2025 Annual State PWS Report Introduction

Each quarter, primacy agencies submit data to the Safe Drinking Water Information System (SDWIS/FED), an automated database maintained by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Quarterly Reporting data includes, but is not limited to, Public Water System (PWS) inventory information, the incidence of Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) and Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) violations, Monitoring and Reporting (M/R) violations, Treatment Technique (TT) violations, and information on enforcement activity related to these violations.

Section 1414(c)(3) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) requires states to provide EPA with an annual report of violations of the primary drinking water standards. This report provides the numbers of violations in each of eight categories: MCLs, MRDLs, TTs, variances and exemptions, Significant M/Rs, recordkeeping, Significant Consumer Confidence Report (CCR) notifications, and Significant Public Notifications (PN).
The EPA regional offices report the information for Wyoming, the District of Columbia, and all Indian lands but the Navajo Nation. EPA regional offices also report federal enforcement actions taken.

Data retrieved from SDWIS/FED form the basis of this report. Due to the timing of violation identification and subsequent reporting of these records to SDWIS/FED, there may be minor discrepancies or differences between EPA's database and the State database.

Public Water System (PWS)

A PWS is defined as a system that provides water via piping or other constructed conveyances for human consumption to at least 15 service connections or serves an average of at least 25 people for at least 60 days each year. There are three types of PWSs: Community Systems (such as towns), Non-Transient Non-Community Systems (such as schools or factories), or Transient Non-Community Systems (such as rest stops or parks). For this report, when the acronym PWS is used, it means systems of all types unless specified in greater detail.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL)

Under the SDWA, the EPA sets national limits on contaminant levels in drinking water to ensure that the water is safe for human consumption. These limits are known as MCLs.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL)

The EPA sets national limits on residual disinfectant levels in drinking water to reduce the risk of exposure to disinfectant byproducts formed when public water systems add chemical disinfectants for either primary or residual treatment. These limits are known as MRDLs.

Treatment Techniques (TT)

For some regulations, the EPA establishes treatment techniques in lieu of an MCL to control unacceptable levels of certain contaminants. For example, treatment techniques have been established for viruses, some bacteria, and turbidity.

Variances and Exemptions

A primacy state can grant a PWS a variance from a primary drinking water regulation if the characteristics of the raw water sources reasonably available to the PWS do not allow the system to meet the MCL. To obtain a variance, the system must agree to install the best available technology, treatment techniques, or other means of limiting drinking water contamination that the Administrator finds are available (taking costs into account), and the state must find that the variance will not result in an unreasonable risk to public health. The variance shall be reviewed not less than every 5 years to determine if the system remains eligible for the variance.

A primacy state can grant an exemption temporarily relieving a PWS of its obligation to comply with an MCL or treatment technique or both if the system's noncompliance results from compelling factors (which may include economic factors) and the system was in operation on the effective date of the MCL or treatment technique requirement. The State will require PWSs to comply with the MCL or treatment technique as expeditiously as practicable, but not later than 3 years after the otherwise applicable compliance date.

Significant Monitoring and Reporting (M/R) Violations

A PWS is required to monitor and verify that the levels of contaminants present in the water do not exceed the MCL or MRDL. If a PWS fails to have its water tested as required or fails to report test results correctly to the primacy agent, a monitoring and reporting violation occurs.

For this report, significant monitoring and reporting violations are generally defined as any significant monitoring violation that occurred during the calendar year of the report. A significant monitoring and reporting violation, with rare exceptions, occurs when no samples were taken or no results were reported during a compliance period.

Recordkeeping Violations

Under the SDWA, all PWSs must maintain detailed records to demonstrate compliance with federal and state regulations.

Significant Consumer Confidence Report (CCR) Notification Violations

Every community water system is required to deliver to its customers a brief annual water quality report. Starting in 2027 some community water systems will have to issue biannual reports. This report includes some educational materials, and will provide information on the source water, the levels of any detected contaminants, and compliance with drinking water regulations.

For this report, a significant consumer confidence report notification violation occurred if a community water system completely failed to provide its customers with the required annual CCR.

Significant Public Notification (PN) Violations

The Public Notification Rule requires all PWSs to notify their consumers any time a PWS violated a national primary drinking water regulation or has a situation posing a risk to public health. The amount of time that a PWS has to notify the public depends upon the risk posed by the violation or situation. Notices must be provided to all persons served (not just billing consumers).

For this report, a significant public notification violation occurs when a PWS completely fails to notify its consumers that the PWS violated a national primary drinking water regulation or had a situation posing a risk to public health.

OBTAINING A COPY OF 2025 PUBLIC WATER SYSTEMS REPORT

As required by the Safe Drinking Water Act, the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection's (MassDEP) Drinking Water Program has made the 2025 Public Water Systems Report available to public.
