

HEALTH POLICY COMMISSION
ACO CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

ACCOUNTABLE CARE ORGANIZATIONS IN MASSACHUSETTS:

PROFILES OF THE 2019
HPC-CERTIFIED ACOS

INTRODUCTION TO THE ACO PROFILES

In 2017, the Massachusetts Health Policy Commission (HPC) launched a first-in-the-nation set of statewide standards for accountable care organizations (ACOs). An ACO is a group of health care providers that contracts with a payer to assume responsibility for the delivery of care to its attributed patients, and for those patients' health outcomes. To be certified by the HPC for a term of two years, ACOs are required to demonstrate certain core attributes: that ACO provider participants and patients have a meaningful role in the governance of the ACO; that the ACO governing body monitors quality performance and sets performance improvement goals; that the ACO routinely stratifies its patient population and develops population health management programs to address identified needs; and that the ACO coordinates with other providers to deliver cross-continuum care. The HPC first issued profiles of certified ACOs in September 2018.

This updated publication of ACO Profiles includes new information provided by 14 ACOs that sought re-certification in 2019. The profiles provide a snapshot of each certified ACO, using non-confidential information submitted to the HPC through ACO Certification and other public data, including data from the Massachusetts Registration of Provider Organizations (RPO) program. These profiles are part of a series of policy briefs and other resources that the HPC began issuing in 2018 to provide policymakers, health care providers, payers and purchasers, researchers, and other members of the interested public with information and insights regarding the characteristics of certified ACOs. For additional background information and context, materials are available at Transforming Care: ACO Briefs and Other Resources.

HOW TO READ THE ACO PROFILES

Many health care provider organizations have complex corporate structures that include multiple separate contracting entities. The ACOs are certified by the HPC at the level of the organization that has common control or ownership of any corporately affiliated contracting entities that enter into risk contracts. In cases where the HPC-certified ACO's risk contracts are held by a single contracting entity that does not have a corporate parent, the profile includes data pertaining to the organization overall, including some specific information on its ACO risk contracts. ACO-specific information is framed in an orange box. Other ACO Profiles include an abbreviated organizational chart showing the relationship between the HPC-certified ACO, its corporate parent (if applicable), and other contracting entities within the HPC-certified ACO that enter into risk contracts. These profiles also provide additional data about the corporation framed in a blue box. These data are intended to provide helpful context for understanding the ACO.

The primary data sources for the profiles are non-confidential data from the HPC ACO Certification applications, publicly available Medicare data, publicly available Mass-Health data, and the 2019 RPO filings. Additional details on the data sources and methods used to generate the profiles are noted on each and described in the Data Sources and Methods section at the end of this packet.

The HPC welcomes questions, reactions, feedback, and any comments on this brief and on the plans for future reporting on the ACO Certification program described here. Please contact HPC-Certification@mass.gov.

DATA SOURCES AND METHODS

ACO PROFILES

Description

The HPC drafted the description using a standard format: “[Certified ACO X] is an HPC-certified ACO, inclusive of [Component ACO A and Component ACO B]. [Certified ACO X]’s corporate parent is [Health System Y], a [non- or for-profit status] organization providing care primarily in [region of Massachusetts, or across the Commonwealth].” In this context, “corporate parent” is defined as the Registered Provider Organization that has ownership or control of the certified ACO. Information regarding the corporate ownership of an ACO was sourced from data elements RPO-135, Corporate Organizational Chart, and RPO-43, Legal Name of Corporate Affiliate. For- or non-profit status was sourced from RPO-32, Tax-Exempt Status.

Organizational Chart

In cases where a certified ACO is under the ownership or control of a corporate parent, the ACO Profile includes an abbreviated organizational chart showing the relationship between the corporate parent and the certified ACO. These charts are extracts of those submitted to the HPC in the 2019 MA-RPO filings. The HPC referred to the RPO filing most recently submitted at the time of certification.

ACO Risk Contracts

Commercial contract data: The names of the payers with which the ACOs have risk contracts (current as of the date of certification) were sourced from the HPC ACO Certification applications.

MassHealth contract data: MassHealth has three types of ACOs: Model A (Accountable Care Partnership Plan), Model B (Primary Care ACO), and Model C (MCO-Administered ACO). Information on the model and, where applicable, payer partner was informed by public data sources including the MassHealth Enrollment Guide.

