In the case of a county, such budget shall be decreased by those amounts appropriated for the costs of county courts and district attorneys in the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, which costs are to be assumed by the commonwealth, under the provisions of chapter four hundred and seventy-eight of the acts of nineteen hundred and seventy-eight.

SECTION 4. No local appropriating authority shall approve appropriations which are greater than one hundred and four per cent of the appropriations approved by said authority for the preceding fiscal year; provided, however, that said appropriations may be increased by those amounts approved in accordance with the applicable provisions of sections six, seven and eleven; and provided, further, that such appropriations shall be further decreased by any amount made available by a revenue-producing enterprise previously funded in whole or in part by the property tax. In any city, town or district with a population of twenty-five hundred or more, if a local appropriating authority approves appropriations in excess of the appropriations limit established in this section but said approval is not by a two-thirds vote, said local appropriating authority may amend said appropriations, in whole or in part, in order to make said appropriations conform with said appropriations limit. Appropriations so amended may exceed said appropriations limit if approved by a two-thirds vote.

SECTION 5. No property tax levy in any city or town or in any district which levies directly a property tax shall be assessed by the assessors under the provisions of section twenty-three of chapter fifty-nine of the General Laws which is greater than one hundred and four per cent of the levy for the preceding fiscal or calendar year, whichever is applicable; provided, however, that said levy may be increased by those amounts approved in accordance with the applicable provisions of section four and sections six to twelve, inclusive. Such levy may be increased by any amounts required to offset decreases in state aid distributed pursuant to chapter fifty-eight of the General Laws and shall be decreased by any amounts of increased state aid distributed pursuant to said chapter fifty-eight, in each case as certified by the commissioner of revenue.

SECTION 6. Any governing body which submits its budget request directly to only one local appropriating authority may, by a two-thirds vote, submit a request to increase the budget limit imposed pursuant to section four by a specified amount. The request may be approved, in whole or in part, by a two-thirds vote of the local appropriating authority; provided, however, that in any town or district with a population of twenty-five hundred or less, such appropriating authority may approve such increase by a majority vote.

SECTION 7. Any governmental unit, other than a regional school district or the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, which submits budget requests directly to more than one local appropriating authority may, by a two-thirds vote of its governing body, submit requests to increase the budget limit imposed pursuant to section three by a specified amount. The request may be approved by a two-thirds vote of the local appropriating authorities in no less than two-thirds of the cities, towns or districts participating in such governmental unit and, upon such approval, shall be deemed approved in all of such cities, towns and districts.

SECTION 8. Any regional school district may, by a four-fifths vote of all the members of its regional district school committee, increase by a specified amount the budget limit imposed pursuant to section three.

SECTION 8A. The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority may, by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting of the advisory board, increase by a specified amount the budget limit imposed pursuant to section three.

SECTION 9. Any governmental unit which does not submit its budget request directly to a local appropriating authority may, by a two-thirds vote of its governing body, submit a request to increase the budget limit imposed pursuant to section three by a specified amount to the finance appeals board established by section ten. The finance appeals board may grant the request, in whole or in part, by a majority vote of its members.

SECTION 10. There shall be, in the executive office for administration and finance, a finance appeals board, hereinafter called the board, consisting of the commissioner of revenue, the director of accounts, the secretary of communities and development, ex officio, and two citizens of the commonwealth, experienced in municipal finance and administration, to be appointed by the governor. The governor shall designate one of the appointed members as chairman and may at any time remove an appointed member for cause and may fill a vacancy among the appointed members. The commissioner of revenue, the director of accounts and the secretary of communities and development may, by a writing filed with the board, designate an officer or employee in his department who shall, without additional compensation therefor, perform his duties as a member of the board during his absence. The action of a majority of the members shall constitute valid action of the board and, whenever any action of the board is required to be in writing, said writing shall be signed by a majority of the members.

The members shall serve without compensation, but shall be reimbursed for their necessary expenses incurred in connection with travel in the discharge of their official duties. The commissioner of revenue shall, upon request of the board, assign to it such clerical assistance as it may need from the personnel of the department of revenue. Any expenses incurred by reason of an assignment shall be deemed to be expenses of the board.

The board may allow a governmental unit which does not submit its budget request directly to a local appropriating authority and upon which a budget limit has been imposed by section three to increase such limit by a specified amount upon request in the manner provided in section nine. The board may impose requirements upon such governmental unit as a condition of allowing it to increase such budget limit.

Any action of the board to allow or refuse to allow a governmental unit to increase such budget limit shall be transmitted in writing to the governing body of said unit. A copy of such action shall be forwarded to the commissioner of revenue, who shall adjust the limit initially certified by him to reflect any such increase.

SECTION 11. The appropriations limit imposed pursuant to section four may be increased by a specified amount by a two-thirds vote of the local appropriating authority in any city or in any town or district with a population of twenty-five hundred or more and by a majority vote in any other town or district.

SECTION 12. The levy limit imposed pursuant to section five may be increased by not exceeding a specified amount by a two-thirds vote of the local appropriating authority in any city or in any town or district with a population of twenty-five hundred or more and by a majority vote in any other town or district.

SECTION 12A. In a city, town or a district which levies directly a property tax, any free cash available at the close of a fiscal year shall be used as a continuing appropriation for the purpose of reducing the property tax levy for the next succeeding fiscal year; provided, however, that a specified amount of said free cash may be exempted from the provisions of this section by a two-thirds vote of the local appropriating authority; and provided, further, that those towns with a town meeting form of government which have approved appropriations for the fiscal year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, and have not conformed with the provisions of this section may approve the towns allocation of free cash by a four-fifths vote of the finance or appropriation committee and the approval of the selectmen. If such approval is not so voted, then all free cash shall be used as a continuing appropriation for the purpose of reducing the property tax levy.

SECTION 13. The commissioner of revenue shall determine the limits applicable to each governing body or local appropriating authority under the provisions of this act. In making such determinations, the commissioner may require the presentation of such books, records or other information by any official of the commonwealth or any official of a city, town, district, county, governing body or governmental unit as he deems necessary. He shall forthwith, and in any event not later than thirty days after the effective date of this act, certify the amount of each appropriations limit, budget limit and levy limit to the proper governing body or local appropriating authority. If any such limit is increased in accordance with the provisions of this act, the commissioner shall redetermine the limit accordingly and shall forthwith certify such increased limit to the proper governing body or local appropriating authority.

No tax rate shall be fixed by the assessors of any city or town until such rate has been approved by the commissioner of revenue, and the commissioner shall not approve a rate for any city or town which would allow the amount of property taxes levied to exceed the levy limit or increased levy limit determined by said commissioner.

In the case of a county, the commissioner shall also certify the budget limit applicable to each county to the joint committees on counties of the general court, except in the counties of Nantucket and Suffolk.

SECTION 14. Notwithstanding any general or special law to the contrary, until June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighty-one at any time after the expiration of three years from the date on which any optional provision of general law or special act has been accepted in any city or town, whether by official ballot at an election, by by-law, ordinance or vote of the legislative body or school committee of the city or town, or by vote of the board of selectmen of a town, the revocation of such acceptance may be effected in the same manner as was the vote to accept said provisions, subject to the following conditions:-

(a) this section shall not apply if the optional provision contains, within itself, another method of revocation;

(b) this section shall not apply to any optional provision which authorizes, but does not require, the city or town to act;

(c) this section shall not apply to any action taken under chapter thirty-two or thirty-two B of the General Laws;

(d) this section shall not apply to any action taken to establish a regional district, authority or other entity which involves another city, town, district or other governmental unit;

(e) this section shall not affect contractual, civil service or statutory rights which have come into existence between the city or town and any officer or employee thereof as a result of the acceptance of any optional provision of the General Laws; provided, however, that such revocation shall apply to the successor of the incumbent officer or employee, so as to prevent the same contractual or civil service rights from automatically continuing with respect to such successor officer or employee.

If a petition signed by five per cent or more of the registered voters of a city or town is filed in the office of the city or town clerk within sixty days following a vote, other than a vote by official ballot at an election, to revoke the acceptance of any optional provision of general law or special act, requesting that the question whether to revoke such acceptance be submitted to the voters of such city or town, such vote to revoke shall be suspended from taking effect until such question is determined by vote of the registered voters voting thereon at the next regular city or town election, or if the city council or board of selectmen or other authority charged with calling elections shall so direct, at a special election called for that purpose. Petitions filed requesting the placement of the question of revocation on the ballot shall be substantially in conformity with the provisions of law governing the signing of nomination papers for city or town officers, the identification and certification of names thereon, and the submission thereof to the registrars. If, on the sixty-first day following the date a vote has been taken to revoke the acceptance of an optional provision of the general law or special act no petition as aforesaid has been filed, the vote to revoke shall become effective forthwith.

The question to be placed on a ballot shall be substantially as follows: "Shall the vote of the (city council) (board of aldermen) (school committee) (town council) (town meeting) rescinding the acceptance of section(s) _____ of chapter _____ of the (General Laws) (Acts of _____) act be approved?" A brief summary of the relevant section or sections of the general law or special act shall also appear on the official ballot. If a majority of the voters voting on the question vote in the affirmative, the acceptance of said optional law shall be revoked and it shall become null and void in such city or town beginning with the first day of the month next following said vote. This section shall apply to optional provisions of general law or special act, whether enacted or accepted before or after the effective date of this act.

SECTION 15. Any governing body or local appropriating authority which, prior to the receipt of certification by the commissioner of revenue of its budget limit, appropriations limit or levy limit, as the case may be, pursuant to section thirteen, has approved a budget or appropriated monies for a fiscal or calendar year beginning after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine shall reconsider its actions, if necessary to comply with the limits imposed pursuant to this act, unless such governing body or local appropriating authority has approved its budget or appropriated monies for such fiscal or calendar year by a two-thirds vote, or, in the case of a town or district with a population of less than twenty-five hundred, by a majority vote, or, in the case of a regional school district, by a four-fifths vote. If, prior to the effective date of this act, a town with a population of twenty-five hundred or more has approved a budget, appropriation, or levy for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighty which exceeds the limits established in sections three to five, inclusive, and which does not comply with the two-thirds vote provisions of this section, it shall reconsider such action at an adjourned session, if any, of its annual town meeting or at a special town meeting called for the purpose.

SECTION 16. The provisions of sections one to fifteen, inclusive, shall apply to all budgets, appropriations and levies, whether acted upon before or after the effective date of this act, applicable to fiscal or calendar years beginning after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine and ending on or before December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and eighty-one.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter 1078 of the acts of 1973 is hereby amended by striking out section 4A, inserted by section 1 of chapter 730 of the acts of 1977, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

Section 4A. There shall be in the department of labor and industries, but not subject to the jurisdiction thereof, a committee to be known as the joint labor-management committee in this section referred to as the committee. The committee shall be composed of fourteen members, including a chairman, and a vice-chairman. Twelve committee members shall be appointed by the governor for a term of one year, as follows: three from nominations submitted by the Professional Firefighters of Massachusetts, International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO, three from nominations submitted by the International Brotherhood of Police Officers, NAGE and the Massachusetts Police Association, and six from nominations submitted by the local government advisory committee established pursuant to executive order one hundred and twenty-three, dated January thirteenth, nineteen hundred and seventy-six. Any member of the committee may be removed by the governor for neglect of duty, malfeasance in office, or upon request by the nominating body. The chairman and vice-chairman shall be nominated by the committee, and appointed by the governor for a term of one year. The chairman shall be the chief administrative officer of the committee. The vice-chairman shall assist the chairman and may be authorized by the chairman to act for him in his absence and shall have the full powers of the chairman when so authorized and he shall vote only in the absence of the chairman.

In matters exclusively pertaining to municipal firefighters, committee members nominated for appointment by professional police officer organizations shall not vote. In matters exclusively pertaining to municipal police officers, committee members nominated for appointment by professional firefighter organizations shall not vote. All committee members shall be eligible to vote on matters of common and general interest. The number of committee members representing the local government advisory committee and the number of committee members representing the professional firefighter or police organizations entitled to vote on any matter coming before the committee shall be equal. The chairman may cast the deciding vote on any matter relating to a dispute concerning negotiations over the terms and provisions of a collective bargaining agreement, including any decision to take jurisdiction over a dispute.

Members of the committee shall serve without compensation, but shall be entitled to reimbursement, out of any funds available for the purpose, for reasonable travel or other expenses actually incurred in the performance of their committee duties. The chairman and vice-chairman shall be compensated for time spent for the committee business on a per diem basis at a rate to be determined by the secretary of administration and finance. The committee may purchase such supplies and equipment, and may employ such clerical, staff and other personnel who shall not be subject to the provisions of section nine A of chapter thirty or chapter thirty-one of the General Laws, as they deem necessary to the conduct of committee business out of any funds available for the purpose. Members of the committee employed by a municipality shall be granted leave, if on duty, by the municipal employer for those regularly scheduled work hours spent in the performance of committee business.

The committee shall have oversight responsibility for all collective bargaining negotiations involving municipal police officers and firefighters. The committee shall, at its discretion, have jurisdiction in any dispute over the negotiation of the terms of a collective bargaining agreement involving municipal firefighters or police officers; provided, however, that notwithstanding section four of chapter one thousand and seventy-eight of the acts of nineteen hundred and seventy-three to the contrary, the committee may determine whether the proceeding for the prevention of any prohibited practices filed with the labor relations commission shall or shall not prevent arbitration pursuant to this section.

After notification by the committee, the parties to any municipal police and fire negotiations shall file with committee, in such time as the committee orders:

- (1) copies of all requests to bargain, and of all bargaining agenda;

The committee shall forthwith review the petition and shall make a determination within thirty days whether to exercise jurisdiction over the dispute. Subject to the provisions of the eleventh paragraph, if the committee declines to exercise jurisdiction over the dispute or fails to act within thirty days of receipt of the petition on jurisdiction, the petition shall be automatically referred to the board of arbitration and conciliation hereinafter referred to as the board, for disposition in accordance with the provisions of section nine of chapter one hundred and fifty E of the General Laws.

The petition to the committee shall identify the issues in dispute, the parties, the efforts of the parties to resolve the dispute and such other information as may be prescribed in the rules of the committee.

Said board shall not accept any petition from a party to a municipal police and fire negotiation under section nine of chapter one hundred and fifty E of the General Laws if the petition has not been first reviewed in accordance with the provisions of this section by the committee.

