Dear [Name]:

The Orthopaedic Institute of Western Kentucky ("OIWK"), which ended its practice on December 31, 2023, and acquired by Mercy Health – Western Kentucky Orthopedics, is committed to protecting the privacy and security of our patients' information. We are writing to inform you about a cybersecurity incident that occurred at a third-party vendor, Keystone Technologies, and involved some of your information. This letter includes details about what occurred, the steps we are taking, and steps you can take in response.

What Happened? Keystone Technologies is a healthcare IT consulting and services firm that provided managed services for OIWK. We recently learned of two cybersecurity incidents that occurred on certain computer systems hosted by Keystone Technologies. We quickly initiated our incident response protocols and began an investigation with the assistance of an external forensic firm. The investigations determined that unauthorized third-parties gained access to the systems between (1) April 21, 2025, and April 26, 2025, and obtained certain files and (2) July 19, 2025, and August 1, 2025, and obtained certain files. We conducted a detailed review and analysis of the files involved and, on December 8, 2025, and January 15, 2026, identified certain OIWK patient information.

What Information Was Involved? The files involved included your name, Social Security number and one or more of the following: date of birth, address, medical record number, health insurance information, and/or treatment information. Please note OIWK's electronic medical record system and Mercy Health's IT systems and electronic medical record systems were not involved or affected by this incident.

What We Are Doing. We take this matter very seriously. To help prevent something like this from happening again, we are transitioning the data maintained by Keystone Technologies to Mercy Health's internal systems.

Although we have no indication that any of your personal information involved in this incident has been misused for fraud or identity theft, as a precaution, we are offering a complimentary 12-month membership in Experian® IdentityWorksSM Credit 3B. Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
