Re: NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

Dear Sample A. Sample:

Northern Safety Co., Inc. writes to inform you of a recent security incident that may involve your information. Although we are unaware of any actual misuse of your information, we want to let you know about the incident, steps we are taking in response, and steps you may take to help protect your personal information against identity theft or other misuse, should you feel it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened?

On June 7, we detected some unusual activity directed toward our network. We immediately notified and engaged third-party cybersecurity experts to assist with analysis and containment measures. We undertook an extensive analysis of the impacted data to determine if the data contained any personal information and (if so) which individuals and data may have been affected by the incident.

On October 25, we completed our initial analysis and determined that the personal information of some of our current and past employees (and/or their beneficiaries) was among the potentially impacted data, including your personal information. Out of an abundance of caution, we are providing you with services and tools to help you protect yourself. Those services are described below.

What Information Was Involved?

Based on our investigation to date, the data accessed includes some or more of the following data of yours: name, address, email address, telephone number, date of birth, Social Security Number, and employer information related to benefits enrollment.

What Are We Doing?

Immediately upon learning of the security incident, we began reviewing all its aspects and took steps to protect the systems involved. We worked with outside experts to assess the incident and safely restore our systems, including reviewing and enhancing our system security and administrative and technical safeguards.

As an additional measure of protection, we are providing you with complimentary credit monitoring services through Experian.

What Can You Do?

As always, we recommend that you remain vigilant and review your account statements and free credit reports regularly and report any concerning transactions to your financial provider.

We encourage you to contact Experian to enroll in credit monitoring and related services described below under “Additional Resources.” You can also review the “Additional Resources” section of this letter for additional ways to help protect yourself. They include recommendations from the Federal Trade Commission regarding identity theft protection and details on how to place a fraud alert or security freeze on your credit file.

We regret any inconvenience or concern this incident may have caused. If you have questions about the incident, please call 833-918-1108 toll-free Monday through Friday from 8 am – 8 pm Central (excluding major U.S. holidays). Be prepared to provide your engagement number B133650.

Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit Report

You may want to consider placing a fraud alert on your credit report. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least 90 days. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you prior to establishing any accounts in your name. To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any of the three credit reporting agencies identified above. Additional information is available at <http://www.annualcreditreport.com>.

Take Advantage of Additional Free Resources on Identity Theft

We recommend that you review the tips provided by the Federal Trade Commission's Consumer Information website, a valuable resource with some helpful tips on how to protect your information. Additional information is available at <https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/topics/privacy-identity-online-security>. For more information, please visit IdentityTheft.gov or call 1-877-ID-THEFT (877-438-4338).

Security Freeze

In some U.S. states, you have the right to put a security freeze on your credit file. A security freeze (also known as a credit freeze) makes it harder for someone to open a new account in your name. It is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit report without your consent. As a result, using a security freeze may interfere with or delay your ability to apply for a new credit card, wireless phone, or any service that requires a credit check. You must separately place a security freeze on your credit file with each credit reporting agency. To place a security freeze, you may be required to provide the consumer reporting agency with information that identifies you including your full name, Social Security number, date of birth, current and previous addresses, a copy of your state-issued identification card, and a recent utility bill, bank statement, or insurance statement. There is no charge to request a security freeze or to remove a security freeze.

State Information on Preventing and Responding to Identity Theft

You may want to review any materials your state provides regarding identity theft and credit monitoring that may provide additional information and resources to protect yourself against any risks. Below is a list of state resources that may be helpful to review for additional information.

Massachusetts residents: May obtain information about identity theft from the Office of Consumer Affairs and Business Regulations (OCABR) at <https://www.mass.gov/orgs/office-of-consumer-affairs-and-business-regulation>, which includes a checklist for handling identity theft.

 The Identity Theft Insurance is underwritten and administered by American Bankers Insurance Company of Florida, an Assurant company. Please refer to the actual policies for terms, conditions, and exclusions of coverage. Coverage may not be available in all jurisdictions.