The committee or its representative or mediators appointed by it may meet with the parties to a dispute, conduct formal or informal conferences, and take other steps including mediation to encourage the parties to agree on the terms of a collective bargaining agreement or the procedures to resolve the dispute. The committee shall make every effort to encourage the parties to engage in good faith negotiations to reach settlement through negotiations or mediation.

The committee after consultation with the board of arbitration and conciliation may remove at any time from the jurisdiction of the board any dispute in which the board has exercised jurisdiction, and the board shall then take no further action in such dispute. The committee may, at any time, remand to the board any dispute which the committee has exercised jurisdiction. The board shall assist and cooperate with the committee in its performance of the committee's duties. Disputes over which the committee does not exercise jurisdiction shall be governed by all other applicable provisions of law.

The committee shall have exclusive jurisdiction in matters over which it assumes jurisdiction and shall determine if a genuine impasse exists and if the processes of collective bargaining have been exhausted.

If the committee determines that a genuine impasse exists, and the process of collective bargaining has been exhausted, the committee shall:

(1) specify the issue or issues to be arbitrated; provided, however, that the committee shall not specify for arbitration any issue excluded from arbitration pursuant to section four, and the committee may, however, administer the provisions of said section four relative to firefighter assignments and transfers;

(2) nominate the panel of neutral arbitrators from which the arbitrator is to be selected by the parties; if the parties cannot agree on an arbitrator within a time prescribed by the committee, the committee shall appoint the neutral arbitrator or arbitrators or the committee may appoint the chairman, the vice-chairman or a panel of the committee including the chairman or vice-chairman to arbitrate the dispute;

(3) determine the form of arbitration, conventional arbitration, issue by issue, last best offer, or such other form as the committee deems appropriate; and

(4) determine the procedures to be followed in the arbitration proceeding. Except as provided herein, arbitration proceedings in matters over which the committee assumes jurisdiction, shall be conducted in accordance with the standards, provisions and limitations of said section four. The committee may direct the parties to a dispute to conduct further negotiations concerning issues not specified for arbitration.

In dispute resolution conducted by other than the committee or its members or staff, the parties shall share and pay equally the costs involved in such resolution.

The committee shall have jurisdiction in any particular dispute concerning job titles over which the parties have negotiated, or to remove specific job titles from collective bargaining for individuals performing certain specified management duties.

The committee shall promulgate rules and regulations necessary for the performance and enforcement of the responsibilities and powers set forth herein in this act; provided, however, that said committee file a copy of any regulations or amendments thereto with the clerks of the senate and the house of representatives who, with the approval of the president of the senate and speaker of the house of representatives, shall refer such regulations to an appropriate committee of the general court. Within thirty days after such filing, the appropriate committee of the general court shall hold a hearing on such regulations and shall issue a report and file a copy with the joint labor-management committee. Said joint labor-management committee shall consider such report and make revisions in the regulations as it deems appropriate in view of such report and shall forthwith file a copy of the final regulations with the chairman of the committee of the general court to which the regulations were referred.

The provisions of chapter thirty A of the General Laws, unless otherwise provided, shall apply to the committee.

The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and to require by subpoena the attendance and testimony of witnesses, the production of books, records, and other evidence relative to or pertinent to the issues presented to the committee.

It is hereby declared that the provisions of this act are severable, and if any provision of this act shall be declared unconstitutional by the valid judgment or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction, such unconstitutionality shall not affect any of the remaining provisions of this act.

SECTION 2. Said chapter 1078 is hereby further amended by striking out section 8, as amended by section 3 of chapter 347 of the acts of 1977, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

SECTION 1. Chapter 109 of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding the following section:-

Section 32. (a) A foreign limited partnership is a partnership formed by two or more persons under the laws of any jurisdiction other than this commonwealth and having as partners one or more general partners and one or more limited partners. A foreign limited partnership shall not do any business in the commonwealth which is prohibited to a limited partnership organized under this chapter. A foreign limited partnership shall be considered to be doing business in the commonwealth for the purposes of this section if it would be considered to be doing business in the commonwealth for the purposes of chapter one hundred and eighty-one if it were a foreign corporation.

(b) Every foreign limited partnership doing business in the commonwealth shall submit to the state secretary, within ten days after it commences doing business in the commonwealth, an application for registration as a foreign limited partnership, which shall be signed and sworn to by a general partner. The application shall be in such form as the state secretary shall require, and shall be accompanied by a certificate of legal existence of the foreign limited partnership, issued by an officer or agency properly authorized in the jurisdiction in which the foreign limited partnership is organized, or such other evidence of legal existence as the state secretary shall approve. If the certificate or such evidence is in a foreign language, a translation thereof, under oath of the translator, shall be attached thereto.

The application for registration shall set forth the following information:-

(1) the name of the foreign limited partnership and, if different, the name under which it proposes to do business in the commonwealth;

(2) the jurisdiction where such partnership was organized and the date of its organization;

(3) the general character of the business it proposes to do in the commonwealth;

(4) the business address of its principal office;

(5) the names, business addresses and residence addresses of its general partners;

(6) the business address of its principal office in the commonwealth, if any; and

(7) the name and business address of its resident agent.

If the foreign limited partnership's certificate of partnership from its jurisdiction of organization sets forth any part of the information required to be set forth in the application for registration in the commonwealth, the foreign limited partnership may submit a certified copy of such certificate, with a sworn translation, if necessary, in lieu of such part of the application for registration.

(c) The state secretary shall examine and endorse his approval on the application for registration if the business of the foreign limited partnership is not prohibited by law to a limited partnership formed under this chapter and if the state secretary determines that the application complies with this section. Upon such approval and payment of the required fee, the application shall be deemed to be filed with the state secretary and the foreign limited partnership shall be deemed to be registered to do business in the commonwealth. The state secretary shall keep such records and have such other duties with respect to foreign limited partnerships as are provided in section six of chapter one hundred and eighty-one relative to foreign corporations.

(d) A foreign limited partnership may register with the state secretary and do business in the commonwealth under any name, whether or not it is the name under which it is registered in its jurisdiction of organization, that could be assumed by a limited partnership.

(e) Each foreign limited partnership doing business in the commonwealth shall appoint a resident agent as its true and lawful attorney upon whom all lawful processes in any action or proceeding against such foreign limited partnership in the commonwealth may be served. The provisions of section forty-nine of chapter one hundred and fifty-six B relative to the appointment and qualifications of a resident agent for a corporation shall be applicable to the appointment of a resident agent pursuant to this section. A foreign limited partnership may revoke any such appointment or appoint a new resident agent, and any such resident agent may change his or its business address or resign in substantially the manner set forth in said section forty-nine; provided that each certificate required or permitted to be filed with the state secretary by the officers of a corporation under said section forty-nine shall be signed on behalf of a foreign limited partnership by a general partner thereof, and each action required or permitted to be taken by the directors of a corporation under said section forty-nine shall be required or permitted in the manner provided in the foreign limited partnership's governing instrument. Compliance with this clause shall be deemed compliance with the provisions of section five of chapter two hundred and twenty-seven.

(f) The registration of a foreign limited partnership doing business in this commonwealth shall be cancelled or amended in the manner and at such times as are provided in section twenty-four. A foreign limited partnership doing business in this commonwealth may withdraw from the commonwealth by submitting to the state secretary a certificate of withdrawal, in such form as the state secretary shall require, signed and sworn to by a general partner, stating:

- (1) the name of the foreign limited partnership and, if different, the name under which it is registered and doing business in the commonwealth;
- (2) the business address of its principal office;
- (3) the business address of its principal office in the commonwealth, if any, and the name and business address of its resident agent in the commonwealth;
- (4) that the foreign limited partnership is not doing business in the commonwealth; and
- (5) that all taxes and fees owed the commonwealth have been paid or provided for.

The state secretary shall examine and endorse his approval on the certificate of withdrawal if he determines that the certificate complies with this section. Upon such approval and payment of the required fee, the certificate of withdrawal shall be deemed to be filed with the state secretary.

(g) A foreign limited partnership doing business in the commonwealth which fails to register with the state secretary shall, for each year that such failure shall continue, be fined not more than five hundred dollars. No such failure shall affect the validity of any contract involving the foreign limited partnership, nor is a limited partner of a foreign limited partnership liable as a general partner thereof solely by reason of such failure, but no action shall be maintained or recovery had by the foreign limited partnership in any of the courts of the commonwealth as long as such failure continues.

(h) Foreign limited partnerships shall be liable to be sued and to have their property attached in the same manner and to the same extent as individuals who are residents of other jurisdictions. Every foreign limited partnership doing business in the commonwealth without having registered as prescribed in this section, and every foreign limited partnership which shall have withdrawn from the commonwealth shall be deemed to have appointed the state secretary and his successor in office to be its true and lawful attorney upon whom all lawful process in any action or proceeding in the commonwealth may be served, in the manner set forth in section fourteen of chapter one hundred and eighty-one relative to foreign corporations.

(i) A general partner or other agent of a foreign limited partnership shall be subject to such liabilities, and shall have such defenses, with respect to such foreign limited partnership, as officers, directors and the other agents of a foreign corporation have under sections ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen and fourteen of said chapter one hundred and eighty-one relative to such foreign corporation.

(j) The fee for filing an application for registration, an amendment to the application for registration, or a certificate of withdrawal pursuant to this section shall be the same as the fee for filing a certificate under section thirty-one.

SECTION 2. Foreign limited partnerships doing business in the commonwealth on the effective date of this act shall not be required to submit an application for registration as provided in section one until one hundred and eighty days after such effective date.

Whereas, The deferred operation of this act would tend to defeat its purpose, which is, in part, to have the provisions thereof effective on July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, the date on which the Massachusetts Rules of Criminal Procedure adopted by the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court take effect, therefore it is hereby declared to be an emergency law, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public convenience.

Be it enacted etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. The fourth paragraph of section 56 of chapter 119 of the General Laws, as appearing in section 57 of chapter 478 of the acts of 1978, is hereby amended by striking out the second sentence and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:- Review may be had directly by the appeals court, by appeal, report or otherwise in the same manner provided for trials of criminal cases in the superior court.

(A) Whenever two justices of the supreme judicial court issue an order for direct review by the supreme judicial court in any case on appeal, either at the request of one of the parties or at the court's own initiative, upon finding that the questions to be decided are: (1) questions of first impression or novel questions of law which should be submitted for final determination to the supreme judicial court; (2) questions of law concerning the Constitution of the commonwealth or questions concerning the Constitution of the United States which have been raised in a court of the commonwealth; (3) questions of such public interest that justice requires a final determination by the supreme judicial court.

(B) Whenever the appeals court as a body or a majority of the justices of the appeals court considering a particular case certifies that direct review by the supreme judicial court is in the public interest.

In each case where appellate review is not within the jurisdiction of the appeals court, appellate review shall be directly by the supreme judicial court, unless such case is transferred by the supreme judicial court to the appeals court for determination in accordance with section twelve of this chapter.

SECTION 1. Chapter 140 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out section 21A, as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

Section 21A. Cities and towns may provide by ordinance or by-law for the licensing of persons to keep open their places of business for the retail sale of beverages derived wholly or in part from cereals or substitutes therefor and containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol, unfermented grape juice, ginger ale, root beer, sarsaparilla, pop, artificial mineral waters, carbonated waters or beverages, natural fruit juices, and other so-called soft drinks, and may fix the fee for said licenses within the limit hereinafter provided, except that in cities having licensing boards the authority to provide for the licensing of such persons and the fixing of fees therefor shall be vested in said licensing boards. For the purposes of this section, the term retail sale shall mean the providing of a beverage as herein defined to a patron in or by a licensed premise in exchange for something of value by means of an in-person exchange or by means of a vending machine exchange or by means of a cover charge, so-called, which gives the patron the right to obtain drinks without additional pay-

SECTION 2. Said chapter 140 is hereby further amended by striking out section 21C, as so appearing, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

Section 21C. Whoever not being licensed as aforesaid keeps open his place of business for the retail sale of any such beverage shall be punished by a fine of fifty dollars for each day of violation, and whoever commits a second such offense shall be punished by a fine of one hundred dollars for each day of violation; and whoever commits a third such offense shall be punished by a fine of one thousand dollars for each day of violation; and whoever commits a fourth or subsequent such offense shall be punished by a fine of five thousand dollars for each day of violation. In addition to any criminal penalty, herein provided, the attorney general or district attorney for the district or the city or town may petition the superior court department of the trial court to enjoin any violation of chapter twenty-one A to twenty-one D, inclusive.

SECTION 3. Section 181 of said chapter 140, as amended by chapter 996 of the acts of 1971, is hereby further amended by striking out the first paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following five paragraphs:-

The mayor or selectmen may, except as provided in section one hundred and five of chapter one hundred and forty-nine, grant, upon such terms and conditions as are described hereinafter, a license for theatrical exhibitions, public shows, public amusements and exhibitions of every description, to be held upon week days only, to which admission is obtained upon payment of money or upon delivery of any valuable thing, or by a ticket or voucher obtained for money or any valuable thing, or in which, after free admission, amusement is furnished upon a deposit of money in a coin controlled apparatus.

The application for such a license shall be in writing and shall fully and specifically describe the conditions of the proposed exhibition, show, or amusement and the premises upon which the proposed exhibition, show, or amusement is to take place, to the extent that such conditions or premises would affect the public safety, health or order. Upon written request of the mayor or selectmen, the applicant shall in addition furnish reasonable information concerning the conditions of the premises and actions to be taken in order to prevent danger to the public safety, health, or order. Within thirty days following receipt of such application, the mayor or selectmen shall grant a license or shall order a hearing preceded by at least ten days written notice to the applicant. Within forty-five days next following the close of such hearing, the mayor or selectmen shall grant such license or shall deny such license upon a finding that issuance of such a license would lead to the creation of a nuisance or would endanger the public health, safety or order by:

- (a) unreasonably increasing pedestrian traffic in the area in which the premises are located or
  - (b) increasing the incidence of disruptive conduct in the area in which the premises are located or
  - (c) unreasonably increasing the level of noise in the area in which the premises are located.

Notice of such a denial shall be delivered to the applicant in writing and shall be accompanied by a statement of the reasons therefor. No application shall be denied if the anticipated harm is not significant or if the likelihood of its occurrence is remote. The mayor or selectmen may impose conditions upon a license but said conditions may only relate to compliance with applicable laws or ordinances, or to public safety, health or order, or to steps required to be taken to guard against creation of a nuisance or to insure adequate safety and security for patrons or the affected public.

