What Happened? Last year, we became aware of suspicious activity on our computer network and promptly took steps to secure the network and launch an investigation, with the support of third-party cybersecurity specialists. The investigation determined that an unauthorized actor gained access to our network between June 24, 2025 and July 2, 2025, and copied or viewed certain files. Therefore, we conducted a diligent and comprehensive review of the potentially impacted files to determine what sensitive information was contained therein and identify the individuals to whom such information relates in order to provide accurate and complete notices. This review recently concluded and F & P Georgia is notifying potentially affected individuals.

What Information Was Involved? While we currently have no evidence that any information related to this event has been used to commit identity theft or fraud, the investigation determined your _____ were included within the potentially impacted file set.

What We Are Doing. We want to assure you that the privacy and security of information in our care is a top priority. Upon learning of this event, we immediately took steps to secure our systems and conducted an investigation to confirm the nature and scope of the activity and determine who may be affected. Additionally, while we have safeguards in place to protect data in our care, we are working to review and further enhance these protections as part of our ongoing commitment to data security. We also reported this event to federal law enforcement and appropriate government regulators. Although we have no evidence that any information has been used to commit identity theft or fraud, as an added precaution, we are also offering you 12 months of credit monitoring and identity restoration services at no cost to you. Enrollment instructions are enclosed with this letter.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
