Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

Talen Energy Corporation (“we” or “our”) recently discovered an incident that may affect the security of your personal information. While we are unaware of any attempted or actual misuse of any information involved in this incident, we want to provide you with information about the incident, steps we are taking in response, and steps you may take to guard against identity theft and fraud, should you feel it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened?

On January 27, 2026, we experienced a cybersecurity incident. Upon discovering unauthorized activity on certain of our systems, we initiated an investigation with the assistance of leading cybersecurity experts. Through this investigation, we determined that an unauthorized actor obtained a copy of certain files containing your personal information.

What Information Was Involved?

Our investigation has determined that some of the data involved in the security incident may have included your name and information in one or more of the following categories: date of birth, address, telephone number, employee ID, Social Security number, driver’s license numbers or other government identification numbers, and medical information (such as provider names and diagnosis information). The particular type of information involved depends on the individual.

What We Are Doing?

Once we detected unauthorized activity, we immediately launched an investigation and engaged third-party experts to quickly ascertain the nature and scope of the incident. We also contacted law enforcement. We have also implemented enhanced security measures to prevent similar incidents from occurring in the future. We have also arranged to offer you, at no cost, identity theft protection services through IDX. IDX identity protection services include: 24 months of credit and CyberScan monitoring, a $1,000,000 insurance reimbursement policy, and fully managed ID theft recovery services. Please see the enclosed Reference Guide for more information.

Monitoring. You should always remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing bank and payment card account statements and monitoring your credit reports for suspicious or unusual activity and immediately reporting any suspicious activity or incidents of identity theft. You can contact the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) to learn more about how to protect yourself from becoming a victim of identity theft and how to repair identity theft: Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), <https://www.ftc.gov/idtheft/>.

Order Your Free Credit Report. You may obtain a copy of your credit report, free or charge, whether or not you suspect any unauthorized activity on your account. To order your free credit report, visit <https://www.annualcreditreport.com>, call toll-free at (877) 322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the FTC’s website at <https://www.consumer.ftc.gov> and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. The three nationwide consumer reporting agencies provide free annual credit reports only through their websites, toll-free numbers or request form.

Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit File. To protect yourself from possible identity theft, consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but may also delay you when you seek to obtain credit. Initial fraud alerts last for one year. Victims of identity theft can also get an extended fraud alert for seven years. You can place fraud alerts with the three credit bureaus by phone, by mail, or online (see below). The bureau you contact will notify the other two bureaus about the fraud alert. For more information on fraud alerts, you may also contact the FTC as described above.

Consider Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File. You also have the right to place a security freeze on your credit report. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. Unlike a fraud alert, you must place a security freeze on your credit file at each consumer reporting agency individually.

To place a security freeze on your credit report, you must make a request to each consumer reporting agency by phone, by mail, or online (see below). The consumer reporting agencies may require proper identification prior to honoring your request, so to place the security freeze for yourself, your spouse, or a minor under the age of 16, you will need to provide your name, address for the past two years, date of birth, Social Security number, proof of identity and proof of address as requested by the credit reporting company. After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting company will send you a confirmation letter containing a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password, which will be required to lift the freeze, which you can do either temporarily or permanently. It is free to place, lift, or remove a security freeze.