No applicant having been denied a license as aforesaid shall submit the same or a similar application within one year of said denial without including in said new application facts showing that the circumstances upon which the original denial was based have substantially changed.

The mayor or selectman may revoke or suspend a license granted pursuant to the provisions of this section upon finding, after a hearing preceded by ten days written notice to the licensee, that conditions exist which would have justified denial of the original application for such license provided, that the mayor or selectmen may petition the superior court department of the trial court to enjoin any violation of this section.

SECTION 4. Section 182 of said chapter 140, as appearing in the Tercentenary Edition, is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:- Whoever offers to view, sets up, sets on foot, maintains, carries on, publishes or otherwise assists in or promotes any such exhibition, show or amusement without such license shall be punished by a fine of fifty dollars for each day in violation; and whoever commits a second such offense shall be punished by a fine of one hundred dollars for each day in violation; and whoever commits a third such offense shall be punished by a fine of five hundred dollars for each day in violation; and whoever commits a fourth such offense shall be punished by a fine of one thousand dollars a day for the next five days in violation and whoever commits a fifth or subsequent such offense shall be punished by a fine of five thousand dollars for each day in violation.

Tuition charges as determined in accordance with this paragraph shall be charged to all nonresident students on and after January first, nineteen hundred and seventy-six; provided, that students participating in the New England regional student program shall not be affected by this paragraph.

SECTION 3. The registry of motor vehicles shall design and issue vanity plates, so called, for those persons licensed to operate citizen's band radios. Said plates shall bear the call letters of the radio operator. The full cost for providing such plates shall be covered by a fee as determined by the registrar.

SECTION 4. In order to meet the estimated cost of heat, light, power and other services and the estimated cost of employee fringe benefits to be furnished by the commonwealth to projects of the Massachusetts State College Building Authority, the board of trustees of state colleges shall transfer to the General Fund from the funds received from the operation of said projects the sum of nine hundred sixty-five thousand dollars for the current fiscal year.

SECTION 5. In order to meet the estimated cost of utilities to be furnished projects constructed by the University of Lowell Building Authority, the comptroller shall transfer from item 7220-0001 to the General Fund, on or after July first of each fiscal year the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars; provided, that said amount shall be credited to item 7220-0001 upon payment of said building authority and may be spent without further appropriation.

SECTION 6. Wherever, in section two of this act, it is provided that transfers shall be made from a fund, account or receipts, of a specific sum, a percentage of payments, or a sum equivalent to payments, such transfers of a specific sum shall be made upon the effective date of this section, and all other such transfers shall be made quarterly unless otherwise provided; except that at the close of a fiscal year, the amount equivalent to payments in a continuing account shall be construed to mean the amount of such appropriation.

SECTION 7. No monies appropriated under this act shall be expended for reimbursement for the expenses of meals for persons while traveling within or without the commonwealth at the expense thereof unless such reimbursement is in accordance with rules and rates established in accordance with section twenty-eight of chapter seven of the General Laws.

SECTION 8. The allowance to state employees for expenses incurred by them in the operation of motor vehicles owned by them and used in the performance of their official duties shall not exceed fourteen cents a mile.

SECTION 9. Notwithstanding the provisions of clause (d) of paragraph (5) of section forty-five of chapter thirty of the General Laws, no part of the sums appropriated for the service of any agency or subdivision of a department in section two of this act shall be available for the payment of any temporary or excess quota position if there is a similar position vacant within the quota of permanent positions as established by the appropriation account for the service of such agency or subdivision of a department; and, except such temporary positions as may be authorized in connection with the passage of this act, and except as hereinafter provided, no additional temporary positions shall be authorized. The commissioner of administration may, however, upon certification that an emergency exists requiring additional temporary assistance to perform work essential to the public interest, authorize the temporary employment of such additional personnel as may be necessary within the limits of funds available for the purpose; provided, however, that such emergency authorization shall not be extended to the succeeding fiscal year. The commissioner shall forthwith notify the house and senate committees on ways and means of the employment of any such additional temporary personnel. The provisions of this section shall not apply to positions essential for the care of patients or inmates in institutions or to positions essential for the educational program in all institutions of higher education operated by the commonwealth, nor to the filling of a position under the provisions of section twenty-four B of said chapter thirty nor to a position required to correct an inequity determined as provided in sections fifty-three and fifty-six of said chapter thirty.

SECTION 10. Notwithstanding any provision of general or special law to the contrary, federal funds received by the commonwealth or any department, agency or subdivision of a department shall not be available for the payment of the salary for any position unless such expenditure has been approved in advance by the general court and is based upon a schedule of positions and salary rates approved by said general court, a copy of which shall be deposited with the bureau of personnel. No such federally funded positions shall be established or filled by employees hired from outside existing state departments and agencies if the duties to be performed can be carried out by promoting or transferring or reassigning a present certified or authorized permanent state employee. Positions to be filled on federally funded projects must be advertised by posting a circular describing title, location, duties and salary grade in all places that state civil service posters are posted and by distributing such circulars to all departments for at least twenty days prior to appointment or recruitment of a nonstate employee. Proof of such notice of promotional opportunities must be filed with the commissioner of administration and the house and senate committees on ways and means and signed under penalties of perjury by the appointing authority. The provisions of this section shall not prevent payment of the salary of any employee filling a federally funded position immediately prior to the effective date of this act.

SECTION 11. Applications for all federal subventions and grants available to the commonwealth under any act of Congress shall be subject to the approval of the commissioner of administration. Any transfer within such subventions or grants shall be subject to the approval of the commissioner of administration. All federal subventions and grants received by the commonwealth, or by a corporation or other organization established as an affiliate of any agency or institution operated by the commonwealth or by an individual employed by the commonwealth, authorized to expend such funds in conjunction with services rendered by the commonwealth, may be expended without specific appropriation under the terms and conditions provided in rules and regulations established by the commissioner of administration and if such expenditures are otherwise in accordance with law. All such federal subventions and grants shall be reported in full by the head of the agency directly rendering the services mentioned above to the budget director, to the comptroller and to the house and senate committees on ways and means. The report shall include such itemization as required in accordance with state and federal regulations. All federal subventions and grants available to the commonwealth under any act of Congress and not otherwise authorized to be received shall be paid into the treasury of the commonwealth. All such expenditures of federal subventions and grants shall be subject to the audit of the state auditor. The provisions of this section shall not apply to expenditures from appropriations made under this act for the division of state colleges and institutions under the control of the board of trustees of state colleges, the University of Lowell, the Southeastern Massachusetts University, the University of Massachusetts and the board of regional community colleges and the institutions under the control of said board; nor shall the provisions of section nine B or section twenty-nine of chapter twenty-nine of the General Laws which are inconsistent with any provision of the General Laws specifically regulating the expenditure of public funds at each of said institutions apply to such expenditures; provided, however, that on or before October first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, each said institution of higher education shall file with the board of higher education: (1) a certified list of the professional positions and the salaries to be paid therefor; (2) a certified statement of the salary ranges for all professional positions; (3) a certified copy of vacant positions; and (4) a list of the last merit increases granted; and provided further, that the board of higher education shall file forthwith with the house and senate committees on ways and means copies of said lists and statements.

SECTION 12. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law or sections of this act to the contrary, no funds shall be expended for excess quota positions without prior approval of the general court.

SECTION 13. In addition to the payment of regular salaries, sums appropriated for personal services in the fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighty shall be available for the payment of such other forms of compensation as may be due under existing statutes or under the provisions of rules and regulations made in accordance with said statutes.

SECTION 14. Notwithstanding the provisions of section fifty-one of chapter thirty of the General Laws, or any other provision of law, the state purchasing agent is hereby authorized during the fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighty to incur liabilities and incidental expenses for the purchase of supplies, as provided by said section fifty-one, including material to be disposed of as surplus, so called, by the federal government through agencies of the federal government in an amount not exceeding five hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in addition to any amount heretofore provided for the purpose, and the comptroller may certify for payment such incidental expenses and liabilities so incurred to an amount not exceeding five hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in addition to any amount heretofore provided for said purpose.

SECTION 15. The department of education, the board of education, or any agency of the commonwealth receiving an appropriation under section two of this act, shall not make any expenditure for any document printed, mimeographed or prepared in any other way, whether for outside or interdepartmental circulation, unless publication of such document shall have been approved by the state purchasing agent, and the state purchasing agent is hereby authorized and directed to require such agencies to summarize and consolidate such documents when feasible. Each such document authorized to be printed which is four pages or more in length shall state on its face the estimated cost per copy, including the cost of paper, printing and binding. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law to the contrary, every original manuscript of annual reports of state agencies, whether printed in full or in summarized or consolidated form or not printed, shall be filed with the state secretary. Except as otherwise provided by law, agencies selling documents shall do so at not less than the stated estimated cost; provided, however, that such agencies may dispose of excess copies of documents no longer current as provided by rules and regulations of the commissioner of administration.

SECTION 16. Notwithstanding any provision of sections forty-five to fifty, inclusive, of chapter thirty of the General Laws, a salary differential shall be paid to employees in the nursing services who are employed on evening or night tours of duty, and to employees engaged in professional nursing, as defined in section eighty B of chapter one hundred and twelve of the General Laws, at the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital and the Soldiers' Home in Massachusetts.

SECTION 17. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law to the contrary, no lease negotiated as provided therein nor any agreement providing for a tenancy at will or other space rental shall be signed by the executive or administrative head of a state department, courts, commission or board or approved by the state superintendent of buildings and by the governor and council and by the commissioner of administration unless it is in accordance with schedules filed by the budget director with the house and senate committees on ways and means prior to the passage of this act; provided, that renewals of leases, tenancies at will and other space rentals may be continued at existing rates pending appropriation if the general court has not provided otherwise; provided, further, that the commissioner of administration, in order to meet unforeseen circumstances, may approve, on a tenancy at will basis, a change in location, new or additional space, or an increase in rate, if funds are available therefor within the appropriation account from which the cost of such space rentals are to be paid; and provided, further, that every such proposed change is filed by the budget director with the house and senate committees on ways and means prior to the final authorization of any such agreement.

SECTION 18. No department of the commonwealth shall occupy, or make any expenditure for the maintenance of, any land, buildings or other state-owned or state-occupied facilities or other property other than that under its control or jurisdiction. No department of the commonwealth shall authorize or otherwise allow the use by any private agency of such land, buildings or facilities under its control or jurisdiction unless such use or expenditure shall have been approved by the general court after recommendation by the commissioner of administration. Use without such approval shall be deemed to be a violation of this section, and the user shall pay a rental fee at the rate of ten dollars per square foot annually for the period of such use.

SECTION 19. No agency of the commonwealth shall make any expenditures for the training, instruction, treatment, support and day care of children authorized under section forty-six I of chapter seventy-one and section twenty-six of chapter sixty-nine and clause (7) of subsection (A) of section two of chapter eighteen of the General Laws and related programs conducted by the departments of mental health, public health, public welfare and youth services unless the rate setting commission, in accordance with the procedures established by section thirty-two of chapter six A of the General Laws, shall have approved the rate of compensation for such training, instruction, treatment and support. The rate setting commission shall immediately upon approval of such rates file a schedule of the approved rates with the comptroller, the house and senate committees on ways and means, and with each agency making such expenditure.

SECTION 20. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, all persons eligible for public assistance, as determined by the department of public welfare, under the provisions of chapters one hundred and eighteen A, and one hundred and eighteen E of the General Laws, who are not maintaining their own homes but are receiving care in any licensed nursing home, any licensed chronic hospital or in any approved public medical institution, shall retain the first thirty-five dollars for clothing, personal needs and leisure time activities. If there is no income, or the monthly income is less than thirty-five dollars, the recipient shall be paid monthly in advance the difference between the income and thirty-five dollars a month.

The department of public welfare shall by regulation provide that personal laundry costs shall not be charged to the amount retained by or paid to the recipient pursuant to this section.

Personal laundry costs shall instead be reimbursable through the per diem rates established by the rate setting commission.

SECTION 21. Notwithstanding any general or special law to the contrary, the secretary of human services shall establish a billing and collection system within the department of mental health for the collection of fees for services rendered by the department including but not limited to third party payments, in accordance with a schedule of fees for such services, established by said department. Not later than May fifteenth, nineteen hundred and eighty, said secretary shall file a report with the clerks of the house and senate and the chairman of the house and senate committee on ways and means detailing the billing and collection system established under the provisions of this section. Said report shall include but not be limited to: (1) a statement listing the third party payments collected by the department for each institution and clinic administered by the department, and (2) the administrative cost of billing and collecting said funds.

SECTION 22. The commissioners of the departments of mental health and public health are authorized and directed to identify those patients at institutions subject to the control of said departments who are eligible for federal veterans benefits and to take such steps as are necessary to assist said patients in collecting said benefits. Said commissioners shall promulgate rules and regulations as are necessary to identify such patients at such institutions who are eligible for federal veterans benefits and to collect said benefits. Said rules and regulations shall be submitted to the general court for approval by September first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, and shall not take effect until approved by the general court.

Said commissioner shall report to the clerks of the house and senate on or before January first, nineteen hundred and eighty, the number of patients which have been identified as eligible for veterans benefits, the amount of said benefits which have been collected by the commonwealth under this section, and the cost to the commonwealth of collecting said benefits.

SECTION 23. Notwithstanding any provisions of law to the contrary, during the entire fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighty, for the payment of classified personal services the fiscal year shall be from July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine through June twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and eighty.

SECTION 24. Cash disbursements from amounts appropriated from the General Fund in section two of this act shall be charged to federal funds received under the provisions of Title II, Public Law 94-369, and Public Law 92-512 as amended by Public Law 94-488 to the extent that such funds are available, subject to the restrictions contained in said Public Laws for applications of federal funds received from these sources, and shall first be used for such amount as is required to prevent a deficit in the General Fund debt service reserve and then for such other items in section two of this act in accordance with the requirements of said Public Law.

SECTION 25. In order that the group insurance commission may provide for maximum reimbursements to the commonwealth for group insurance costs, every department, board or agency shall, on or before August first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, file with the group insurance commission a true copy of all existing contracts or agreements of every nature and description with the commonwealth or a political subdivision of federal, trust and any other nonstate funds.

For contracts or agreements entered into on and after July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, true copies shall be filed with the group insurance commission no later than sixty calendar days from the effective date thereof.

