

Subject: Important Notice: Privacy Incident Involving Your Information

Dear

We are writing to inform you of a recent incident involving your personal health information (PHI). At Acumen, we take the privacy and security of your information very seriously. It is important to us that you are fully informed of any situation that may affect your privacy.

What Happened?

We recently discovered that certain elements of your protected health information may have been sent to another employer in our services. This was due to the previous FMS providing incorrect transition data which linked the employer of record for another participant to your account in our DCI EVV system. As a result, a supplemental transition packet containing your personal information was sent to another employer of record, who reported the incident to the program.

What Information Was Involved?

The information that may have been exposed includes your name, address, phone number, date of birth, and Social Security number.

What We Are Doing

We immediately took steps to contain the incident and conducted a thorough investigation to understand what happened. Our team has reviewed our processes to ensure that this type of error does not happen again. We are also reinforcing staff training in our privacy practices to help prevent future incidents.

What You Can Do

At this time, there is no evidence that your information has been misused. Furthermore, this incident was reported to the program by the employer who received the information in error, so it is unlikely they will use this information maliciously. However, as a precaution, you may place a freeze on your credit report for free by contacting each of the three major credit reporting agencies. You can submit your request online, by phone, or by mail.
