Overview of HPC approach

- Goals of HPC PCMH effort
  - Emphasize "high-value" elements
  - Involve multiple payers to support practice transformation

- Approach to initial pilot
  - Build on PCMH models & associated payment approaches that currently exist in MA
  - Identify and highlight areas where payment is already aligned or can be harmonized

- Approach to refinement & scale
  - Evaluate pilot results
    - Document impact of high value elements – identified via certification – on TME and quality
    - Build case for greater participation by payers & practices
 - Refine model & payment methods, based on this evidence.

Opportunities to accelerate advanced primary care in MA

- Current status of PCMH certification
  - Total of 198 practices certified to date (January 2014 data)
  - Approximately 5 new practices certified/month
  - Rolling expirations of existing certifications:
    - 2014: 15% practices
    - 2015: 40% practices
    - 2016: 45% practices

- HPC certification model:
  - Align payment with PCMH care certification
  - "On ramp" for advanced primary care (Pathway)
  - Less burdensome (financial and administrative)

HPC accountable care standards – local & national alignment

- National certification standards

- Payer/purchaser advanced primary care requirements

- Local primary care transformation initiatives

- Practice setting applications (pediatric, behavioral health, specialty practice)

- HPC behavioral health integration pathway (joint Committee discussion with QIPP)

HPC PCMH Certification: three-pronged approach

1 Standardize criteria for accountable care: certify practices demonstrating progress in implementing the PCMH care model, as measured by the number of capabilities implemented and in active use across domains

2 Align payment with PCMH capabilities: leverage the efforts of multiple payers to support implementation of high-value elements of accountable care to transform primary care practice and achieve the triple aim

3 Monitor impact on accountable care: assess the impact of alternative payment models on the adoption of high-value elements of accountable care, as measured by quality, utilization and efficiency of care provided at certified practices

Transform Primary Care

Value proposition: link advanced primary care to enhanced payment

HPC will use the Certification pathway as a performance-based gateway to qualify practices for enhanced payment and assess the impact on value-based care

Key components for accountable care

Practice Transformation
- Sponsor Organizations
- Learning Communities

Align Payment with PCMH
- Performance-based Qualification
- Enhanced Payment & Shared Savings

Accountable Care Criteria
- Certification Pathway
- Value-based Results

HPC PCMH Certification Model

MA PCMH Demonstration (Phase I)

1 Collaborate with primary care sponsors to use accountable care criteria to inform learning communities and PCMH implementation efforts

2 Engage payers to use common set of core criteria as gateway for PCMH payment

3 Validate practice capability on PCMH Pathway to qualify practices for enhanced payment

4 Assess the impact of various payment models on the adoption of high-value elements and the impact on cost & quality

5 Inform value-based care considerations and primary care transformation efforts through transparent data on comparative results

Next steps (February – May 2014)

- Confirm payers and sponsor organization(s) for 2014 PCMH Demonstration (expected to begin by Q3 2014)

- Consider focus areas for application of targeted criteria (high cost clinical conditions and population health priorities)

- Joint meeting with QIPP to develop and plan for behavioral health integration

- Finalize criteria and measures for public comment period

- Develop guidelines for evaluating practices (i.e. composite of performance and practice capability results)

- Convene payers, purchasers and health systems to share goals on HPC approach for primary care transformation

Agenda