Medicare contract data: Information on Medicare ACO participation was sourced from public Medicare Shared Savings Program and Next Generation ACO data available online through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). Some of the certified ACOs also hold Medicare Advantage risk contracts; those contracts were not included in the profiles.

ACO Type

Each ACO is classified into one of three categories: academic- or teaching-hospital anchored, community-hospital anchored, or physician organization-anchored. This classification scheme builds on the hospital categories employed by the Center for Health Information and Analysis in its FY 2018 Massachusetts Hospital Profiles Technical Appendix. ACOs that include at least one academic medical center (AMC) or teaching hospital were classified as academic- or teaching-hospital anchored. ACOs with at least one community hospital and no AMC or teaching hospital were categorized as community-hospital anchored. ACOs with no hospital participant were classified as physician organization-anchored ACOs. Note that ACOs classified as academic- or teaching-hospital anchored may contain community hospitals in their systems, as well.

ACO Patients

The figure shown for ACO patients is an approximate sum of the number of patients in ACO risk contracts as reported to the HPC in the 2019 ACO Certification applications (excluding any reported Medicare Advantage, Senior Care Options, or Program of All-inclusive Care for the Elderly risk contract lives). These counts represent point-in-time attribution figures at the time of application for certification. It should be noted that some ACOs may be designed to serve only a subset of the population (e.g., pediatric patients only). This information is intended to provide objective data on the number of patients attributed to the certified ACOs and should not be interpreted as a value judgment.

ACO Two-sided Risk

Each profile indicates the percent of ACO attributed patients in risk contracts that include both upside and downside risk, as reported to the HPC in 2019 ACO Certification applications (excluding any reported Medicare Advantage, Senior Care Options, or Program of All-inclusive Care for the Elderly risk contract patients).

ACO Patient/Consumer Representation

The location of the patient or consumer representative(s) within the ACO's governance structure was sourced from ACO Certification applications.

ACO Contact Information

The individual contact information given is for the Applicant Contact, provided to the HPC in the ACO Certification applications as the primary public contact for ACO-related matters.

Map

Each Profile includes a map showing the zip codes of the practicing providers listed in the MA-RPO Physician Roster file most recently submitted from the date of certification (2019), as given by RPO-108 Primary Site of Practice Zip Code. When noted, not all of the providers identified in this map or in the physician count (see below) may participate in the certified ACO's risk contracts. In cases where only primary care providers (PCPs) or both PCPs and specialists practice in a given zip code, the geographic area of that zip code is colored blue. Where a given zip code has only specialists and no PCPs associated with the RPO, the zip code is colored yellow. Physicians who were classified in the MA-RPO data as both PCPs and specialists were considered PCPs for purposes of the mapping.

Physician Counts

Physician counts were calculated using Physician Roster data elements RPO-93 Physician NPI, RPO-94 Physician Specialty, RPO-96 Primary Care Provider Status, and RPO-97 Pediatrician Status. Duplicate physician listings were removed prior to generating counts, and PCP, Pediatrician, and Specialty statuses were modified as needed to best capture discrepancies between duplicate entries. The individual physician count elements were calculated as follows:

- Total Physicians is the sum of all physicians, after removing duplicates, listed in each RPO's 2019 RPO Physician Roster.
- Total Primary Care Providers is the sum of all physicians, after removing duplicates, listed in RPO-96 Primary Care Provider Status as a "Primary Care Provider," or "Both."
- Total Pediatricians is the sum of all physicians, after removing duplicates, listed in RPO-97 Pediatrician Status as "Yes." This number includes specialists and PCPs.
- Total Specialists is the sum of all physicians, after removing duplicates, listed in RPO-96 Primary Care Provider Status as a "Specialist" or "Both."
- Behavioral Health Physicians is the sum of all physicians, after removing duplicates, who specialize in a behavioral health field such as Psychiatry or Addiction Medicine, per RPO-94 Physician Specialty.

The physician counts are approximate and rounded to the nearest 10, except for counts less than 10. As noted, because a physician may have more than one specialty, the sum of the counts in the individual specialty categories may be greater than the number of Total Physicians listed.
