Dear Jane Sample:

Schlesinger Lazetera & Auchincloss LLP ("SLA") writes to inform you of an event that may involve certain information related to you. Although SLA presently has no evidence that any such information has been used to commit identity theft or fraud, we are providing information about the event, the steps we have taken in response, and resources available to you to help protect information from possible misuse, should you feel it is appropriate to do so.

SLA takes this event and the security of information in our care very seriously. Upon learning of this event, we promptly commenced an investigation and took remediation actions. As part of our ongoing commitment to the privacy of information in our care, we are reviewing our policies, procedures, and processes to reduce the likelihood of a similar future event. We also reported the event to appropriate governmental agencies and federal law enforcement.

As an added precaution, we are offering you access to 24 months of credit monitoring and identity theft protection services through TransUnion at no cost to you. If you wish to activate these services, you may follow the below instructions. We encourage you to enroll in these services as we are unable to do so on your behalf.

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

Draft

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you may need to provide the following information, depending on whether you make the request online, by phone, or by mail:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.);
7. Social Security Card, pay stub, or W2;

If you are a victim of identity theft, include a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
