has received a limited number of reports of dogs experiencing nausea and diarrhea that may be associated with these products. Pet owners who have the affected product at home should dispose of this product in a safe manner.
