Introduction

Parole in Massachusetts

1. The Massachusetts Parole Board has authority over all parole-related matters.

The Massachusetts Parole Board (“the Board”) is the sole decisional authority in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for matters of parole granting and parole revocation. The Board has jurisdiction over all individuals committed to state or county penal institutions for terms of sixty days or more in accordance with M.G.L. c. 127, § 128.

2. Parole is a process.

In Massachusetts, parole is the procedure whereby certain inmates are released prior to the expiration of their sentence, permitting the remainder of their sentence to be served in the community under supervision and subject to specific rules and conditions of behavior.

3. The Parole Board has statutory responsibility for administering the parole process.

The main statutory responsibilities of the Massachusetts Parole Board are: to determine whether and under what conditions an eligible individual, sentenced to a correctional institution, should be issued a parole permit; to supervise all individuals released under parole conditions; to determine whether or not alleged parole violations warrant revocation of parole permits; and to decide when to terminate sentences for individuals under parole supervision.

Organization

The Parole Board’s employees are assigned to every state and county correctional institution in the Commonwealth, regional field offices across the state, and at the Parole Board’s central administrative office. Within the agency there is a seven-member board as well as a variety of units, divisions, and departments working collectively to achieve common goals of the Parole Board.

Parole Board Members

Each member of the seven-member Parole Board is appointed by the Governor to serve staggered five year terms. One of the seven is designated as Chairman and serves as the administrative and executive head of the agency. The Board Members are responsible for release, rescission, and revocation decisions. Additionally, the Board functions as the Advisory Board of Pardons, making recommendations to the Governor on petitions for executive clemency.

Transitional Services Division

The Transitional Services Division is responsible for preparing all state and county release, revocation, and rescission cases to be heard by the Massachusetts Parole Board. The division compiles necessary case information for the Board Members to make an informed, balanced judgment. Duties include data entry for all inmates committed across the state, date calculations to determine parole eligibility and discharge dates, as well as case preparation for parole hearings. The case preparation for a parole hearing includes reviewing and investigating any inconsistencies in the parole eligible inmate's master file, analyzing and summarizing information for the Board Member(s) presiding over the hearing, interviewing the inmate and completing an assessment of his/her criminogenic factors, as well as acting as an agency liaison to the inmate as they prepare for their appearance before the Board. The Level of Service/Case Management Inventory (LS/CMI) is conducted as an assessment tool. This division is responsible for scheduling, coordinating, and facilitating all Parole Board hearings, as well as Parole Board office votes. The execution of all parole release permits and coordination of transition to the community is also the responsibility of the Transitional Services Division. Finally, this division tracks parole violation warrants and coordinates preliminary revocation hearings for offenders who are returned to custody.

Life Sentence Unit

The Life Sentence Unit is responsible for preparing all eligible inmates sentenced to life in prison for parole hearings. This includes gathering case materials, preparing case files for Board Members, interviewing inmates in preparation for hearings, and conducting offender assessments. The unit is responsible for maintaining the inmate's master file, which is a comprehensive compilation of documents and records related to the inmate's criminal history, institutional history, trial testimony, offender assessments, and additional evaluative information. The unit coordinates with affiliate agencies such as the District Attorneys' Offices, the Attorney General's Office, Massachusetts State Police, local police departments, and the Department of Correction in order to obtain such materials. The unit organizes life sentence hearings, which involves tracking initial parole eligibility for life sentenced inmates, as well as following up with review hearings. The unit also provides all necessary notifications of scheduled hearings at the Parole Board's central office and supplies notifications of subsequent decisions.

Victim Services Unit

The Victim Services Unit provides statewide assistance to victims of crimes whose offenders become parole eligible, including victims of homicide, domestic violence, sexual assault, child abuse, motor vehicle homicide, and other violent crimes. The Victim Services Unit provides critical services to victims and family members, including but not limited to: serving as a source of information for parole eligibility, the parole decision-making process, parole supervision, and notification of parole events; providing assistance in preparing victim impact statements and/or testimony for parole hearings, and accompanying victims and parent/guardians of minor aged victims and family members of homicide victims to parole hearings; crisis intervention; requesting parole conditions that increase the safety and well-being of victims; safety planning; offering information on victim compensation; assisting with Victim Notification Registration, also known as Criminal Offender Record Information (CORI) registration (i.e., to receive notification and services for victims and family members); and referring to appropriate criminal justice agencies and community-based victim service providers.

