Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<Full Name>>:

Modoc Medical Center (“Modoc”) writes to make you aware of an event that may involve some of your information. Although we have no indication that identity theft or fraud has occurred as a result of this event, this notice provides information about this event, our response, and resources available to help protect your personal information, should you feel it is appropriate.

What Happened? On January 27, 2026, we became aware of unauthorized access to certain files on our network. We promptly took steps to secure our systems and launched an investigation into the nature and scope of the issue with the assistance of cybersecurity specialists. Our investigation determined that an unknown actor accessed a limited number of Modoc systems and downloaded certain files from those systems between January 19, 2026, and January 27, 2026. Following our investigation, we launched a comprehensive and time-intensive third-party review of the affected files to determine the contents of the files, to whom the information relates, and identify contact information for those individuals. This review was recently completed. We are notifying you because the review determined that certain information of yours was contained within the files.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
