Under Massachusetts law, you have the right to obtain any police report filed in regard to this incident. If you are the victim of identity theft, you also have the right to file a police report and obtain a copy of it. You may place a security freeze on your credit reports, free of charge. A security freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer's credit report without written authorization. However, please be aware that placing a security freeze on your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit mortgages, employment, housing or other services. Under federal law, you cannot be charged to place, lift, or remove a security freeze.

You must place your request for a freeze with each of the three major consumer reporting agencies: Equifax (www.equifax.com); Experian (www.experian.com); and TransUnion (www.transunion.com). To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may send a written request by regular, certified or overnight mail at the addresses below. You may also place a security freeze through each of the consumer reporting agencies' websites or over the phone, using the contact information below:

The credit reporting agencies have one (1) to three (3) business days after receiving your request to place a security freeze on your credit report, based upon the method of your request.

To lift or temporarily remove the security freeze, you must make a request to each of the credit reporting agencies by mail, through their website, or by phone (using the contact information above). You must provide proper identification (name, address, and social security number) and any PIN number or password provided to you when you placed the security freeze. The credit bureaus have between one (1) hour (for requests made online) and three (3) business days (for requests made by mail) after receiving your request to remove the security freeze.

You may also want to consider taking one or more of the following steps:

- Regularly check your account activity and carefully review your monthly statements and report any suspicious or unauthorized activity to your financial institution immediately;
- Report any suspected incident of identity theft to local law enforcement;
- Request a free credit report annually from each of the three main credit reporting agencies by going online at www.annualcreditreport.com and if any information is found relating to fraudulent transactions you should request that the information be deleted; and
- You may also: (1) obtain information about fraud alerts and security freezes from the Federal Trade Commission (FTC); and (2) report suspected incidents of identity theft to the FTC at (877) 438-4338, 1-866-653-4261 (TTY); www.identitytheft.gov/steps and 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580.