Field Services Division

The Field Services Division is comprised of the central office management staff, nine regional parole offices, the Interstate Compact Unit, and the Warrant and Apprehension Unit. The division is primarily responsible for supervising and monitoring all offenders who have been released on parole by the Massachusetts Parole Board and parolees released through the Interstate Compact from other states. It is also responsible for assuring that parolees remain in compliance with the conditions of parole and with any special conditions imposed by the Parole Board. These conditions are designed to structure the parolee's return to the community and to ensure the protection of the public. The Field Services Division is responsible for case management, which involves building partnerships with community providers to refer parolees to treatment and programming, as well as assisting with reintegration into the community. Supervision duties include conducting home and work investigations, making home and community visits of parolees, verifying parolee employment or programming, ensuring compliance with general and special parole conditions, responding to GPS and electronic monitoring violations, administering substance abuse testing, conducting investigations, completing offender assessments, reporting on parole violations and documenting parolee information in agency databases and tracking systems. Parole officers are appointed as special state police officers for three year terms.

Interstate Compact Unit

The Interstate Compact Unit, which lies within the Field Services Division, coordinates the interstate transfer of parolees entering or leaving the state and oversees an active caseload of Massachusetts parolees residing out of state under the Interstate Compact. The Interstate Compact Unit also supervises all Massachusetts inmates paroled to Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) detainers and deportation warrants.

Warrant and Apprehension Unit

The Warrant and Apprehension Unit, which lies within the Field Services Division, assists staff in the regional parole offices in locating and apprehending parolees who have violated their parole conditions and absconded from supervision. The unit also arranges for the apprehension of parolees who have fled the Commonwealth and monitors the Criminal Justice Information System (CJIS) for criminal activity among parole violators. The unit is also responsible for entering, updating, and removing parole violation warrants from the agency's database, as well as coordinating all required extraditions.

Office of the General Counsel

The Office of the General Counsel represents the agency in all litigation affecting the Massachusetts Parole Board in the state's trial courts, represents the agency in labor and employment matters, develops agency regulations and policies, and monitors and drafts parole related legislation. The primary role of the Board's General Counsel, and by extension the Office of the General Counsel as a whole, is to support and represent the Chair and the Board in all legal and policy matters. To that end, the General Counsel has been appointed a Special Assistant Attorney General for the purpose of representing the agency in state and federal court.

The Office of the General Counsel also reviews all pardon and commutation requests. In Massachusetts, the power to grant executive clemency, pardons and commutations is held by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Massachusetts Governor's Council. Acting as the Advisory Board of Pardons, the Massachusetts Parole Board reviews all petitions for executive clemency submitted to the Governor for consideration and submits a recommendation about each case.

Hearing examiners, within the Office of the General Counsel, schedule and conduct preliminary revocation hearings and evaluations for provided counsel at all state and county correctional institutions, parole regional offices, and other designated locations. Evaluations for provided counsel are conducted prior to any parole hearing, at a parolee's request. The Office of General Counsel evaluates each request and grants a referral to the Committee for Public Counsel Services for appointment of counsel to any inmate who does not appear capable of effectively advocating for themselves at their parole hearing.

Research and Planning Unit

The Research and Planning Unit performs statistical analyses, maintains internal statistical reports, and creates agency publications. The unit performs duties involving policy development, as well as planning for and implementing agency initiatives. It manages collaborations with outside researchers, including inter-agency research, and provides data for external requests. The unit works to evaluate internal data in comparison with evidence-based practices, in order to improve the agency's operations.

Administrative Services Department

The Administrative Services Department is comprised of staff performing the day to day operations of human resources and fiscal activities for agency employees. The department coordinates employment opportunities, personnel actions, diversity programs, benefits, workers' compensation, civil service, workforce policies, and employee and labor relations. Additionally, the department is responsible for documenting and reconciling supervision fees that are collected from parolees who are actively supervised by the Parole Board. The fiscal component of the department is charged with ensuring the integrity, accountability, and efficiency of the agency's fiscal operations and communication of accurate and timely financial information. The department is committed to accomplishing this mission in partnership with agency stakeholders and Commonwealth partners.

Transitional Services

Parole Hearings Overview

Release, rescission, and revocation hearings are held across the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in correctional facilities. Hearings held in custody are also referred to as institutional hearings. Two primary locations of institutional hearings are the Houses of Correction, located in each county in the Commonwealth, and Department of Correction facilities. There are also parole hearings held at the Parole Board's central administrative office, which include life sentence hearings and victim access hearings.

Release Hearings

In 2016, the Massachusetts Parole Board conducted 4,962 institutional release hearings for inmates housed by the Massachusetts Department of Correction and the Houses of Correction¹. As a result of these hearings, 2,776 inmates were either granted a positive vote to be paroled to the supervision of the Field Services Division in one of the nine parole regions across the Commonwealth; paroled to community supervision through the Interstate Compact; or paroled to custody, that is, paroled to serve another county, state, or federal sentence or to Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) custody to make a determination of deportation. This produced a paroling rate² of 56%.

Rescission Hearings

Rescission hearings are held when an inmate's behavior during the period between the date of the release hearing, which resulted in a positive vote, and the date of release, warrants Parole Board review. For example, the inmate may have received new disciplinary infractions for institutional misconduct. During rescission hearings the inmate's parole release date can be withdrawn, postponed, or reactivated depending on the Board's review of the inmate's behavior. In 2016, the Parole Board held 160 rescission hearings.

