

DUPLICATIVE DAMAGES

A litigant is not entitled to duplicative recoveries on separate legal theories for the same wrongs. So, if you find that the same acts of the landlord breached both the warranty of habitability and covenant of quiet enjoyment, the tenant is entitled to only one recovery, the one which would give the tenant the largest award.