Notice of Data Breach

Dear :

McArthurGlen Europe Inc. takes the protection of your personal information very seriously. Regrettably, we write to inform you of an incident that involved some of that information belonging to McArthurGlen Europe Inc., Europe Trust, and Joseph W. Kaempfer, Jr. (together, collectively, "MGE"). Please read this notice carefully, as it provides information about the incident, the personal information that may have been involved, the steps we have taken to ensure the security of our systems, and the resources available to you to protect yourself against any unauthorized use of your personal information. We have included our contact details below should you need any further information.

What Happened?

In late July 2024, MGE experienced a cyberattack on parts of our network. As a result, there is reason to believe that sensitive information belonging to certain individuals affiliated with MGE, including certain employees and investors, was compromised. We have been working in close collaboration with external cyber forensics experts and the appropriate authorities to thoroughly investigate the incident and secure our systems.

What Information Was Involved?

You are receiving this notice because our review determined that the cyberattack may have resulted in unauthorized access and acquisition of one or more files containing your name, Social Security number, driver's license number, and passport number. The fact that you are receiving this notice does not mean that all or more than one of the aforementioned files and information relating to your personal information were actually acquired.

What We Are Doing

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, please contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If a creditor can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, please contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com

TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com

Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You will need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you will need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