Revocation Hearings

Revocation is the process by which a parolee's permit to be at liberty may be permanently or temporarily revoked as a result of violating one or more conditions of parole. More information concerning parole violations, which may result in a revocation hearing, is available in the Field Services section of this report. In 2016, the Parole Board held 252 revocation hearings.

¹ The number of hearings conducted is reported based on hearings that resulted in a positive or denied vote.

² The paroling rate is the percentage of hearings that result in a positive vote (i.e., a vote to grant parole) out of all hearings that resulted in a positive or denied vote.

Institutional Risk/Needs Assessments

As part of the Parole Board’s commitment to public safety, the agency uses a risk and needs assessment instrument in making parole release decisions. The assessment identifies an individual’s risk to recidivate, as well as reveals criminogenic needs which may be incorporated into the parolee’s case plan. The risk/needs assessment used by the Parole Board is the Level of Service Case Management Inventory (LS/CMI™). The Parole Board implemented the LS/CMI in early 2013 for use in release decisions for inmates and supervision strategies for parolees. The following chart presents risk level information for institutional assessments conducted in 2016.

LS/CMI Institutional Assessments

Hearing Waivers, Postponements, and Other Dispositions

Inmates and parolees may waive their right to a parole hearing, either prior to or during the hearing process. For example, an inmate may not be interested in adhering to expected parole conditions, or an inmate who has a relatively short period of time left to serve on his sentence (i.e., short period of time between parole eligibility date and release date) may choose to forgo the parole process in favor of discharging from custody without community supervision.

Inmates and parolees may postpone a scheduled parole hearing, at which time a postponement hearing date is scheduled. For example, an inmate may want to receive additional time to establish a plan for his or her parole or to resolve outstanding legal matters. In rare instances, where it does not appear possible for a parole eligible inmate to receive an adequate parole hearing, Parole Board Members will administratively postpone the inmate's hearing to rectify the situation, usually through the appointment of counsel.

In addition to waivers and postponements, hearings may result in an action pending vote or other types of votes. These miscellaneous votes serve as an administrative disposition. For example, if a Board Member needs additional information to make an informed decision he or she may vote "action pending" for receipt of the desired document, and then make a final decision. A hearing that results in a vote type of "other" may be because the inmate was sick and could not be seen (i.e., not seen), the Board Members voted in opposition (i.e., split decision), or the case needs to be put on the next available hearing list (i.e., PONAL). In these cases, the final disposition is captured by a subsequent hearing and disposition. The following table indicates the number of hearings postponed, waived, and other dispositions for hearings scheduled to be held at the Houses of Correction and the Department of Correction in 2016.

Release, Rescission, and Revocation Hearings

Other Hearing Locations

In addition to hearings held at the Department of Correction and the Houses of Correction, a small number of hearings are held at the Parole Board's central administrative office. These include life sentence hearings and some Victim Access Hearings. The following statistics are provided based on release hearings (excluding life sentence hearings) held at the Parole Board's central administrative office.

Release Hearings by Location
Hearing Location	Positive Votes	Denied Votes	Positive + Denied Votes	Paroling Rate
Parole Board Central Office	12	78	90	13%

Office Votes

In addition to institutional hearings, the Parole Board makes decisions on parole related matters that do not require an in-person hearing, by using documentation of the case, to provide resolutions via office votes. In 2016, the Parole Board processed 2,459 office votes.

Life Sentence Unit

Hearings for Life Sentence Cases

There are two types of parole hearings for life sentence inmates. Adult inmates sentenced to serve life in prison (with parole eligibility) become eligible for parole after serving 15 years of the life sentence, or a minimum term, and the initial hearing takes place at that time. If the Parole Board denies parole after the initial hearing, the inmate will be provided with a subsequent review hearing at five years, or earlier at the discretion of the Parole Board.

The hearing takes place before all seven members of the Parole Board and is open to the public. Decisions on life sentence hearings are available on the Parole Board's website. The following figures are for life sentence hearings held in 2016.

Juveniles with Life Sentences

In Miller v. Alabama, 132 S. Ct. 2455 (2012), the United States Supreme Court held that the "imposition of a mandatory sentence of life in prison without parole on individuals who were under the age of 18 when they committed the murder is contrary to the prohibition on 'cruel and unusual punishments' in the Eighth Amendment." Following the Miller decision, a juvenile who had been convicted of first degree murder filed a petition challenging Massachusetts laws that required all individuals convicted of first degree murder to serve life in prison without the possibility of parole. On December 24, 2013 the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court ruled in Commonwealth v. Diatchenko, 466 Mass. 655 (2013), that the statutory provisions mandating life without the possibility of parole are invalid as applied to juveniles who committed murder. The Court also determined that its holding was retroactive for all juveniles currently serving sentences for first degree murder. Finally, the Court decided that Diatchenko (and others similarly situated) must be given a parole hearing.