Where any secretariat, department, board or agency fails to file a copy of such contract, or fails to respond to a reasonable inquiry by the group insurance commission, said commission shall provide a fair hearing to the head of the operating agency to determine the justification for noncompliance. Upon continued failure by the secretariat, department, board or agency head to provide the requested data and information, the commission may vote to withhold payment of the commonwealth's share of the insurance premium applicable to the insured employees of the agency and all such employees only for purposes of payment of insurance premiums, shall be deemed to be absent without pay and shall make payment of the required premium as provided in section eight of chapter thirty-two A.

SECTION 26. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law to the contrary, payments to be made during the nineteen hundred and eighty fiscal year by the department of public welfare for authorized medical services, excluding primary care, shall be reduced by thirty per cent of the rates in effect on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventy-five for medical practitioners.

SECTION 27. The department of public welfare shall require the use of interchangeable drug products as listed in the most recent Massachusetts Drug Formulary, to the extent that such drugs are available, and determined by the prescriber to be appropriate as regulated by the provisions of section thirteen of chapter seventeen of the General Laws.

The provisions of this section shall apply to recipients of medical services authorized by Title XIX of the Social Security Act.

SECTION 28. Notwithstanding the provisions of any law to the contrary, no payments shall be made by the department of public welfare under Title XIX of the Social Security Act for so-called nonmedically necessary days in acute hospitals except as authorized by department regulations for the prevention of undue hardship and suffering; provided, that the department shall reimburse acute care hospitals for the reasonable cost of services appropriately rendered to patients during such administratively necessary days except where the department of public welfare has determined that there are existing facilities available in the appropriate level care facility within a reasonable distance to the hospital, and advise the hospital of the location of such facility. The department shall promulgate rules and regulations and report to the legislature within thirty days of the effective date of this section.

SECTION 29. The department of public welfare shall require a second medical opinion in all elective surgical care as a precondition to reimbursement for such care.

SECTION 30. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law to the contrary, providers of authorized social services, as defined by the department of public welfare, under any assistance program administered by said department, shall submit a bill for services rendered to the department not later than ninety days after the service is rendered. The department may establish regulations which provide exceptions to the ninety day billing limitation for providers of medical and social services. Said regulations shall not permit payment of bills submitted more than one year after the last day of the month in which the goods are sold or the services are provided.

SECTION 31. Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, all revenue accrued through the program of selling of correctional industries products and services may be expended without further appropriation subject to the approval of the commissioner of correction and the state comptroller for said program including costs of materials, supplies and equipment, maintenance of industrial facilities and compensation to correctional industry employees. This program shall be subject to a full audit and annual report by the state auditor.

SECTION 32. The effective date of the appropriation accounts, subsidiary accounts, subsidiary accounts and authorizations in section two of this act shall be July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine. Beginning June first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, obligations may be incurred against these appropriation accounts or subsidiary accounts for items to be delivered or for services to be rendered on and after July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine; provided, that said obligations are in accordance with law and the amounts thereof do not exceed the amount of the appropriation account or subsidiary account. Where the allotment of an appropriation account or subsidiary account is a condition precedent to expenditure, the obligations shall not exceed the amount allotted for said appropriation account or subsidiary account; provided, that during the month of June, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, the comptroller may prepare warrants and the state treasurer may advance funds appropriated in section two of this act to the department of public welfare for the purpose of making payments on and after July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, as authorized by chapter six hundred and fifty-eight of the acts of nineteen hundred and sixty-seven; provided, said payments are in accordance with law and the amounts thereof do not exceed the amount of the appropriation account or subsidiary account. The certified copies of the schedules provided for in section twenty-seven of chapter twenty-nine of the General Laws shall be filed with the comptroller and the budget director as of June first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine. Where the allotment of an appropriation account or subsidiary account is required by law, such allotments shall be made as of June first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine.

SECTION 33. All of said persons may attend commission meetings and present their views, but only commission members may vote.

SECTION. 3. The traffic commission shall have exclusive authority, except as otherwise provided in this act, to take any and all of the following actions, if it determines that such actions serve the public safety, welfare or convenience. Subject to the provisions of section two of chapter eighty-five of the General Laws:

(a) The traffic commission may adopt, alter or repeal rules and regulations, not inconsistent with general law as modified by this act, relative to vehicular and pedestrian traffic in the streets of the city, and to the movement, stopping, standing or parking of vehicles on, and their exclusion from, all or any streets, ways, highways, roads and parkways under the control of the city, including rules and regulations designating any way or part thereof under such control as a through way under and subject to the provisions of section nine of chapter eighty-nine of the General Laws. Any rule or regulation adopted under this clause, prohibiting the parking or standing of vehicles on the whole or any part or parts of one or more streets, ways, highways, roads or parkways under the control of the city, may provide that it shall not apply in such residential areas as shall be specified, and at such times as shall be prescribed, in such rule or regulation, to any motor vehicle registered under chapter ninety of the General Laws as principally garaged in the city and owned or used by a person residing in such area who, in the year in which such vehicle is parked or in the preceding December for such year, shall have given, by a writing executed in such form and detail as such rule or regulation shall prescribe, and filed with the chief of police, notice of intention to park in such area and shall display in a conspicuous place on such vehicle, while parked, such visible evidence of the giving of such notice as such rule or regulation shall prescribe; but neither the giving of such notice nor the issuance of visible evidence of the giving thereof shall be construed to assign any specific space to any person or vehicle. All other violations of regulations adopted under the provisions of this act, except as otherwise provided by statute, shall be subject to fines not to exceed fifty dollars for each offense as set forth in the regulations.

No adoption, alteration, or repeal of a regulation shall take effect until public notice of the proposed action has been given, except with respect to such special rules or regulations as are declared by said commission to be urgently required for public safety or welfare or such as are of a temporary nature and are to be effective for a period of not more than three weeks. Public notice shall be given by publication in full of the proposed adoption, alteration or repeal not less than once in each of three successive weeks in one or more newspapers published or distributed in the city. The public notice shall include a statement of the effective date of the proposed action, which shall not be less than twenty-one days following the first of the three newspaper publications.

Any such vehicle so removed shall be held until all charges imposed for such removal and storage following the same have been paid and due notice has been received that the fines provided in such notices affixed to said vehicle have been paid or security for the payment thereof has been deposited. The police department shall promptly mail written notice to the registered owner of any such vehicle so removed, directed to the address furnished by the registry of motor vehicles or comparable agency of the state in which said vehicle is registered, stating the date on which such vehicle was removed, the location to which such vehicle has been removed, and a statement that such vehicle shall be released by the police on the payment of all fines, storage and towing charges due. Any such vehicle so removed shall be deemed to have been abandoned and may be disposed of in accordance with section twenty-two C of said chapter ninety if, within thirty days of the mailing of the notice to the registered owner as provided for herein, said owner has not paid all charges imposed for such removal and storage following the same and the fines provided in such notices affixed to said vehicle or security for the payment thereof has been deposited.

Chap. 488. AN ACT PROVIDING FOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. It is hereby declared that the value of capital punishment as a deterrent for crime is a complex factual issue the resolution of which properly rests with the general court, which has evaluated the results of statistical studies in the terms of the local conditions with a flexibility of approach not available to the courts, and that the general court has so found and defined those crimes and those criminals for which capital punishment is most probably an effective deterrent. It is hereby further declared that the value of capital punishment as retribution, although unappealing to many, is an expression of society's moral outrage at the commission of particularly heinous crimes and that capital punishment for the crime of murder cannot be viewed as invariably disproportionate to the severity of that crime. It is hereby further declared that in the past nine years the Congress and over thirty-five states have enacted new death penalty statutes by legislative measures adopted by the people's chosen representatives. It is hereby further declared that the ability of the people of the commonwealth to express their preference through their duly elected representatives must not be shut off by the intervention of the judicial department on the basis of a constitutional test intertwined with an assessment of contemporary standards and that the judgment of the general court weighs heavily in ascertaining such standards in this commonwealth. It is hereby further declared that in a democratic society, legislatures, and here, in this commonwealth, the general court is the body constituted to respond to the will of the people. It is hereby further declared that the declarations set forth above include and reflect the declarations already made by the highest court of the land which express that this subject of whether there be or not be capital punishment in any state is peculiarly questions of legislative, not judicial decision, and, in this commonwealth, that question is one for the general court to decide. It is hereby further declared that the following proposed legislation is the result of long study and review of the work and experience of other jurisdictions which have satisfied all those norms demanded by the Supreme Court of the United States to safeguard against all of the elements of arbitrariness and capriciousness condemned by said court in former state death penalty statutes.

SECTION 2. Section 2 of Chapter 265 of the General Laws, as most recently amended by section 12 of chapter 731 of the Acts of 1956, is hereby further amended by striking out the first two sentences and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:- Whoever is guilty of murder in the first degree may suffer the punishment of death pursuant to the procedures set forth in sections fifty-three to fifty-six, inclusive, of chapter two hundred and seventy-nine.

SECTION 3. Chapter 279 of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding the following four sections:-

Section 53. In all cases in which the death penalty may be imposed, upon a return of a verdict of guilty, the trial shall resume with the conduct of a presentence hearing before the jury before which the case was tried. During the presentence hearing the only issue shall be the determination of the punishment to be imposed. During such hearing the jury shall hear all additional relevant evidence in extenuation, mitigation, and aggravation of punishment including the record of any prior criminal convictions and pleas of guilty or pleas of nolo contendere of the defendant, or the absence of any prior conviction and pleas; provided, however, that only such evidence in aggravation as the commonwealth has made known to the defendant prior to his trial shall be admissible.

The jury shall also hear arguments by the defendant or his counsel and by the commonwealth as provided by law regarding the punishment to be imposed. The commonwealth shall present the opening argument and the defendant or his counsel shall present the closing argument. Upon the conclusion of the evidence and arguments, the court shall give the jury in cases tried by that jury appropriate instructions, and the jury shall then retire to determine whether any mitigating or aggravating circumstances, as defined in section fifty-four, exist and whether to recommend that the death penalty be imposed. Upon the findings of the jury, the court shall set a sentence within the limits prescribed by law.

If the trial court is reversed on appeal because of error only in the presentence hearing, the new trial which may be ordered shall apply only to the issue of punishment.

Section 54. In all cases for which the death penalty may be authorized, the court shall include in its instructions to the jury for its consideration any mitigating circumstances or aggravating circumstances otherwise authorized by law.

Unless at least one of the statutory aggravating circumstances enumerated in paragraph (a) is found to exist by the jury beyond a reasonable doubt the death penalty shall not be imposed. In addition, the jury is authorized to consider any other appropriate aggravating or mitigating circumstances as enumerated in paragraph (b), or otherwise. The jury is not required to find any mitigating circumstance in order to make a recommendation of mercy that is binding on the trial court, but it must find a statutory aggravating circumstance before recommending a sentence of death.

(a) The statutory aggravating circumstances are as follows:-

(1) The offense of murder was committed on the victim who was killed while serving in the performance of his duties as a police officer, firefighter, or correctional officer.

(2) The offense of murder was committed by a person who had previously been convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree.

(3) The offender committed the offense of murder for himself or another, for the purpose of receiving money or any other thing of monetary value.

(4) The offender caused or directed another to commit murder as an agent or employee of another person.

(5) The offender by his act of murder knowingly created a great risk of death to more than one person in a public place by means of a weapon or device which would normally be hazardous to the lives of more than one person.

(6) The offense of murder was committed on the victim during the course of a hijacking or attempted hijacking of an airplane or school bus.

(7) The capital felony was committed by a person under sentence of imprisonment.

(8) The defendant was previously convicted of another capital felony or of a felony involving the use or threat of violence to the person.

(9) The defendant knowingly created a great risk of death to many persons.

(10) The capital felony was committed for the purpose of avoiding or preventing a lawful arrest or effecting an escape from custody.

(11) The offense of murder was committed by a person in connection with the commission of rape or an attempt to commit rape on the victim.

(12) The offense of murder was committed on the victim in the course of a kidnapping for ransom of the victim or attempted kidnapping for ransom of the victim.

(b) The statutory mitigating circumstances are as follows:-

(1) The offense of murder was committed by one with no history of prior criminal activity.

(2) The offense of murder was committed by one who was under the influence of extreme mental or emotional disturbance.

(3) The offense of murder was committed by one who was a participant in the defendant's homicidal conduct or consented to the homicidal act.

(4) The offense of murder was committed by one under duress or under domination of another person.

(5) The age or mental capacity of the defendant at the time of the crime.

The statutory instructions as determined by the court to be warranted by the evidence shall be given in charge and in writing to the jury for its deliberation. The jury, if its unanimous verdict be a recommendation of death, shall designate in writing, signed by the foreman of the jury, the aggravating circumstance or circumstances which it found beyond a reasonable doubt.

Section 55. Where, upon a trial by jury, a person is convicted of an offense which may be punishable by death, a sentence of death shall not be imposed unless the jury verdict includes a finding of at least one statutory aggravating circumstance and a recommendation that such sentence be imposed. Where a statutory aggravating circumstance is found and a recommendation of death is made, the court shall sentence the defendant to death. Where a sentence of death is not recommended by the jury, the court shall sentence the defendant to imprisonment as provided by law. Unless the jury trying the case makes a finding of at least one statutory aggravating circumstance and recommends the death sentence in its verdict, the court shall not sentence the defendant to death, provided that no such finding of statutory aggravating circumstance shall be necessary in offenses of treason or aircraft hijacking.

Section 56. (a) Whenever the death penalty is imposed, and upon the judgment becoming final in the trial court, the sentence shall be reviewed in the supreme judicial court. The clerk of the trial court, within ten days after the imposition of sentence shall transmit the entire record and transcript to the supreme judicial court together with a notice prepared by the clerk and a report prepared by the trial judge. The notice shall set forth the title and docket number of the case, the name of the defendant and the name and address of his attorney, a narrative statement of the judgment, the offense, and the sentence imposed. The report shall be in the form of a standard questionnaire prepared and supplied by the supreme judicial court, which shall include (1) data concerning the defendant including his family background, education, and psychiatric information and evaluation, if any; (2) data concerning the trial; (3) data related to the offense including statutory aggravating circumstances, non statutory aggravating circumstances, and all mitigating circumstances; (4) data concerning the representations of the defendant or those of his counsel; (5) general considerations including racial consideration, extensive publicity, other circumstances possibly creating undue influence, and the trial judge's own comments on the appropriateness of the sentence; and (6) a chronology of the case. An opportunity to examine and then submit written comments on said report shall be given to counsel.

