

Massachusetts Community Transportation Resources

Need help arranging a ride?

Transportation services for seniors, people with disabilities, and others are available in communities across Massachusetts. The tips below can help you find the transportation you need.

Local resources

- Call your local transit authority
 - How? Find your transit authority here: tinyurl.com/HST-RTAs
 - Why? Transit authorities can help you figure out which bus to take. They also provide transportation for people with disabilities. Some sponsor shuttles to hospitals or have a Mobility Manager on staff to help riders arrange their travel.
- Call your City Hall or Town Hall
 - How? Start with your town's Council on Aging. You can also try constituent services, transportation departments, senior services, veterans services, or disability services.
 - Why? Cities and towns often collect information about local transportation options. Many Councils on Aging transport not only seniors, but also people with disabilities and sometimes the general public.
- Ask other service providers
 - How? If you receive state or federal benefits or participate in social service programs, ask if program staff have information about transportation options, or if the program has any funding to help you cover costs.
 - Why? Public programs such as Head Start or TAFDC and community-based organizations sometimes offer their own transportation benefits or resources.

Regional resources

- Many regions have developed transportation inventories. To find inventories in your region, visit the MassMobility interactive map at tinyurl.com/MA-trip-help

Statewide resources

- Regional Planning Agencies serve each region. Staff members are knowledgeable about community transportation services. Find your local planning agency here: tinyurl.com/Massachusetts-RPAs.
- MassRIDES is a statewide service that will help you arrange your commute to work. Visit www.commute.com or call them at 888-4COMMUTE.
- Mass211 has information about transportation and other services. Call 2-1-1 or visit mass211.org.
- Regional Elder Services: call 1-800-AGE-INFO for senior services in your area.