After the Supreme Judicial Court's decision on December 24, 2013, the Massachusetts Parole Board identified cases of which offenders were under the age of 18 on the date of the offense and were serving a sentence of life without parole for a conviction of first-degree murder. The following table provides the total number of initial hearings held in 2016, based on the newly established parole eligibility per Diatchenko and Miller. Note: These statistics are also included in the "Hearings for Life Sentence Cases" table.

Victim Services

Victim Notifications

The Victim Services Unit (VSU) is responsible for follow-up victim notification, including notice of parole hearing dates, parole hearing results, parole release, and other parole related information. The VSU is also responsible for victim notifications related to public hearings conducted for life sentences and sentence commutations. In 2016, the VSU provided 18,107 notifications of parole events to registered victims and surviving family members. The following table indicates the number of notifications provided in 2016 based on sentence type.

Victim Notifications by Offender Sentence Type
Sentence Type	Victim Notifications
State Sentence	8,957
County Sentence	9,150
Total	18,107

Locating Victims for CORI Registration

For each potential parole hearing, there can be multiple victims and family members that require notification, assistance, and services. In a significant number of life sentence cases, no victims' family members have been registered for CORI and/or are known to the VSU. Providing collaborative and coordinated services to crime victims is essential to upholding the Victim Bill of Rights. To ensure that all victims and their family members are informed of the parole process and receive notification and services, the VSU has continued to provide education and outreach to both District Attorney Victim Witness Programs and community-based victim service agencies. VSU's active participation on more than 25 community collaborations has increased awareness of victim rights in the parole process and created a seamless network of services for crime victims. A VSU goal, through education, outreach, and cross agency collaboration is to ensure that each agency working with crime victims recognizes and understands post-conviction victim rights and that every victim is advised of the importance of the CORI registration process to access post-conviction victim services, including timely notification, assistance, and referral to appropriate resources. The VSU will continue to increase efforts to identify victims of violent crimes, and particularly those crimes resulting in death, and provide not only access to the parole process but to critical victim services to assist them in their healing. In 2016, through massive investigation efforts to identify victims and their family members without CORI registrations, the VSU established 351 new registrations.

Victim Services Provided

Victim Service Coordinators provide services and referrals, including information on parole eligibility, the parole decision-making process, parole supervision information, notification of parole hearings (i.e., Victim Access Hearings and life sentence hearings), and parole release decisions. Victim Service Coordinators also assist in preparing Victim Impact Statements and/or testimony for the parole hearing; accompanying victims and parents/guardians of minor aged victims and family members of homicide victims to parole hearings; offering referrals to criminal justice agencies and community-based service providers; responding to crisis intervention; and facilitating information on safety planning, as well as victim compensation. These services provide victims (or their surviving family members) with a more comprehensive understanding of the parole process and the benefits of community supervision. The following table indicates the number of contacts in 2016 where victim assistance was provided (excluding notifications).

Victim Assistance by Offender Sentence Type
Sentence Type	Victim Assistance
State Sentence	6,698
County Sentence	3,125
Total	9,823

Parole Officer Referrals

Parole officers play a vital role to the VSU as well. Parole officers can refer cases to the Victim Service Coordinator when they have information about a potential victim attached to a crime, CORI certification issues, and domestic violence incidents. In 2016, parole officers made a total of 259 referrals to Victim Service Coordinators.

Victim Services at Parole Hearings

The VSU assists victims and families of victims during Victim Access Hearings and hearings for life sentence cases. There are three types of Victim Access Hearings:

- Type A: Offense resulted in death
- Type B: Offense was either violent or sexual in nature
- County: County sentences; hearings held in the Houses of Correction (excluding Type A)

The following table indicates the number of Victim Access Hearings in 2016 in which the VSU provided services to victims or families, as well as the number of hearing attendees.

Victim Access Hearings Held by Type
Victim Access Hearing Type	Number of Hearings	Number of Attendees
Type A	43	129
Type B	51	62
County	66	68
Total	160	259

In addition to Victim Access Hearings, victim services are provided for victims and/or their families in parole hearings for inmates serving a life sentence. The Victim Services Unit assisted 321 attendees at life sentence hearings in 2016. Corresponding dispositions for life sentence hearings are available in the Life Sentence Unit section of this report.

Office of the General Counsel

The Parole Board's hearing examiners schedule and conduct preliminary revocation hearings at all state and county correctional institutions, parole regional offices, and other designated locations.

At preliminary revocation hearings, the hearing examiner determines whether there exists reasonable grounds to believe that a parolee has committed acts that constitute a violation of parole conditions, and if so, whether there is probable cause to hold a parolee in custody/return a parolee to custody for a final revocation hearing and decision of the Parole Board. The hearings are quasi-judicial in nature. Following a hearing, the hearing examiner prepares a summary and submits a recommended decision to the Parole Board.