(b) The supreme judicial court shall consider the punishment as well as any error enumerated by way of appeal.

(c) With regard to the sentence, the supreme judicial court shall determine (1) whether the sentence of death was imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice or any other arbitrary factor, (2) whether the evidence supports the jury's finding of a statutory aggravating or mitigating circumstance as enumerated in section fifty-four, and (3) whether the sentence of death is excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering both the crime and the defendant.

(d) Both the defendant and the commonwealth shall have the right to submit briefs within the time provided by the supreme judicial court, and to present oral argument to said court.

(e) The supreme judicial court shall include in its decision a reference to similar cases which it took into consideration. In addition to its authority regarding correction of errors, the said court shall have authority to (1) affirm the sentence of death, or (2) set the sentence aside and remand the case for resentencing by the trial judge based on the record and argument of counsel. The records of similar cases referred to by the supreme judicial court in its decision, and the extracts thereof shall also be provided to the resentencing judge for his consideration.

(f) The sentence review and appeal shall be consolidated for consideration. The court shall render its decision on legal errors enumerated, the factual substantiation of the verdict and the validity of the sentence.

SECTION 4. The supreme judicial court shall accumulate the records of all first degree murder cases in which sentence was imposed after January first, nineteen hundred and eighty or such earlier date as the court may deem appropriate. The executive secretary to the supreme judicial court shall provide to said court extracts from said cases, including but not limited to a synopsis or brief of the facts in the record concerning the crime and the defendant. Said extracts shall be used by the supreme judicial court for its own purposes and for those set forth in paragraph (e) of section fifty-six of chapter two hundred and seventy-nine of the General Laws.

Chap. 512. AN ACT AMENDING ARTICLE 9 AND RELATED PROVISIONS OF THE UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 1-105 of chapter 106 of the General Laws, as appearing in section 1 of chapter 765 of the acts of 1957, is hereby amended by striking out subsection (2) and inserting in place thereof the following subsection:-

(2) Where one of the following provisions of this chapter specifies the applicable law, that provision governs and a contrary agreement is effective only to the extent permitted by the law (including the conflict of laws rules) so specified:

Rights of creditors against sold goods. Section 2-402.

Applicability of the Article on Bank Deposits and Collections. Section 4-102.

Bulk transfers subject to the Article on Bulk Transfers. Section 6-102.

Applicability of the Article on Investment Securities. Section 8-106.

Perfection provisions of the Article on Secured Transactions. Section 9-103.

SECTION 2. Section 1-201 of said chapter 106 is hereby amended by striking out subsection (9), as so appearing, and inserting in place thereof the following subsection:-

(9) "Buyer in ordinary course of business" means a person who in good faith and without knowledge that the sale to him is in violation of the ownership rights or security interest of a third party in the goods buys in ordinary course from a person in the business of selling goods of that kind but does not include a pawnbroker. All persons who sell minerals or the like, including oil and gas, at wellhead or minehead shall be deemed to be persons in the business of selling goods of that kind. "Buying" may be for cash or by exchange of other property or on secured or unsecured credit and includes receiving goods or documents of title under a pre-existing contract for sale but does not include a transfer in bulk or as security for or in total or partial satisfaction of a money debt.

SECTION 3. Said section 1-201 of said chapter 106 is hereby further amended by striking out subsection (37), as so appearing, and inserting in place thereof the following subsection:-

(37) "Security interest" means an interest in personal property or fixtures which secures payment or performance of an obligation. The retention or reservation of title by a seller of goods notwithstanding shipment or delivery to the buyer under the provisions of section 2-401 is limited in effect to a reservation of a "security interest". The term also includes any interest of a buyer of accounts or chattel paper which is subject to Article 9. The special property interest of a buyer of goods on identification of such goods to a contract for sale under section 2-401 is not a "security interest", but a buyer may also acquire a "security interest" by complying with Article 9. Unless a lease or consignment is intended as security, reservation of title thereunder is not a "security interest" but a consignment is in any event subject to the provisions on consignment sales of section 2-326. Whether a lease is intended as security is to be determined by the facts of each case; however, (a) the inclusion of an option to purchase does not of itself make the lease one intended for security, and (b) an agreement that upon compliance with the terms of the lease the lessee shall become or has the option to become the owner of the property for no additional consideration or for a nominal consideration does make the lease one intended for security.

SECTION 4. Section 2-107 of said chapter 106 is hereby amended by striking out subsections (1) and (2), as appearing in section 1 of chapter 765 of the acts of 1957, and inserting in place thereof the following two subsections:-

(2) A contract for the sale apart from the land of growing crops or other things attached to realty and capable of severance without material harm thereto but not described in subsection (1) or of timber to be cut is a contract for the sale of goods within this Article whether the subject matter is to be severed by the buyer or by the seller even though it forms part of the realty at the time of contracting, and the parties can by identification effect a present sale before severance.

SECTION 5. Said chapter 106 is hereby further amended by inserting after section 1-208 the following section:-

Section 1-209. Subordinated Obligations. An obligation may be issued as subordinated to payment of another obligation of the person obligated, or a creditor may subordinate his right to payment of an obligation by agreement with either the person obligated or another creditor of the person obligated. Such a subordination does not create a security interest as against either the common debtor or a subordinated creditor. This section shall be construed as declaring the law as it existed prior to the enactment of this section and not as modifying it.

SECTION 6. Section 5-116 of said chapter 106, as so appearing, is hereby amended by striking out subsection (2) and inserting in place thereof the following subsection:-

(2) Even though the credit specifically states that it is non-transferable or nonassignable the beneficiary may before performance of the conditions of the credit assign his right to proceeds. Such an assignment is an assignment of an account under Article 9 on Secured Transactions and is governed by that Article except that

(a) the assignment is ineffective until the letter of credit or advice of credit is delivered to the assignee which delivery constitutes perfection of the security interest under Article 9;

(b) the issuer may honor drafts or demands for payment drawn under the credit until it receives a notification of the assignment signed by the beneficiary which reasonably identifies the credit involved in the assignment and contains a request to pay the assignee; and

(c) after what reasonably appears to be such a notification has been received the issuer may without dishonor refuse to accept or pay even to a person otherwise entitled to honor until the letter of credit or advice of credit is exhibited to the issuer.

SECTION 7. Said chapter 106 is hereby further amended by striking out Article 9 and inserting in place thereof the following article:

ARTICLE 9.

SECURED TRANSACTIONS; SALES OF ACCOUNTS AND CHATTEL PAPER.

PART 1. SHORT TITLE, APPLICABILITY AND DEFINITIONS.

Section 9-101. Short Title. This Article shall be known and may be cited as the Uniform Commercial Code - Secured Transactions.

Section 9-102. Policy and Subject Matter of Article. (1) Except as otherwise provided in section 9-104 on excluded transactions, this Article applies

(a) to any transaction (regardless of its form) which is intended to create a security interest in personal property or fixtures including goods, documents, instruments, general intangibles, chattel paper or accounts; and also

(b) to any sale of accounts or chattel paper.

(2) This Article applies to security interests created by contract including pledge, assignment, chattel mortgage, chattel trust, trust deed, factor's lien, equipment trust, conditional sale, trust receipt, other lien or title retention contract and lease or consignment intended as security. This Article does not apply to statutory liens except as provided in section 9-310.

(3) The application of this Article to a security interest in a secured obligation is not affected by the fact that the obligation is itself secured by a transaction or interest to which this Article does not apply.

Section 9-103. Perfection of Security Interests in Multiple State Transactions. (1) Documents, instruments and ordinary goods.

(a) This subsection applies to documents and instruments and to goods other than those covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2), mobile goods described in subsection (3), and minerals described in subsection (5).

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest in collateral are governed by the law of the jurisdiction where the collateral is when the last event occurs on which is based the assertion that the security interest is perfected or unperfected.

(c) If the parties to a transaction creating a purchase money security interest in goods in one jurisdiction understand at the time that the security interest attaches that the goods will be kept in another jurisdiction, then the law of the other jurisdiction governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest from the time it attaches until thirty days after the debtor receives possession of the goods and thereafter if the goods are taken to the other jurisdiction before the end of the thirty-day period.

(d) When collateral is brought into and kept in the commonwealth while subject to a security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction from which the collateral was removed, the security interest remains perfected, but if action is required by Part 3 of this Article to perfect the security interest,

(i) if the action is not taken before the expiration of the period of perfection in the other jurisdiction or the end of four months after the collateral is brought into the commonwealth, whichever period first expires, the security interest becomes unperfected at the end of that period and is thereafter deemed to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser after removal;

(ii) if the action is taken before the expiration of the period specified in subparagraph (i), the security interest continues perfected thereafter; (iii) for the purpose of priority over a buyer of consumer goods (subsection (2) of section 9-307) the period of the effectiveness of a filing in the jurisdiction from which the collateral is removed is governed by the rules with respect to perfection in subparagraphs (i) and (ii).

(2) Certificate of title.

(a) This subsection applies to goods covered by a certificate of title issued under a statute of the commonwealth or of another jurisdiction under the law of which indication of a security interest on the certificate is required as a condition of perfection.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest are governed by the law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction issuing the certificate until four months after the goods are removed from that jurisdiction and thereafter until the goods are registered in another jurisdiction, but in any event not beyond surrender of the certificate. After the expiration of that period, the goods are not covered by the certificate of title within the meaning of this section.

(c) Except with respect to the rights of a buyer described in paragraph (d), a security interest, perfected in another jurisdiction otherwise than by notation on a certificate of title, in goods brought into the commonwealth and thereafter covered by a certificate of title issued by this state is subject to the rules stated in paragraph (d) of subsection (1).

(d) If goods are brought into this state while a security interest therein is perfected in any manner under the law of the jurisdiction from which the goods are removed and a certificate of title is issued by the commonwealth and the certificate does not show that the goods are subject to the security interest or that they may be subject to security interests not shown on the certificate, the security interest is subordinate to the rights of a buyer of the goods who is not in the business of selling goods of that kind to the extent that he gives value and receives delivery of the goods after issuance of the certificate and without knowledge of the security interest.

(3) Accounts, general intangibles and mobile goods.

(a) This subsection applies to accounts (other than an account described in subsection (5) on minerals) and general intangibles and to goods which are mobile and which are of a type normally used in more than one jurisdiction, such as motor vehicles, trailers, rolling stock, airplanes, shipping containers, road building and construction machinery and commercial harvesting machinery and the like, if the goods are equipment or are inventory leased or held for lease by the debtor to others, and are not covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2).

(b) The law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest.

(c) If, however, the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States, and which does not provide for perfection of the security interest by filing or recording in that jurisdiction, the law of the jurisdiction in the United States in which the debtor has its major executive office in the United States governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest through filing. In the alternative, if the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States or Canada and the collateral is accounts or general intangibles for money due or to become due the security interest may be perfected by notification to the account debtor. As used in this paragraph, "United States" includes its territories and possessions and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(d) A debtor shall be deemed located at his place of business if he has one, at his chief executive office if he has more than one place of business, otherwise at his residence. If, however, the debtor is a foreign air carrier under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, it shall be deemed located at the designated office of the agent upon whom service of process may be made on behalf of the foreign air carrier.

(e) A security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction of the location of the debtor is perfected until the expiration of four months after a change of the debtor's location to another jurisdiction, or until perfection would have ceased by the law of the first jurisdiction, whichever period first expires. Unless perfected in the new jurisdiction before the end of that period, it becomes unperfected thereafter and is deemed to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser after the change.

(4) Chattel paper.

The rules stated for goods in subsection (1) apply to a possessory security interest in chattel paper. The rules stated for accounts in subsection (3) apply to a nonpossessory security interest in chattel paper, but the security interest may not be perfected by notification to the account debtor.

(5) Minerals.

Perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest which is created by a debtor who has an interest in minerals or the like, including oil and gas, before extraction and which attaches thereto as extracted, or which attaches to an account resulting from the sale thereof at the wellhead or minehead are governed by the law, including the conflict of laws rules, of the jurisdiction wherein the wellhead or minehead is located.

Section 9-104. Transactions Excluded From Article. This Article does not apply

(a) to a security interest subject to any statute of the United States to the extent that such statute governs the rights of parties to and third parties affected by transactions in particular types of property; or

(b) to a landlord's lien; or

(c) to a lien given by statute or other rule of law for services or materials except as provided in section 9-310 on priority of such liens; or

(d) to a transfer of a claim for wages, salary or other compensation of an employee; or

(e) to a security interest created or granted by a government or governmental subdivision or agency to the extent that the creation, validity, enforceability, perfection or priority of such security interest is expressly otherwise governed by of the General Laws; or

(f) to a sale of accounts or chattel paper as part of a sale of the business out of which they arose, or an assignment of accounts or chattel paper which is for the purpose of collection only, or a transfer of a right to payment under a contract to an assignee who is also to do the performance under the contract or a transfer of a single account to an assignee in whole or partial satisfaction of a preexisting indebtedness; or

(g) to a transfer of an interest in or claim in or under any policy of insurance, except as provided with respect to proceeds (section 9-306) and priorities in proceeds (section 9-312); or

(h) to a right represented by a judgment, other than a judgment taken on a right to payment which was collateral; or

(i) to any right of setoff; or

(j) except to the extent that provision is made for fixtures in section 9-313, to the creation or transfer of an interest in or lien on real estate, including a lease or rents thereunder; or

(k) to a transfer in whole or in part of any claim arising out of tort; or

(l) to a transfer of an interest in any deposit account (subsection (1) of section 9-105) except as provided with respect to proceeds (section 9-306) and priorities in proceeds (section 9-312).

