Dear Sample A. Sample:

We are writing to notify you of a cybersecurity issue that may have affected your personal information contained in employment records related to you or your family member. Ahold Delhaize USA Services, LLC obtains certain personal information in the course of providing support services to Ahold Delhaize USA companies, including Food Lion, Giant Food, The GIANT Company, Hannaford, Stop & Shop, ADUSA Distribution, ADUSA Transportation and others. We take the safeguarding of personal information very seriously and are providing this notice to explain what happened and the actions we took in response.

We detected a cybersecurity issue involving unauthorized access to some of our internal U.S. business systems on November 6, 2024. We immediately launched an investigation with the assistance of leading external cybersecurity experts, coordinated with U.S. federal law enforcement and began taking steps to contain the issue. Based on our investigation, we identified that an unauthorized third party obtained certain files from one of our internal U.S. file repositories between November 5 and 6, 2024.

These investigations are complex and time intensive, and we have been working diligently to review the impacted files to understand their nature and scope, including to determine if, and to what extent, the information of individuals was affected. Based on this review, we recently learned that some of these files may have included internal employment records containing personal information about you that we obtained in the course of providing services for certain current and former Ahold Delhaize USA companies.

Given the nature of the file repository, the files that may have been affected contained different types of personal information such as name, contact information (for example, postal and email address and telephone number), date of birth, government-issued identification numbers (for example, Social Security, passport and driver's license numbers), financial account information (for example, bank account number), health information (for example, workers' compensation information and medical information contained in employment records), and employment-related information. The types of impacted information vary by affected individual.

What Are We Doing to Address the Issue?

Upon detection last November, we began taking steps to assess and contain the issue, including working with external cybersecurity experts to investigate and secure the affected systems. We take this issue extremely seriously and will continue to take actions to further protect our systems.

What You Can Do

We are informing you about this issue so you can take steps to help protect yourself. We have arranged to offer complimentary credit monitoring and identity protection services to you for two years. Additionally, you are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228. We encourage you to remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports.

The attached Reference Guide provides information on how to register for these services and additional information on ways to further protect your personal information.

Order Your Free Credit Report. You are entitled under U.S. law to one free credit report annually from each of the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's ("FTC's") website at www.consumer.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281.

When you receive your credit report, review it carefully. Look for accounts you did not open. Look in the "inquiries" section for names of creditors from whom you have not requested credit. Some companies bill under names other than their store or commercial names. The consumer reporting agency will be able to tell you when that is the case. Look in the "personal information" section for any inaccuracies in your information (such as home address and Social Security number). If you see anything you do not understand, call the consumer reporting agency at the telephone number on the report. Errors in this information may be a warning sign of possible identity theft. You should notify the consumer reporting agencies of any inaccuracies in your report, whether due to error or fraud, as soon as possible so the information can be investigated and, if found to be in error, corrected. If there are accounts or charges you did not authorize, immediately notify the appropriate consumer reporting agency by telephone and in writing. Consumer reporting agency staff will review your report with you. If the information cannot be explained, then you will need to call the creditors involved for an explanation. Information that cannot be explained also should be reported to your local police or sheriff's office because it may signal criminal activity.

Report Incidents. We encourage you to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing your financial account statements as well as monitoring your free credit reports. If you detect any unauthorized transactions in a financial account, promptly notify the relevant financial institution. If you detect any incident of identity theft or fraud, promptly report the incident to law enforcement, your state Attorney General or the FTC. If you believe your identity has been stolen, the FTC recommends that you take these steps:

- Close the accounts that you have confirmed or believe have been tampered with or opened fraudulently. For streamlined checklists and sample letters to help guide you through the recovery process, please visit www.identitytheft.gov.
- File a local police report. Obtain a copy of the police report and submit it to your creditors and any others that may require proof of the identity theft crime.

You can contact the FTC to learn more about how to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft and how to repair identity theft:

Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File. To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert helps protect you against the possibility of an identity thief opening new credit accounts in your name. When a merchant checks the credit history of someone applying for credit, the merchant gets a notice that the applicant may be the victim of identity theft. The alert notifies the merchant to take steps to verify the identity of the applicant. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling any one of the toll-free numbers provided below. You will reach an automated telephone system that allows you to flag your file with a fraud alert at all three consumer reporting agencies. For more information on fraud alerts, you also may contact the FTC, as described above.

Equifax	Equifax Information Services LLC P.O. Box 105069 Atlanta, GA 30348-5069	1-800-525-6285	www.equifax.com
Experian	Experian Inc. P.O. Box 9554 Allen, TX 75013	1-888-397-3742	www.experian.com
TransUnion	TransUnion LLC P.O. Box 2000 Chester, PA 19016	1-800-680-7289	www.transunion.com

Consider Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File. You may wish to place a “security freeze” (also known as a “credit freeze”) on your credit file. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit file at the consumer reporting agencies without your consent. Unlike a fraud alert, you must place a security freeze on your credit file at each consumer reporting agency individually. There is no charge to place or lift a security freeze. For more information on security freezes, you may contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies or the FTC as described above. As the instructions for establishing a security freeze differ from state to state, please contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies to find out more information.

The consumer reporting agencies may require proper identification prior to honoring your request. For example, you may be asked to provide:

- Your full name with middle initial and generation (such as Jr., Sr., II, III)
- Your Social Security number
- Your date of birth
- Addresses where you have lived over the past five years
- A legible copy of a government-issued identification card (such as a state driver's license or military ID card)
- Proof of your current residential address (such as a current utility bill or account statement)