In calendar year 2016, the Parole Board's hearing examiners conducted 492 preliminary revocation hearings.

Field Services

Releases to Supervision

Upon release to parole supervision, most parolees serve the remainder of their current sentence (i.e., current commitment) in the community under the supervision of a parole officer. However, one's status on parole does not always indicate that the offender is physically in the community. For example, an inmate may be paroled from one sentence to begin another sentence, either in Massachusetts or in the custody of another state or federal agency. Note that paroles are counted based on the initial parole of the current commitment and re-paroles are a subsequent parole on the current commitment (i.e., revoked and re-paroled). Releases from a detainer (i.e., warrant for temporary custody) are not included in the number of re-paroles. In addition, if an inmate serves one sentence type and is transferred to another (i.e., mixed sentence structure), the commitment type reflected in the data is based on the initial sentence type. The following tables indicate the number of releases in 2016, disaggregated by type, location, commitment, and demographic information.

Active Supervision Caseload on 12/31/2016

At the close of 2016, there were 1,851 commitments under the supervision of the Massachusetts Parole Board. Of these cases:

- 1,454 were being supervised in either one of parole's nine regional offices or under the Warrant and Apprehension Unit of the Field Services Division,
- 231 were Interstate Compact cases, and
- 166 were incarcerated at either a state or county correctional facility (while either awaiting a final revocation hearing or serving a combination of sentences while on parole).

Parolee Monitoring

The Parole Board monitors parolees through the use of such tools as Global Positioning Systems (GPS). Monitoring with GPS allows the Parole Board to actively track the whereabouts of parolees at any point in time during the supervision period. GPS also allows the Parole Board to set exclusion zones the parolee must avoid while in the community. An exclusion zone is the area in or around a particular address that, if entered by the parolee, will immediately alert designated parole staff as to the parolee's location.

There are four ways by which a parolee can be mandated to GPS supervision as a condition of their parole:

- 1) By Parole Board vote,
- 2) By Parole Board policy for a sex offense,
- 3) By Parole Board policy for a non-sex offense, but required to register with the Sex Offender Registry Board (“SORB”) for a prior sex offense and classified by SORB as a Level 3 or unclassified sex offender, and/or
- 4) By a parole supervisor in response to a graduated sanction.

In 2016, there were 828 GPS activations as a condition of parole supervision. The table below examines the annual number of GPS activations, by geographical region.

Drug and Alcohol Testing

An important part of the Parole Board’s community supervision strategy is the ability to conduct drug and alcohol testing. Parole officers use portable drug testing kits and breathalyzers, allowing for immediate access to test results. This type of testing not only provides officers with an effective supervisory tool, but also has a deterrent effect on parolees who know if they violate the conditions of their parole by using alcohol and/or illicit drugs it will be quickly detected. In addition to parole officer testing, substance use tests are conducted by authorized agencies and treatment programs.

During 2016, 131,618 drug and alcohol tests were conducted on parolees (measured by one test per specimen). Drug tests consisted of the following test types: Cocaine Test, Orallab Test Cup, Teststik, Oxycodone Test, Opiates Test, THC Test, Onsite Test Cup, Benzodiazepines Test, Amphetamines Test, and the iCup (i.e., oxycodone, morphine, benzodiazepines, THC, PCP, methamphetamines, cocaine). Breathalyzers were used for detecting alcohol use. Additional test types include those conducted by Community Corrections Centers and residential programs.

An annual count of drug and alcohol testing, disaggregated by regional office, is provided in the following table.

Programs

Reentry Navigator Program

The Parole Board's Reentry Navigator Program (formerly known as Substance Abuse Coordinator Program) is a collaborative initiative between the Parole Board and the Department of Public Health's (DPH) Bureau of Substance Abuse Services (BSAS). In 2016, there were eight full-time Reentry Navigators, from licensed DPH service vendors, placed and working at Parole's regional field offices. Some of the basic duties of the Navigators include parolee intake, triage and referral functions, conducting substance abuse evaluations, providing outreach to service providers and DPH, and tracking and monitoring the progress of clients and treatment providers. The Navigators' services assist parolees in making a successful transition to communities across the state.

Reentry Navigator Program Statistics

In 2016 a total of 1,045 parolees received substance abuse and/or reentry services through the Reentry Navigator Program. The following is a breakdown of demographic and socioeconomic factors captured by Navigators at the time of intake (i.e., release to parole supervision).

Transitional Treatment Program

The Parole Board's Transitional Treatment Program (TTP) operates in collaboration with the Massachusetts Department of Correction and Spectrum Health Systems, Inc. The program's mission is to provide the necessary services to ensure a successful transition into the community for parolees who are in need of reentry services. The program provides evidence-based structured treatment for a period of at least ninety (90) days prior to transition to an aftercare plan in the community.

