

Watershed Forest Management Tour New Salem, MA

2:00 pm
Monday, October 12, 2015

Please join Forestry staff of DCR's Division of Water Supply Protection for a walk through a declining hemlock forest that has been marked for a timber harvest.

We'll talk about hemlock decline, biodiversity, and the why's and how's of watershed forest management.

You'll have a chance to talk both with Helen Johnson, DWSP's Forester for lands in New Salem and Petersham and with other Division of Water Supply Protection staff members, while enjoying a walk in the autumn woods.

Please wear sturdy shoes and long pants. The forest tour will be a mix of walking on woods roads and gentle, off-trail hiking on easy to moderate terrain.

Please meet at the DCR-DWSP Office at 21 Elm Street in New Salem before 2:00pm on Monday, October 12, 2015

RSVP, if possible, to Helen.Johnson@state.ma.us