Section 9-105. Definitions and Index of Definitions. (1) In this Article unless the context otherwise requires, the following words and terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Account debtor", the person who is obligated on an account, chattel paper or general intangible;

(b) "Chattel paper", a writing or writings which evidence both a monetary obligation and a security interest in or a lease of specific goods, but a charter or other contract involving the use or hire of a vessel is not chattel paper. When a transaction is evidenced both by such a security agreement or a lease and by an instrument or a series of instruments, the group of writings taken together constitutes chattel paper;

(c) "Collateral", the property subject to a security interest, and includes accounts and chattel paper which have been sold;

(d) "Debtor", the person who owes payment or other performance of the obligation secured, whether or not he owns or has rights in the collateral, and includes the seller of accounts or chattel paper. Where the debtor and the owner of the collateral are not the same person, the term "debtor" means the owner of the collateral in any provision of the Article dealing with the collateral, the obligor in any provision dealing with the obligation, and may include both where the context so requires;

(e) "Deposit account", a demand, time, savings, passbook or like account maintained with a bank, savings and loan association, credit union or like organization, other than an account evidenced by a certificate of deposit;

(f) "Document", document of title as defined in the general definitions of Article 1 (section 1-201), and a receipt of the kind described in subsection (2) of section 7-201;

(g) "Encumbrance", real estate mortgages and other liens on real estate and all other rights in real estate that are not ownership interests;

(h) "Goods", all things which are movable at the time the security interest attaches or which are fixtures, (section 9-313), but does not include money, documents, instruments, accounts, chattel paper, general intangibles, or minerals or the like, including oil and gas before extraction. "Goods" also includes standing timber which is to be cut and removed under a conveyance or contract for sale, the unborn young of animals, and growing crops;

(i) "Instrument", a negotiable instrument (defined in section 3-104) or a security (defined in section 8-102) or any other writing which evidences a right to the payment of money and is not itself a security agreement or lease and is of a type which is in ordinary course of business transferred by delivery with any necessary indorsement or assignment;

(j) "Mortgage", a consensual interest created by a real estate mortgage, a trust deed on real estate, or the like;

(k) An advance is made "pursuant to commitment" if the secured party has bound himself to make it, whether or not a subsequent event of default or other event not within his control has relieved or may relieve him from his obligation;

(l) "Security agreement", an agreement which creates or provides for a security interest;

(m) "Secured party", a lender, seller or other person in whose favor there is a security interest, including a person to whom accounts or chattel paper have been sold. When the holders of obligations issued under an indenture of trust, equipment trust agreement or the like are represented by a trustee or other person, the representative is the secured party;

(n) "Transmitting utility", any person primarily engaged in the railroad, street railway or trolley bus business, the electric or electronics communications transmission business, the transmission of goods by pipeline, or the transmission or the production and transmission of electricity, steam, gas or water, or the provision of sewer service.

Section 9-106. Definitions: "Account"; "General Intangibles".
 "Account", any right to payment for goods sold or leased or for services rendered which is not evidenced by an instrument or chattel paper, whether or not it has been earned by performance.

"General intangibles", any personal property, including things in action, other than goods, accounts, chattel paper, documents, instruments, and money. All rights to payment earned or unearned under a charter or other contract involving the use or hire of a vessel and all rights incident to the charter or contract are accounts.

Section 9-107. Definitions: "Purchase Money Security Interest".
 A security interest is a "purchase money security interest" to the extent that it is:

(a) taken or retained by the seller of the collateral to secure all or part of its price; or

(b) taken by a person who by making advances or incurring an obligation gives value to enable the debtor to acquire rights in or the use of collateral if such value is in fact so used.

Section 9-108. When After-Acquired Collateral Not Security for Antecedent Debt. Where a secured party makes an advance, incurs an obligation, releases a perfected security interest, or otherwise gives new value which is to be secured in whole or in part by after-acquired property his security interest in the after-acquired collateral shall be deemed to be taken for new value and not as security for an antecedent debt if the debtor acquires his rights in such collateral either in the ordinary course of his business or under a contract of purchase made pursuant to the security agreement within a reasonable time after new value is given.

Section 9-109. Classification of Goods; "Consumer Goods"; "Equipment"; "Farm Products"; "Inventory". Goods are

(1) "consumer goods", if they are used or bought for use primarily for personal, family or household purposes;

(2) "equipment", if they are used or bought for use primarily in business, including farming or a profession, or by a debtor who is a nonprofit organization or a governmental subdivision or agency or if the goods are not included in the definitions of inventory, farm products or consumer goods;

(3) "farm products", if they are crops or livestock or supplies products they are neither equipment nor inventory;

(4) "inventory", if they are held by a person who holds them for sale or lease or to be furnished under contracts of service or if he has so furnished them, or if they are raw materials, work in process or materials used or consumed in a business. Inventory of a person is not to be classified as his equipment.

Section 9-110. Sufficiency of Description. For the purposes of this Article any description of personal property or real estate is sufficient whether or not it is specific if it reasonably identifies what is described.

Section 9-111. Applicability of Bulk Transfer Laws. The creation of a security interest is not a bulk transfer under Article 6 (see section 6-103).

Section 9-112. Where Collateral Is Not Owned by Debtor. Unless otherwise agreed, when a secured party knows that collateral is owned by a person who is not the debtor, the owner of the collateral is entitled to receive from the secured party any surplus under subsection (2) of section 9-502 or under subsection (1) of section 9-504, and is not liable for the debt or for any deficiency after resale, and he has the same right as the debtor

(a) to receive statements under section 9-208;

(b) to receive notice of and to object to a secured party's proposal to retain the collateral in satisfaction of the indebtedness under section 9-505;

- (c) to redeem the collateral under section 9-506;
- (d) to obtain injunctive or other relief under subsection (1) of section 9-507; and
- (e) to recover losses caused to him under subsection (2) of section 9-208.

Section 9-113. Security Interests Arising Under Article on Sales.

A security interest arising solely under the Article on Sales (Article 2) is subject to the provisions of this Article except that to the extent that and so long as the debtor does not have or does not lawfully obtain possession of the goods,

- (a) no security agreement is necessary to make the security interest enforceable; and
- (b) no filing is required to perfect the security interests; and
- (c) the rights of the secured party on default by the debtor are governed by the Article on Sales (Article 2).

Section 9-114. Consignment. (1) A person who delivers goods under a consignment which is not a security interest and who would be required to file under this Article by subsection (3) (c) of section 2-326 has priority over a secured party who is or becomes a creditor of the consignee and who would have a perfected security interest in the goods if they were the property of the consignee, and also has priority with respect to identifiable cash proceeds received on or before delivery of the goods to a buyer, if

- (a) the consignor complies with the filing provisions of the Article on Sales with respect to consignments in said subsection (3) (c) of said section 2-326 before the consignee receives possession of the goods; and
  - (b) the consignor gives notification in writing to the holder of the security interest if the holder has filed a financing statement covering the same types of goods before the date of the filing made by the consignor; and
  - (c) the holder of the security interest receives the notification within five years before the consignee receives possession of the goods; and
  - (d) the notification states that the consignor expects to deliver goods on consignment to the consignee, describing the goods by item or type.
- (2) In the case of a consignment which is not a security interest and in which the requirements of the preceding subsection have not been met, a person who delivers goods to another is subordinate to a person who would have a perfected security interest in the goods if they were the property of the debtor.

PART 2. VALIDITY OF SECURITY AGREEMENT AND RIGHTS OR PARTIES THERETO.

Section 9-201. General Validity of Security Agreement. Except as otherwise provided a security agreement is effective according to its terms between the parties, against purchasers of the collateral and against creditors. Nothing in the Article validates any charge or practice illegal under any statute or regulation thereunder governing usury, small loans, retail installment sales, or the like, or extends the application of any such statute or regulation to any transaction not otherwise subject thereto.

Section 9-202. Title to Collateral Immaterial. Each provision of this Article with regard to rights, obligations and remedies applies whether title to collateral is in the secured party or in the debtor.

Section 9-203. Attachment and Enforceability of Security Interest; Proceeds; Formal Requisites. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 4-208 on the security interest of a collecting bank and section 9-113 on a security interest arising under the Article on Sales, a security interest is not enforceable against the debtor or third parties with respect to the collateral and does not attach unless

(a) the collateral is in the possession of the secured party pursuant to agreement, or the debtor has signed a security agreement which contains a description of the collateral and in addition, when the security interest covers crops growing or to be grown or timber to be cut, a description of the land concerned; and

(b) value has been given; and

(c) the debtor has rights in the collateral.

(2) A security interest attaches when it becomes enforceable against the debtor with respect to the collateral. Attachment occurs as soon as all of the events specified in subsection (1) have taken place unless explicit agreement postpones the time of attaching.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed a security agreement gives the secured party the rights to proceeds provided by section 9-306.

(4) A transaction, although subject to this Article, is also subject to the provisions of section forty-nine of chapter ninety-three, chapters ninety-three A and ninety-three C, sections ninety to one hundred fourteen B, inclusive, of chapter one hundred forty, chapter one hundred forty C, sections twelve C, twelve E, twelve F, thirteen I and thirteen J of chapter two hundred fifty-five and chapters two hundred fifty-five B, two hundred fifty-five C, and two hundred fifty-five D, and in the case of conflict between the provisions of this Article and any such statute, the provisions of such statute control. Failure to comply with any applicable statute has only the effect which is specified therein.

Section 9-204. After-Acquired Property; Future Advances.

(1) Except as provided in subsection 2, a security agreement may provide that any or all obligations covered by the security agreement are to be secured by after-acquired collateral.

(2) No security interest attaches under an after-acquired property clause to consumer goods other than accessions (section 9-314) when given as additional security unless the debtor acquires rights in them within ten days after the secured party gives value.

(3) Obligations covered by a security agreement may include future advances or other value whether or not the advances or value are given pursuant to commitment as defined in subsection (1) of section 9-105.

Section 9-205. Use or Disposition of Collateral Without Accounting

Permissible. A security interest is not invalid or fraudulent against creditors by reason of liberty in the debtor to use, commingle or dispose of all or part of the collateral, including returned or repossessed goods, or to collect or compromise accounts or chattel paper, or to accept the return of goods or make repossessions, or to use, commingle or dispose of proceeds, or by reason of the failure of the secured party to require the debtor to account for proceeds or replace collateral. This section does not relax the requirements of possession where perfection of a security interest depends upon possession of the collateral by the secured party or by a bailee.

Section 9-206. Agreement Not to Assert Defenses Against Assignee; Modification of Sales Warranties Where Security Agreement Exists.

(1) Subject to any statute or decision which establishes a different rule for buyers or lessees of consumer goods, an agreement by a buyer or lessee that he will not assert against an assignee any claim or defense which he may have against the seller or lessor is enforceable by an assignee who takes his assignment for value, in good faith and without notice of a claim or defense, except as to defenses of a type which may be asserted against a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument under the Article on Commercial Paper (Article 3). A buyer who as part of one transaction signs both a negotiable instrument and a security agreement makes such an agreement.

(2) When a seller retains a purchase money security interest in goods the Article on Sales (Article 2) governs the sale and any disclaimer, limitation or modification of the seller's warranties.

Section 9-207. Rights and Duties When Collateral is in Secured Party's Possession.

(1) A secured party must use reasonable care in the custody and preservation of collateral in his possession. In the case of an instrument or chattel paper reasonable care includes taking necessary steps to preserve rights against prior parties unless otherwise agreed.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, when collateral is in the secured party's possession

(a) reasonable expenses, including the cost of any insurance and payment of taxes or other charges, incurred in the custody, preservation, use or operation of the collateral are chargeable to the debtor and are secured by the collateral;

(b) the risk of accidental loss or damage is on the debtor to the extent of any deficiency in any effective insurance coverage;

(c) the secured party may hold as additional security any increase or profits, except money, received from the collateral, but money so received, unless remitted to the debtor, shall be applied in reduction of the secured obligation;

(d) the secured party must keep the collateral identifiable but fungible collateral may be commingled;

(e) the secured party may repledge the collateral upon terms which do not impair the debtor's right to redeem it.

(3) A secured party is liable for any loss caused by his failure to meet any obligation imposed by the preceding subsections but does not lose his security interest.

(4) A secured party may use or operate the collateral for the purpose of preserving the collateral or its value or pursuant to the order of a court of appropriate jurisdiction or, except in the case of consumer goods, in the manner and to the extent provided in the security agreement.

Section 9-208. Request for Statement of Account or List of Collateral.

(1) A debtor may sign a statement indicating what he believes to be the aggregate amount of unpaid indebtedness as of a specified date and may send it to the secured party with a request that the statement be approved or corrected and returned to the debtor. When the security agreement or any other record kept by the secured party identifies the collateral a debtor may similarly request the secured party to approve or correct a list of the collateral.

(2) The secured party must comply with such a request within two weeks after receipt by sending a written correction or approval. If the secured party claims a security interest in all of a particular type of collateral owned by the debtor he may indicate that fact in his reply and need not approve or correct an itemized list of such collateral. If the secured party without reasonable excuse fails to comply he is liable for any loss caused to the debtor thereby; and if the debtor has properly included in his request a good faith statement of the obligation or a list of the collateral or both the secured party may claim a security interest only as shown in the statement against persons misled by his failure to comply. If he no longer has an interest in the obligation or collateral at the time the request is received he must disclose the name and address of any successor in interest known to him and he is liable for any loss caused to the debtor as a result of failure to disclose. A successor in interest is not subject to this section until a request is received by him.

(3) A debtor is entitled to such a statement once every six months without charge. The secured party may require payment of a charge not exceeding ten dollars for each additional statement furnished.

PART 3. RIGHTS OF THIRD PARTIES; PERFECTED AND UNPERFECTED SECURITY INTEREST;

RULES OF PRIORITY.

Section 9-301. Persons Who Take Priority Over Unperfected Security Interest; Rights of "Lien Creditor". (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2), an unperfected security interest is subordinate to the rights of

(a) persons entitled to priority under section 9-312;

(b) a person who becomes a lien creditor before the security interest is perfected;

(c) in the case of goods, instruments, documents, and chattel paper, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee in bulk or other buyer not in ordinary course of business or is a buyer of farm products in ordinary course of business, to the extent that he gives value and receives delivery of the collateral without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected;

(d) in the case of accounts and general intangibles, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee to the extent that he gives value without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected.

(2) If the secured party files with respect to a purchase money security interest before or within ten days after the debtor receives possession of the collateral, he takes priority over the rights of a transferee in bulk or of a lien creditor which arise between the time and security interest attaches and the time of filing.

(3) A "lien creditor", a creditor who has acquired a lien on the property involved by attachment, levy or the like and includes an assignee for benefit of creditors from the time of assignment, and a trustee in bankruptcy from the date of the filing of the petition or a receiver in equity from the time of appointment.

(4) A person who becomes a lien creditor while a security interest is perfected takes subject to the security interest only to the extent that it secures advances made before he becomes a lien creditor or within forty-five days thereafter or made without knowledge of the lien or pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the lien.

