We are writing to inform you of a data security incident that involved some of that information. This letter explains what happened, measures we have taken in response, and offers steps you may consider taking.

What Happened? On March 8, 2025, we identified unusual activity affecting our Information Technology (IT) systems. We immediately took steps to contain the incident and began an investigation, which included assistance from external cybersecurity experts. We also reported the incident to law enforcement. The investigation determined that an unauthorized third-party gained access to our network and, on March 8, 2025, obtained copies of certain data.

What Information Was Involved? The information contained in the data may include your demographic information (such as name, date of birth, address, telephone number, email address, race or ethnicity), Social Security number, <<patient type,>> and/or medical record number.

YNHHS’s electronic medical record and treatment information were not involved or accessed, and no financial account or payment information was involved in this incident.

What We Are Doing & What You Can Do. YNHHS considers the health, safety, and privacy of patients our top priority. We are continuously updating and enhancing our systems to protect the data we maintain and to help prevent events such as this from occurring in the future.

While, to date, we are not aware of any patient information being used for identity theft or fraud, as a precaution, we are offering you a complimentary <<12/24>>-month membership in Experian® IdentityWorksSM Credit 3B. This product helps detect possible misuse of your personal information and provides you with identity protection services focused on immediate identification and resolution of identity theft. IdentityWorksSM is completely free to you, and we understand that enrolling in this program will not impact your credit score. For more information on identity theft prevention and IdentityWorksSM, including instructions on how to activate your complimentary membership and information about identity protection, please see the pages that follow this letter.

You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