A primary goal of the TTP is to increase successful community reintegration by providing intensive reentry and continuing care planning during the parolee's transition from prison to the community. Program intensity is based on individual assessment of needs, prior substance abuse treatment, family and community support, and resources available in the community. Parolees are expected to attend daily intensive programs, as directed by their counselors. Spectrum counselors may assist with:

- Comprehensive assessment of reentry needs;
- Individual counseling;
- Case management;
- Vocational skills training;
- Substance abuse and relapse prevention;
- Housing search and referrals;
- Employment counseling;
- Expanded job search;
- Community treatment referrals; and
- Other community resources and referrals as necessary.

In 2016, 108 parolees were placed into the TTP.

By the end of the calendar year (12/31/2016), 75 parolees had discharged from the program:

- 55 parolees (73%) successfully completed the program and transitioned into the community; and
- 20 parolees (27%) were terminated from the program.

Field Services Risk/Needs Assessments

In addition to conducting risk and needs assessments in preparation for parole hearings, parole officers conduct reassessments in the community to apply effective supervision strategies. Outcomes of reassessments in the field can be used to ensure that parolees are receiving appropriate services in response to their case management needs. The following table provides a distribution of risk levels for assessments conducted in the community in 2016.

LS/CMI Field Assessments
Risk Level	Count	Percentage
Very Low	72	8%
Low	372	41%
Medium	384	42%
High	73	8%
Very High	4	< 1%

Prison Rape Elimination Act (“PREA”)

The Massachusetts Parole Board is committed to zero tolerance of any form of sexual abuse and sexual harassment. The agency collects accurate, uniform data for every allegation of sexual abuse at facilities under its direct control. In 2016 there were 0 PREA-related allegations of sexual abuse reported.

Graduated Sanctions

Graduated Sanctions Overview

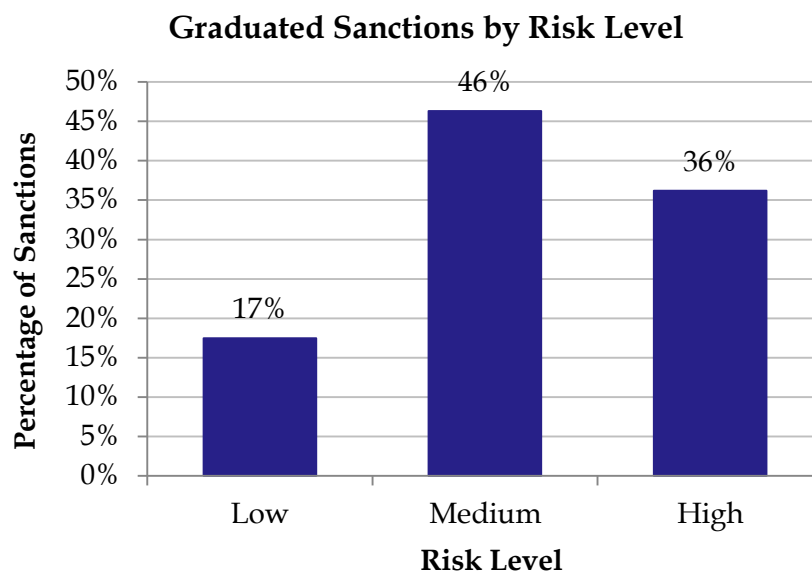

The Parole Board’s policy for graduated sanctions is intended to provide consistency, transparency, fairness, and efficiency throughout the parole violation process. The installation of graduated sanctions as a case management method denotes a controlled delegation of authority by the Parole Board to the officers in the Field Services Division.

The guidelines for imposing graduated sanctions match the severity of the violation with the parolee’s risk level to determine the appropriate treatment, intervention, and/or sanction. As an example, if a low to medium risk offender has failed to attend substance abuse classes, yet continues to be employed and maintain a healthy lifestyle, then the parole officer has the discretion to sanction this violation of parole conditions by issuing a warning ticket, requiring the parolee attend a meeting with a parole officer, or stage an intervention with a substance abuse counselor at one of the regional field offices. The parole officer can engage these various graduated sanctions as an alternative to returning the inmate to custody for a parole revocation hearing and possible re-commitment to the original terms of their sentence.

If a parolee is willing to work with his or her parole officer, then the Parole Board will work toward that parolee's continued success. The Parole Board believes success is not achieved through the parolee's automatic return to custody, in the event of a parole violation. However, different circumstances render different results. If an offender intentionally and willfully evades his or her parole officer, fails to participate in appropriate counseling, and has been deemed high risk, then a positive screen for drugs may result in that parolee's return to custody. In this instance, the Parole Board must balance its responsibility for public safety with its prevalence for keeping parolees in the community, under the supervision of parole officers.

