RE: Important Security Notification. Please read this entire letter.

Dear [redacted]:

PayrHealth writes to notify you about a recent data security incident we experienced that may impact the privacy of certain Protected Health Information (PHI). We provide healthcare revenue management services to your medical provider and receive your information in connection with those services.

We take the privacy and security of all information very seriously, and while we have no evidence to suggest that any information was subject to actual misuse as a result of this incident, this letter includes information about the incident and steps you can take to help protect your information.

What Happened? On or around August 18, 2026, we became aware of certain unauthorized activity within our computer systems. Upon discovery, we immediately secured our network and swiftly engaged a third-party team of forensic investigators in order to determine the full nature and scope of the incident. As part of our investigation, we learned that certain information within our systems was subject to unauthorized access for a limited period of time. Upon discovery, we worked to identify and collect the data at risk and began a thorough review to determine the types of information that may have been impacted, the individuals to whom it relates, and associate identified information with clients as appropriate. On August 26, 2026, this process was completed and we worked to notify your medical provider as soon as possible. We are now notifying you as it has been determined that your information may have been affected.

What Information Was Involved? It is important to note that there is no evidence to suggest that your information has been or will be misused. The types of information contained within the potentially affected data may have included your first and last name, in combination with one or more of the following: address, date of birth, Social Security number, member/patient identifier, insurance and claims information, and treatment or diagnosis information.

What We Are Doing: We have taken the steps necessary to address and investigate the incident. Upon learning of this incident, we immediately took steps to secure our systems and undertook a thorough investigation. We have also implemented additional technical safeguards to further enhance the security of information in our possession and to prevent similar incidents from happening in the future. Additionally, we are offering you complimentary credit monitoring and identity protection services for a period of 24 months.

What You Can Do: In addition to enrolling in the complimentary credit monitoring service detailed below, we recommend that you remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements and explanation of benefits forms for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Monitor Your Accounts

We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your credit reports/account statements and explanation of benefits forms for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Under U.S. law, you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, TransUnion, Experian, and Equifax. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228. Once you receive your credit report, review it for discrepancies and identify any accounts you did not open or inquiries from creditors that you did not authorize. If you have questions or notice incorrect information, contact the credit reporting bureau.

You have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, you have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without your express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a credit freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Address for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (e.g., state driver's license or identification card); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft, if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