Section 9-302. When Filing Is Required to Perfect Security Interest. Security Interests to Which Filing Provisions of This Article Do Not Apply. (1) A financing statement must be filed to perfect all security interests except the following:

(a) a security interest in collateral in possession of the secured party under section 9-305;

(b) a security interest temporarily perfected in instruments or documents without delivery under section 9-304 or in proceeds for a ten day period under section 9-306;

(c) a security interest created by an assignment of a beneficial interest in a trust or a decedent's estate;

(d) a purchase money security interest in consumer goods; but filing is required for a motor vehicle required to be registered; and fixture filing is required for priority over conflicting interests in fixtures to the extent provided in section 9-313;

(e) an assignment of accounts which does not alone or in conjunction with other assignments to the same assignee transfer a significant part of the outstanding accounts of the assignor;

(f) a security interest of a collecting bank provided in section 4-208 or arising under the Article on Sales (see section 9-113) or covered in subsection (3) of this section;

(g) an assignment for the benefit of all the creditors of the transferor, and subsequent transfers by the assignee thereunder.

(2) If a secured party assigns a perfected security interest, no filing under this Article is required in order to continue the perfected status of the security interest against creditors of and transferees from the original debtor.

(3) The filing of a financing statement otherwise required by this Article is not necessary or effective to perfect a security interest in property subject to

(a) a statute or treaty of the United States which provides for a national or international registration of a national or international certificate of title or which specifies a place of filing different from that specified in this Article for filing of the security interest; or

(b) chapter ninety D; but during any period in which collateral is inventory held for sale by a person who is in the business of selling goods of that kind, the filing provisions of Part 4 of this Article apply to a security interest in that collateral created by him as debtor; or

(c) a certificate of title statute of another jurisdiction under the law of which indication of a security interest on the certificate is required as a condition of perfection (subsection (2) of section 9-103).

(4) Compliance with a statute or treaty described in subsection (3) is equivalent to the filing of a financing statement under this Article, and a security interest in property subject to the statute or treaty can be perfected only by compliance therewith except as provided in section 9-103 on multiple state transactions. Duration and renewal of perfection of a security interest perfected by compliance with the statute or treaty are governed by the provisions of the statute or treaty; in other respects the security interest in subject to this Article.

Section 9-303. When Security Interest Is Perfected; Continuity of Perfection.

(1) A security interest is perfected when it has attached and when all of the applicable steps required for perfection have been taken. Such steps are specified in sections 9-302, 9-304, 9-305, and 9-306. If such steps are taken before the security interest attaches, it is perfected at the time when it attaches.

(2) If a security interest is originally perfected in any way permitted under this Article and is subsequently perfected in some other way under this Article, without an intermediate period when it was unperfected, the security interest shall be deemed to be perfected continuously for the purposes of this Article.

Section 9-304. Perfection of Security Interests in Instruments, Documents, and Goods Covered by Documents; Perfection by Permissive Filing; Temporary Perfection Without Filing or Transfer of Possession.

(1) A security interest in chattel paper or negotiable documents may be perfected by filing. A security interest in money or instruments, other than instruments which constitute part of chattel paper, can be perfected only by the secured party's taking possession, except as provided in subsections (4) and (5) and subsections (2) and (3) of section 9-306 on proceeds.

(2) During the period that goods are in the possession of the issuer of a negotiable document therefor, a security interest in the goods is perfected by perfecting a security interest in the document, and any security interest in the goods otherwise perfected during such period is subject thereto.

(3) A security interest in goods in the possession of a bailee other than one who has issued a negotiable document therefor is perfected by issuance of a document in the name of the secured party or by the bailee's receipt of notification of the secured party's interest or by filing as to the goods.

(4) A security interest in instruments or negotiable documents is perfected without filing or the taking of possession for a period of twenty-one days from the time it attaches to the extent that it arises for new value given under a written security agreement.

(5) A security interest remains perfected for a period of twenty-one days without filing where a secured party having a perfected security interest in an instrument, a negotiable document or goods in possession of the bailee other than one who has issued a negotiable document therefor

(a) makes available to the debtor the goods or documents representing the goods for the purpose of ultimate sale or exchange or for the purpose of loading, unloading, storing, shipping, transshipping, manufacturing, processing or otherwise dealing with them in a manner preliminary to their sale or exchange, but priority between conflicting security interests in the goods is subject to subsection (3) of section 9-312; or

(b) delivers the instrument to the debtor for the purpose of ultimate sale or exchange or of presentation, collection, renewal or registration of transfer.

(6) After the twenty-one day period in subsections (4) and (5) perfection depends upon compliance with applicable provisions of this Article.

Section 9-305. When Possession by Secured Party Perfects Security Interest Without Filing. A security interest in letters of credit and advices of credit, (subsection (2) (a) of section 5-116) goods, instruments, money, negotiable documents or chattel paper may be perfected by the secured party's taking possession of the collateral. If such collateral other than goods covered by a negotiable document is held by a bailee, the secured party is deemed to have possession from the time the bailee receives notification of the secured party's interest. A security interest is perfected by possession from the time possession is taken without relation back and continues only so long as possession is retained, unless otherwise specified in this Article. The security interests may be otherwise perfected as provided in this Article before or after the period of possession by the secured party.

Section 9-306. "Proceeds"; Secured Party's Rights on Disposition of Collateral.

(1) "Proceeds" includes whatever is received upon the sale, exchange, collection or other disposition of collateral or proceeds. Insurance payable by reason of loss or damage to the collateral is proceeds, except to the extent that it is payable to a person other than a party to the security agreement. Money, checks, deposit accounts, and the like are "cash proceeds". All other proceeds are "noncash proceeds".

(2) Except where this Article otherwise provides, a security interest continues in collateral notwithstanding sale, exchange or other disposition thereof unless the disposition was authorized by the secured party in the security agreement or otherwise, and also continues in any identifiable proceeds including collections received by the debtor.

(3) The security interest in proceeds is a continuously perfected security interest if the interest in the original collateral was perfected but it ceases to be a perfected security interest and becomes unperfected ten days after receipt of the proceeds by the debtor unless

(a) a filed financing statement covers the original collateral and the proceeds are collateral in which a security interest may be perfected by filing in the office or offices where the financing statement has been filed and, if the proceeds are acquired with cash proceeds, the description of collateral in the financing statement indicates the types of property constituting the proceeds; or

(b) a filed financing statement covers the original collateral and the proceeds are identifiable cash proceeds; or

(c) the security interest in the proceeds is perfected before the expiration of the ten day period.

Except as provided in this section, a security interest in proceeds can be perfected only by the methods or under the circumstances permitted in this Article for original collateral of the same type.

(4) In the event of insolvency proceedings instituted by or against a debtor, a secured party with a perfected security interest in proceeds has a perfected security interest only in the following proceeds:

(a) in identifiable noncash proceeds and in separate deposit accounts containing only proceeds;

(b) in identifiable cash proceeds in the form of money which is neither commingled with other money nor deposited in a deposit account prior to the insolvency proceedings;

(c) in identifiable cash proceeds in the form of checks and the like which are not deposited in a deposit account prior to the insolvency proceedings; and

(d) in all cash and deposit accounts of the debtor in which proceeds have been commingled with other funds, but the perfected security interest under this paragraph is

(i) subject to any right of set-off; and

(ii) limited to an amount not greater than the amount of any cash proceeds received by the debtor within ten days before the institution of the insolvency proceedings less the sum of (1) the payments to the secured party on account of cash proceeds received by the debtor during such period and (11) the cash proceeds received by the debtor during such period to which the secured party is entitled under paragraphs (a) through (c) of this subsection.

(5) If a sale of goods results in an account or chattel paper which is transferred by the seller to a secured party, and if the goods are returned to or are repossessed by the seller or the secured party, the following rules determine priorities:

(a) If the goods were collateral at the time of sale, for an indebtedness of the seller which is still unpaid, the original security interest attaches again to the goods and continues as a perfected security interest if it was perfected at the time when the goods were sold. If the security interest was originally perfected by a filing which is still effective, nothing further is required to continue the perfected status; in any other case, the secured party must take possession of the returned or repossessed goods or must file.

(b) An unpaid transferee of the chattel paper has a security interest in the goods against the transferor. Such security interest is prior to a security interest asserted under paragraph (a) to the extent that the transferee of chattel paper was entitled to priority under section 9-308.

(c) An unpaid transferee of the account has a security interest in the goods against the transferor. Such security interest is subordinate to a security interest asserted under paragraph (a).

(d) A security interest of an unpaid transferee asserted under paragraph (b) or (c) must be perfected for protection against creditors of the transferor and purchasers of the returned or repossessed goods.

Section 9-307. Protection of Buyers of Goods. (1) A buyer in ordinary course of business (subsection (9) of section 1-201) other than a person buying farm products from a person engaged in farming operations

(a) takes free of a security interest created by his seller even though the security interest is perfected and even though the buyer knows of its existence; and

(b) takes free of a security interest created by a predecessor in interest of his seller if the buyer buys without knowledge of the security interest and for his own personal, family or household purposes.

(2) In the case of consumer goods, a buyer takes free of a security interest even though perfected if he buys without knowledge of the security interest, for value and for his own personal, family or household purposes unless prior to the purchase the secured party has filed a financing statement covering such goods.

(3) A buyer other than a buyer in ordinary course of business under subsection (1) takes free of a security interest to the extent that it secures future advances made after the secured party acquires knowledge of the purchase, or more than forty-five days after the purchase, whichever first occurs, unless made pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the purchase and before the expiration of the forty-five day period.

Section 9-308. Purchase of Chattel Paper and Instruments. A purchaser of chattel paper or an instrument who gives new value and takes possession of it in the ordinary course of his business has priority over a security interest in the chattel paper or instrument

(a) which is perfected under the section 9-304 provisions on permissive filing and temporary perfection or under section 9-306 provisions perfection as to proceeds if he acts without knowledge that the specific paper or instrument is subject to a security interest; or

(b) which is claimed merely as proceeds of inventory subject to a security interest (section 9-306) even though he knows that the specific paper or instrument is subject to the security interest.

Section 9-309. Protection of Purchasers of Instruments and Documents. Nothing in this Article limits the rights of a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument (section 3-302) or a holder to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated (section 7-501) or a bona fide purchaser of a security (section 8-301) and such holders or purchasers take priority over an earlier security interest even though perfected. Filing under this Article does not constitute notice of the security interest to such holders or purchasers.

Section 9-310. Priority of Certain Liens Arising by Operation of Law. When a person in the ordinary course of his business furnishes services or materials with respect to goods subject to a security interest, a lien upon goods in the possession of such person given by statute or rule of law for such materials or services takes priority over a perfected security interest unless the lien is statutory and the statute expressly provides otherwise.

Section 9-311. Alienability of Debtor's Rights; Judicial Process. The debtor's rights in collateral may be voluntarily or involuntarily transferred by way of sale, creation of a security interest, attachment, levy, garnishment or other judicial process, notwithstanding a provision in the security agreement prohibiting any transfer or making the transfer constitute a default.

Section 9-312. Priorities Among Conflicting Security Interests in the Same Collateral.

(1) The rules of priority stated in other sections of this Part and in the following sections shall govern when applicable: section 4-208 with respect to the security interests of collecting banks in items being collected, accompanying documents and proceeds; section 9-103 on security interests related to other jurisdictions; section 9-114 on consignments.

(2) A perfected security interest in crops for new value given to enable the debtor to produce the crops during the production season and given not more than three months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise takes priority over an earlier perfected security interest to the extent that such earlier interest secures obligations due more than six months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise, even though the person giving new value had knowledge of the earlier security interest.

(3) A perfected purchase money security interest in inventory has priority in identifiable cash proceeds received on or before the delivery of the inventory to a buyer if

(a) the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the inventory; and

(b) the purchase money secured party gives notification in writing to the holder of the conflicting security interest if the holder had filed a financing statement covering the same types of inventory (i) before the date of the filing made by the purchase money secured party, or (ii) before the beginning of the twenty-first day period where the purchase money security interest is temporarily perfected without filing or possession (subsection (5) of section 9-304); and

(c) the holder of the conflicting security interest receives the notification within five years before the debtor receives possession of the inventory; and

(d) the notification states that the person giving the notice has or expects to acquire a purchase money security interest in inventory of the debtor, describing such inventory by item or type.

(4) A purchase money security interest in collateral other than inventory has priority over a conflicting security interest in the same collateral or its proceeds if the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the collateral or within ten days thereafter.

(5) In all cases not governed by other rules stated in this section, including cases of purchase money security interests which do not qualify for the special priorities set forth in subsections (3) and (4) of this section, priority between conflicting security interests in the same collateral shall be determined according to the following rules:

(a) Conflicting security interests rank according to priority in time of filing or perfection. Priority dates from the time a filing is first made covering the collateral or the time the security interest is first perfected, whichever is earlier, provided that there is no period thereafter when there is neither filing nor perfection.

(b) So long as conflicting security interests are unperfected, the first to attach has priority.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (5) a date of filing or perfection as to collateral is also a date of filing or perfection as to proceeds.

(7) If future advances are made while a security interest is perfected by filing or the taking of possession, the security interest has the same priority for the purposes of subsection (5) with respect to the future advances as it does with respect to the first advance. If a commitment is made before or while the security interest is so perfected, the security interest has the same priority with respect to advances made pursuant thereto. In other cases a perfected security interest has priority from the date the advance is made.

Section 9-313. Priority of Security Interests in Fixtures.

(1) In this section and in the provisions of Part 4 of this Article referring to fixture filing, unless the context otherwise requires

(a) Goods are "fixtures" when they become so related to particular real estate that an interest in them arises under real estate law.

(b) A "fixture filing" is the filing in the office where a mortgage on the real estate would be filed or recorded of a financing statement covering goods which are or are to become fixtures and conforming to the requirements of subsection (5) of section 9-402.

(c) A mortgage is a "construction mortgage" to the extent that it secures an obligation incurred for the construction of an improvement on land including the acquisition cost of the land, if the recorded writing so indicates.

(2) A security interest under this Article may be created in goods which are fixtures or may continue in goods which become fixtures, but no security interest exists under this Article in ordinary building materials incorporated into an improvement on land.

(3) This Article does not prevent creation of an encumbrance upon fixtures pursuant to real estate law.