Graduated Sanctions Statistics

In 2016, there were a total of 2,316 graduated sanctions issued. The risk distribution of offenders receiving these sanctions was as follows:

A graduated sanctions grid accounts for the parolee's risk level (i.e., risk to reoffend) as determined by an assessment (i.e., LS/CMI or risk proxy) and the severity of the violation to make a decision as to the appropriate action in response to a violation.

There were a total of 3,281 violations reported through graduated sanctions in 2016. This figure is greater than the number of graduated sanctions because there can be multiple violations for each graduated sanction.

Revocations

Revocation Overview

In 2016, there were a total of 477 parole revocations. A revocation occurs when a parolee violates a condition of his or her parole, is returned to custody, and formally revoked after a Final Revocation Hearing. The following tables represent revocations in 2016 (excluding revocations for offenders sentenced out of state).

Revocations by Commitment Type
Commitment Type	Count	Percentage
State	178	37%
County	299	63%
Total	477	100%

Revocations by Gender
Gender	Count	Percentage
Male	427	90%
Female	50	10%
Total	477	100%

Revocations by Race/Ethnicity
Race/Ethnicity	Count	Percentage
American Indian or Alaskan Native	1	< 1%
Asian or Pacific Islander	2	< 1%
Black	85	18%
Hispanic or Latino Origin	113	24%
Unknown or Not Recorded	5	1%
White	271	57%
Total	477	100%

For purposes of statistical reporting, revocations are disaggregated by parole violation type. Revocations that result from a new arrest or new criminal charge (i.e., “new arrest”) are typically initiated by law enforcement, and not the parolee’s field parole officer. For example, a parolee who is arrested for assault and battery, drug trafficking, or breaking and entering may be revoked for violations of parole conditions in addition to incurring new criminal charges. Revocations that are not based on a new arrest (i.e., “non-arrest”) are typically initiated by the parole officer. Non-arrest violations are violations of general and special conditions of parole, excluding those that involve new arrests or new criminal charges. However, non-arrest violations may include acts that involve criminal behavior that did not lead to new charges. The following table indicates the parole violation type of revocations in 2016.

Revocations by Parole Violation Type
Type	Count	Percentage
New Arrest	68	14%
Non-Arrest	409	86%
Total	477	100%

Interstate Compact

Interstate Compact Overview

The Interstate Compact Unit coordinates the interstate transfer of parolees entering or leaving the state and oversees an active caseload of Massachusetts parolees residing out of state under the Interstate Compact. This unit also manages all Massachusetts inmates paroled to Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) deportation warrants.

Interstate Compact Statistics

At the end of 2016, there were 231 commitments under supervision through the Interstate Compact Unit. Parolee status through the Interstate Compact Unit encompasses a variety of circumstances; including supervision by another state’s paroling authority and ICE custody through detainers or deportation warrants.

Throughout 2016, there were 107 commitments from Massachusetts released to the Interstate Compact to be supervised by other states or transferred to other types of custody. Of these cases:

- 55 parolees were released to be supervised by another state's parole agency, and
- 52 parolees were released to ICE custody.

Also during 2016, there were 109 commitments from other states released to Massachusetts for parole supervision.

Warrants and Apprehensions

Warrant Overview

A warrant for detainer purposes (i.e., 15 day warrant) and an Interstate Compact warrant for detainer purposes (i.e., 60 day warrant) are referred to as warrants for temporary custody (WTC's). WTC's are issued when a parole officer has reasonable belief that a parolee has lapsed into criminal ways, has associated with criminal company, or has violated the conditions of his or her parole. The parole officer may then, with the consent of a parole supervisor or other superior officer, issue a warrant for the temporary custody of the parolee. A WTC authorizes the detention of the parolee for a maximum time period of 15 days or 60 days for an Interstate Compact warrant. The issuance of a WTC does not interrupt the parolee's sentence.

A warrant for permanent custody (WPC) is an order of imprisonment of the parolee, which may be issued upon a finding that there exists probable cause to believe that the parolee has violated one or more conditions of parole. The parolee's supervision status upon issuance of a WPC, and the underlying sentence, resumes again upon service of the warrant.

With an Interstate Compact warrant for detainer purposes and an Interstate Compact warrant for permanent custody, the Parole Board is authorized to issue and serve a warrant to detain parolees whom the Parole Board is supervising under the Interstate Compact.

Warrant Statistics

In 2016, a total of 1,566 warrants were issued by the Parole Board. The following table disaggregates warrants by type. Note that more than one warrant is often issued to a parolee.

Warrants Issued by Type
Warrant Type	Count
Warrant for Detainer Purposes (15-Days)	812
Warrant for Detainer Purposes (60-Days) - Compact Warrant	86
Warrant for Permanent Custody	661
Warrant for Permanent Custody - Compact Warrant	7
Total	1,566

Arrests and Transportations to Custody

Parole officers have the authority to make arrests and transport offenders to custody. In 2016, parole officers made 852 arrests. Officers transported 723 offenders to custody.

