

EVIDENCE WITH REDACTED MATERIAL

You will note that there are black markings or redactions on exhibit number(s)____. Irrelevant information has been removed from the document(s). You are not to speculate about what that irrelevant information is. Do not consider it in any way. The Court has removed irrelevant material to ensure the evidence is presented in a fair manner.

You are not to engage in any guesswork or speculation about what has been excluded from your view. You are to decide the facts only from evidence which is before you.

BEST PRACTICE: When material in a document has been redacted using a black marker or “white out,” the jury should receive a photocopy of that page so that the redacted portions cannot be read by holding the paper up to a light source.
