RE: Notice of Security Incident

Dear Sample A. Sample:

We are writing to inform you about a recent security incident affecting certain of your personal information that is maintained by LPL Financial LLC and an associated advisor for the purpose of providing you with financial advice. We want to provide you with (1) information about the incident, (2) which of your personal information was involved, (3) steps we are taking in response, and (4) steps you can consider to help protect your personal information.

We encourage you to remain vigilant and review your account statements and free credit reports regularly to ensure there is no unauthorized or unexplained activity and report suspicious activity to your financial advisor.

What Happened?

On August 19, 2026, LPL was made aware of suspicious activity on your advisor's LPL portal account that maintains certain client data. LPL immediately began an investigation and determined that remote access software has been installed on your advisor's device as early as August 11, 2026. This software may have allowed an unauthorized party to access your advisor's LPL portal account. This software was promptly removed upon discovery. Additional containment measures were implemented, including disabling the advisor's LPL portal access and LPL email account until his device had been secured.

What Information Was Involved?

The following personal information of yours was or is reasonably believed to have been accessed without authorization: name; Social Security number; account number and type; contact information (address, phone number, email); and transaction history and account balances. We have not identified any unauthorized transactions impacting your account.

What We Are Doing.

We commenced an internal investigation and reviewed relevant account activity, rotated credentials, and implemented additional technical measures to help prevent further unauthorized access. LPL has found no evidence of additional unauthorized activity related to this incident. We are working with law enforcement regarding the investigation.

What You Can Do.

We wanted to make you aware of this incident so that you can take appropriate steps to protect your personal information and to offer you a complimentary 24-month membership for credit monitoring and identity theft protection services through Experian. We encourage you to enroll in these services. Please also review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Your Personal Information, which contains details about this offer, including instructions on how to enroll, and general guidance on what you can do to safeguard against possible future misuse of your information, including information about fraud alerts, how to obtain free credit reports, and guidance from the Federal Trade Commission.

Review Your Account Statements

Carefully review statements sent to you from your healthcare providers, insurance company, and financial institutions to ensure that all of your account activity is valid. Report any questionable charges promptly to the provider or company with which you maintain the account.

Order Your Free Credit Report

You may also periodically obtain credit reports from the nationwide credit reporting agencies. If you discover information on your credit report arising from a fraudulent transaction, you should request that the credit reporting agency delete that information from your credit report file. In addition, under federal law, you are entitled to one free copy of your credit report every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report by going to www.AnnualCreditReport.com or by calling (877) 322-8228. You may contact the nationwide credit reporting agencies at:

Equifax	Experian	TransUnion
(800) 685-1111	(888) 397-3742	(833) 799-5355
P.O. Box 740241	P.O. Box 9701	P.O. Box 2000
Atlanta, GA 30374-0241	Allen, TX 75013-9701	Chester, PA 19016-2000
www.Equifax.com	www.Experian.com	www.TransUnion.com

You also have other rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (“FCRA”). These include, among others, the right to know what is in your file; to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information; and to have consumer reporting agencies correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. For information about your rights under the FCRA, please visit: https://files.consumerfinance.gov/f/201504_cfpb_summary_your-rights-under-fcra.pdf.

Contact the U.S. Federal Trade Commission

You may contact the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”), law enforcement, or your state Attorney General to report incidents of identity theft or to learn about steps you can take to protect yourself from identity theft. To learn more, you can go to the FTC’s website at www.ftc.gov/idtheft, or call the FTC at (877) IDTHEFT (438-4338) or write to Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580.

Fraud Alerts and Security Freezes

You may obtain additional information from the FTC and the credit reporting agencies about fraud alerts and security freezes. You can add a fraud alert to your credit report file to help protect your credit information at no cost to you. A fraud alert can make it more difficult for someone to get credit in your name because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to verify your identity. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling any of the nationwide credit reporting agencies listed above. As soon as that agency processes your fraud alert, it will notify the other two agencies, which then must also place fraud alerts in your file.

You can also contact the nationwide credit reporting agencies at the numbers listed above to place a security freeze to restrict access to your credit report free of charge. You must separately place a credit freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting agency. You will need to provide the credit reporting agency with certain information, such as your name, address, date of birth and Social Security number. After receiving your request, the credit reporting agency will send you a confirmation containing a unique PIN or password that you will need in order to remove or temporarily lift the freeze. You should keep the PIN or password in a safe place. If you request a lift of the credit freeze online or by phone, the credit reporting agency must lift the freeze within one (1) hour. If you request a credit freeze or lift of a credit freeze by mail, the credit reporting agency must place or lift the credit freeze no later than three (3) business days after getting your request.