Warrant and Apprehension Unit Overview

The primary function of the Warrant and Apprehension Unit (WAU) is to assist regional parole offices in locating and arresting parole violators and returning them to custody. In addition to conducting these fugitive investigations, the WAU performs numerous other duties including:

- Providing and/or coordinating security for all hearings for life sentence cases and Victim Access Hearings at the central office in Natick, Massachusetts;
- Entering, modifying, and cancelling all Parole Board warrants for temporary custody (WTC) and warrants for permanent custody (WPC);
- Entering, modifying, and cancelling information regarding lost or stolen agency equipment;
- Entering broadcasts regarding fugitives and completing extraditions;
- Monitoring Criminal Justice Information Services databases;
- Processing all paroles from Massachusetts state and county facilities to out-of-state warrants and/or commitments, and supervising this caseload until release from out-of-state custody;
- Supervising a caseload of warrant cases held in custody out-of-state, ensuring extradition at the appropriate time;

- Maintaining a caseload of whereabouts unknown cases, including Interstate Compact cases;
- Maintaining the Massachusetts Parole Board's Most Wanted List;
- Serving as the Parole Board's After-Hour Duty Section;

Arrests

In 2016, the WAU participated in the arrest of 143 parole violators. In addition, the WAU participated in the arrest of 156 non-parolees. The unit was also responsible for 135 prisoner transports.

Extraditions

The WAU is also responsible for handling the extradition of parole violators being returned to Massachusetts from other states. The WAU works closely with law enforcement and correctional facilities across the nation in order to fulfill extraditions. In 2016, the WAU supervised the extradition of 9 parole violators from around the United States. This involves collaborating with the arresting states and ensuring that all legal extradition procedures are being followed.

Warrant Cases In Custody Out-of-State

The WAU oversees all warrant cases held in custody out-of-state. The WAU supervises this caseload, monitoring inmate/parolee progress with the out-of-state correctional facility and arranging extradition when the parolee is made available. The caseload of Warrant Cases In Custody Out-Of-State was approximately 15 parolees at the end of 2016.

Massachusetts Parole Board's Most Wanted List

The WAU maintains the Most Wanted List, which consists of parole violators that are considered to be high priority for apprehension and are deemed mandatory for extradition. The WAU responds to law enforcement inquiries and follows up on civilian tips to assist in locating these offenders.

Twenty-Four Hour Duty Section

The WAU serves as the Twenty-Four Hour Duty Section, responding to all emergency inquiries made to the MPB after 5:00 pm and on weekends and holidays. All after-hour calls are received by the Massachusetts State Police Central Dispatch, who then contacts a member of the WAU for further handling. The WAU contacts the appropriate officer to ensure that each case has been addressed. If the assigned officer is unavailable, then the case is referred to the After-Hour Duty Supervisor from a rotating list. The WAU processes more than 150 after-hour calls annually.

Warrant and Apprehension Unit Partnerships

The WAU has become an integral part of the Massachusetts law enforcement community. This is a direct result of partnerships with local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies. The WAU has developed particularly strong ties with the Boston Police Fugitive Unit, Massachusetts State Police Violent Fugitive Apprehension Section, Federal Bureau of Investigation Southeast Major Gang Task Force, United States Marshals Service, Massachusetts Department of Correction, Massachusetts Probation Department, Massachusetts Department of Youth Services, as well as county-level correctional facilities and local police departments across the state.

Discharges from Supervision

Like releases, discharges from supervision are also based on commitments. The following counts are drawn from the point in time when the commitment is closed. This can occur for a variety of reasons, the most common of which is at the parole discharge date. However, parolees may be discharged for other reasons (e.g., Interstate Compact closed interest, sentence completion from correctional facility, vacated/court release). In addition, parolees can discharge while under supervision by another authority. For example the parolee may end a period of supervision while under the custody of ICE or another state's warrant. In the majority of cases, discharge occurs while the parolee is under parole supervision in Massachusetts. The following tables indicate the number discharges from parole supervision in 2016, disaggregated by discharge type and commitment type.

Discharges from Supervision by Commitment Type
Commitment Type	Count	Percentage

Notes

- Percentages in this report may not add to 100% due to rounding.
- Minor variations in annual statistics are expected due to ongoing editing of inmate and parolee records in the Parole Board database for purposes of quality assurance.
- Commitment types are based on the inmate's initial sentence and do not account for transitions from one sentence to another (e.g., State to County).
- As of January 1, 2016, the title for Substance Abuse Coordinators was changed to Reentry Navigators.
- Based on the way in which the Parole Board's data is maintained, Region 6 and Region 6A are combined as Region 6 across this report.
- Figures presented in this report are based on best estimates at the time of data collection.