(4) A perfected security interest in fixtures has priority over the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the real estate where

(a) the security interest is a purchase money security interest, the interest of the encumbrancer or owner arises before the goods become fixtures, the security interest is perfected by a fixture filing before the goods become fixtures or within ten days thereafter, and the debtor has an interest of record in the real estate or is in possession of the real estate; or

(b) the security interest is perfected by a fixture filing before the interest of the encumbrancer or owner is of record, the security interest has priority over any conflicting interest of a predecessor in title of the encumbrancer or owner, and the debtor has an interest of record in the real estate or is in possession of the real estate; or

(c) the fixtures are readily removable factory or office machines or readily removable replacements of domestic appliances which are consumer goods, and before the goods become fixtures the security interest is perfected by any method permitted by this Article; or

(d) the conflicting interest is a lien on the real estate obtained by legal or equitable proceedings after the security interest was perfected by any method permitted by this Article.

(5) A security interest in fixtures, whether or not perfected, has priority over the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the real estate where

(a) the encumbrancer or owner has consented in writing to the security interest or has disclaimed an interest in the goods as fixtures; or

(b) the debtor has a right to remove the goods as against the encumbrancer or owner. If the debtor's right terminates, the priority of the security interest continues for a reasonable time.

(6) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of subsection (4) but otherwise subject to subsections (4) and (5), a security interest in fixtures is subordinate to a construction mortgage recorded before the goods become fixtures if the goods become fixtures before the completion of the construction. To the extent that it is given to refinance a construction mortgage, a mortgage has this priority to the same extent as the construction mortgage.

(7) In cases not within the preceding subsections, a security interest in fixtures is subordinate to the conflicting interest of an encumbrancer or owner of the related real estate who is not the debtor.

(8) When the secured party has priority over all owners and encumbrances of the real estate, he may, on default, subject to the provisions of Part 5, remove his collateral from the real estate but he must reimburse any encumbrancer or owner of the real estate who is not the debtor and who has not otherwise agreed for the cost of repair of any physical injury, but not for any diminution in value of the real estate caused by the absence of the goods removed or by any necessity of replacing them. A person entitled to reimbursement may refuse permission to remove until the secured party gives adequate security for the performance of this obligation.

Section 9-314. Accessions. (1) A security interest in goods which attaches before they are installed in or affixed to other goods takes priority as to the goods installed or affixed, called in this section "accessions", over the claims of all persons to the whole except as stated in subsection (3) and subject to subsection (1) of section 9-315.

(2) A security interest which attaches to goods after they become part of a whole is valid against all persons subsequently acquiring interests in the whole except as stated in subsection (3) but is invalid against any person with an interest in the whole at the time the security interest attaches to the goods who has not in writing consented to the security interest or disclaimed an interest in the goods as part of the whole.

(3) The security interests described in subsections (1) and (2) do not take priority over

(a) a subsequent purchaser for value of any interest in the whole; or

(b) a creditor with a lien on the whole subsequently obtained by judicial proceedings; or

(c) a creditor with a prior perfected security interest in the whole to the extent that he makes subsequent advances if the subsequent purchase is made, the lien by judicial proceedings obtained or the subsequent advance under the prior perfected security interest is made or contracted for without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected. A purchaser of the whole at a foreclosure sale other than the holder of a perfected security interest purchasing at his own foreclosure sale is a subsequent purchaser within this section.

(4) When under subsections (1) or (2) and (3) a secured party has an interest in accessions which has priority over the claims of all persons who have interests in the whole, he may on default subject to the provisions of Part 5 remove his collateral from the whole but he must reimburse any encumbrancer or owner of the whole who is not the debtor and who has not otherwise agreed for the cost of repair of any physical injury but not for any diminution in value of the whole caused by the absence of the goods removed or by a necessity for replacing them. A person entitled to reimbursement may refuse permission to remove until the secured party gives adequate security for the performance of this obligation.

Section 9-315. Priority When Goods are Commingled or Processed. (1) If a security interest in goods was perfected and subsequently the goods or a part thereof have become part of a product or mass, the security interest continues in the product or mass if

(a) the goods are so manufactured, processed, assembled or commingled that their identity is lost in the product or mass; or

(b) a financing statement covering the original goods also covers the product into which the goods have been manufactured, processed or assembled.

In a case to which paragraph (b) applies, no separate security interest in that part of the original goods which has been manufactured, processed or assembled into the product may be claimed under section 9-314.

(2) When under subsection (1) more than one security interest attaches to the product or mass, they rank equally according to the ratio that the cost of the goods to which each interest originally attached bears to the cost of the total product or mass.

Section 9-316. Priority Subject to Subordination. Nothing in this Article prevents subordination by agreement by any person entitled to priority.

Section 9-317. Secured Party Not Obligated on Contract of Debtor. The mere existence of a security interest or authority given to the debtor to dispose of or use collateral does not impose contract or tort liability upon the secured party for the debtor's acts or omissions.

Section 9-318. Defenses Against Assignee; Modification of Contract After Notification of Assignment; Term Prohibiting Assignment Ineffective; Identification and Proof of Assignment. (1) Unless an account debtor has made an enforceable agreement not to assert defenses or claims arising out of a sale as provided in section 9-206 the rights of an assignee are subject to

(a) all the terms of the contract between the account debtor and assignor and any defense or claim arising therefrom; and

(b) any other defense or claim of the account debtor against the assignor which accrues before the account debtor receives notification of the assignment.

(2) So far as the right to payment or a part thereof under an assigned contract has not been fully earned by performance, and notwithstanding notification of the assignment, any modification of or substitution for the contract made in good faith and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards is effective against an assignee unless the account debtor has otherwise agreed but the assignee acquires corresponding rights under the modified or substituted contract. The assignment may provide that such modification or substitution is a breach by the assignor.

(3) The account debtor is authorized to pay the assignor until the account debtor receives notification that the amount due or to become due has been assigned and that payment is to be made to the assignee. A notification which does not reasonably identify the rights assigned is ineffective. If requested by the account debtor, the assignee must seasonably furnish reasonable proof that the assignment has been made and unless he does so the account debtor may pay the assignor.

(4) A term in any contract between an account debtor and an assignor is ineffective if it prohibits assignment of an account or prohibits creation of a security interest in a general intangible for money due or to become due or requires the account debtor's consent to such assignment or security interest.

PART 4. FILING.

Section 9-401. Place of Filing; Erroneous Filing, Removal of Collateral.

(1) The proper place to file in order to perfect a security interest is as follows:

(a) when the collateral is equipment used in farming operations, or farm products, or accounts or general intangibles arising from or relating to the sale of farm products by a farmer, or consumer goods, then in the office of the clerk of the town where the debtor resides or if the debtor is not a resident of the commonwealth then in the office of the clerk of the town in which the goods are kept;

(b) when the collateral is timber to be cut or is minerals or the like, including oil and gas, or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (section 9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, then in the office where a mortgage on the real estate would be filed or recorded;

(c) in all other cases, in the office of the state secretary and in addition, if the debtor has a place of business in only one town of the commonwealth, also in the office of the clerk of such town, or, if the debtor has no place of business in the commonwealth, but resides in the commonwealth, also in the office of the clerk of the town in which he resides.

(2) A filing which is made in good faith in an improper place or not in all of the places required by this section is nevertheless effective with regard to any collateral as to which the filing complied with the requirements of this Article and is also effective with regard to collateral covered by the financing statement against any person who has knowledge of the contents of such financing statement.

(3) A filing which is made in the proper place in the commonwealth continues effective even though the debtor's residence or place of business or the location of the collateral or its use, whichever controlled the original filing, is thereafter changed.

(4) The rules stated in section 9-103 determine whether filing is necessary in the commonwealth.

(5) Notwithstanding the preceding subsections, and subject to subsection (3) of section 9-302, the proper place to file in order to perfect a security interest in collateral, including fixtures, of a transmitting utility is the office of the state secretary. This filing constitutes a fixture filing (section 9-313) as to the collateral described therein which is or is to become fixtures.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the residence of an organization is its place of business if it has one or its chief executive office if it has more than one place of business.

Section 9-402. Formal Requisites of Financing Statement Amendments; Mortgage as Financing Statement.

(1) A financing statement is sufficient if it gives the names of the debtor and the secured party, is signed by the debtor, gives an address of the secured party from which information concerning the security interest may be obtained, gives a mailing address of the debtor and contains a statement indicating the types, or describing the items, of collateral. A financing statement may be filed before a security agreement is made or a security interest otherwise attaches. When the financing statement covers crops growing or to be grown, the statement must also contain a description of the real estate concerned. When the financing statement covers timber to be cut or covers minerals or the like, including oil and gas, or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (section 9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, the statement must also comply with subsection (5). A copy of the security agreement is sufficient as a financing statement if it contains the above information and is signed by the debtor. A carbon, photographic or other reproduction of a security agreement or a financing statement is sufficient as a financing statement if the security agreement so provides or if the original has been filed in the commonwealth.

(2) A financing statement which otherwise complies with subsection (1) is sufficient when it is signed by the secured party instead of the debtor if it is filed to perfect a security interest in

(a) collateral already subject to a security interest in another jurisdiction when it is brought into the commonwealth, or when the debtor's location is changed to the commonwealth. Such a financing statement must state that the collateral was brought into the commonwealth or that the debtor's location was changed to the commonwealth under such circumstances; or

(b) proceeds under section 9-306 if the security interest in the original collateral was perfected. Such a financing statement must describe the original collateral; or

(c) collateral as to which the filing has lapsed; or

(d) collateral acquired after a change of name, identity or corporate structure of the debtor (subsection (7)).

(3) A form substantially as follows is sufficient to comply with subsection (1):

Name of debtor (or assignor) _____

Address _____

Name of secured party (or assignee) _____

Address _____

1. This financing statement covers the following types (or items) of property:

and this financing statement is to be filed for record in the real estate records. (If the debtor does not have an interest of record)

The name of a record owner is

Signature of Secured Party (or Assignee)

*Where appropriate substitute either "The above timber is standing on ....." or "The above mineral or the like, including oil and gas, or accounts will be financed at the wellhead or minehead of the well or mine located on ....."

(4) A financing statement may be amended by filing a writing signed by both the debtor and the secured party. An amendment does not extend the period of effectiveness of a financing statement. If any amendment adds collateral, it is effective as to the added collateral only from the filing date of the amendment. In this Article, unless the context otherwise requires, the term "financing statement" means the original financing statement and any amendments.

(5) A financing statement covering timber to be cut or covering minerals or the like, including oil and gas, or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, or a financing statement filed as a fixture filing (section 9-313) where the debtor is not a transmitting utility, shall show that it covers this type of collateral, must recite that it is to be filed for record in the real estate records, and the financing statement must contain a description of the real estate. If the debtor does not have an interest of record in the real estate, the financing statement shall show the name of a record owner.

(6) A mortgage is effective as a financing statement filed as a fixture filing from the date of its recording if

(a) the goods are described in the mortgage by item or type; and

(b) the goods are or are to become fixtures related to the real estate described in the mortgage; and

(c) the mortgage complies with the requirements for a financing statement in this section other than a recital that it is to be filed in the real estate records; and

(d) the mortgage is duly recorded.

No fee with reference to the financing statement is required other than the regular recording and satisfaction fees with respect to the mortgage.

(7) A financing statement sufficiently shows the name of the debtor if it gives the individual, partnership or corporate name of the debtor, whether or not it adds other trade names or names of partners. Where the debtor changes his name or in the case of an organization its name, identity or corporate structure that a filed financing statement becomes seriously misleading, the filing is not effective to perfect a security interest in collateral acquired by the debtor more than four months after the change, unless a new appropriate financing statement is filed before the expiration of that time. A filed financing statement remains effective with respect to collateral transferred by the debtor even though the secured party knows of or consents to the transfer.

(8) A financing statement substantially complying with the requirements of this section is effective even though it contains minor errors which are not seriously misleading.

Section 9-403. What Constitutes Filing; Duration of Filing; Effect of Lapsed Filing; Duties of Filing officer.

(1) Presentation for filing of a financing statement and tender of the filing fee or acceptance of the statement by the filing officer constitutes filing under this Article:

(2) Except as provided in subsection (6) a filed financing statement is effective for a period of five years from the date of filing. The effectiveness of a filed financing statement lapses on the expiration of the five year period unless a continuation statement is filed prior to the lapse. If a security interest perfected by filing exists at the time insolvency proceedings are commenced by or against the debtor, the security interest remains perfected until termination of the insolvency proceedings and thereafter for a period of sixty days or until expiration of the five year period, whichever occurs later. Upon lapse the security interest become unperfected, unless it is perfected without filing. If the security interest becomes unperfected upon lapse, it is deemed to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser or lien creditor before lapse.

(3) A continuation statement may be filed by the secured party within six months prior to the expiration of the five year period specified in subsection (2). Any such continuation statement must be signed by the secured party, identify the original statement by file number and state that the original statement is still effective. A continuation statement signed by a person other than the secured party of record must be accompanied by a separate written statement of assignment signed by the secured party of record and complying with subsection (2) of section 9-405, including payment of the required fee. Upon timely filing of the continuation statement, the effectiveness of the original statement is continued for five years after the last date to which the filing was effective whereupon it lapses in the same manner as provided in subsection (2) unless another continuation statement is filed prior to such lapse. Succeeding continuation statements may be filed in the same manner to continue the effectiveness of the original statement. Unless a statute on disposition of public records provides otherwise, the filing officer may remove a lapsed statement from the files and destroy it immediately if he has retained a microfilm or other photographic record, or in other cases after one year after the lapse. The filing officer shall so arrange matters by physical annexation of financing statements to continuation statements or other related filings, or by other means, that if he physically destroys the financing statements of a period more than five years past, those which have been continued by a continuation statement or which are still effective under subsection (6) shall be retained.

(4) Except as provided in section 9-410 a filing officer shall mark each statement with a file number and with the date and hour of filing and shall hold the statement or a microfilm or other photographic copy thereof for public inspection. In addition the filing officer shall index the statement according to the name of the debtor and shall note in the index the file number and the address of the debtor given in the statement.

(5) The fee for filing, indexing and furnishing filing data for an original or a continuation statement or any amendment of either shall be five dollars, but if an original financing statement or any amendment thereof which is filed in a registry of deeds consists of more than one page the fee for filing and indexing the same and furnishing filing data with respect thereto shall be as set forth in sections thirty-eight and thirty-nine of chapter two hundred and sixty-two.

(6) If the debtor is a transmitting utility (subsection (5) of section 9-401) and a filed financing statement so states, it is effective until a termination statement is filed. A real estate mortgage which is effective as a fixture filing under subsection (6) of section 9-402 remains effective as a fixture filing until the mortgage is released or satisfied of record or its effectiveness otherwise terminates as to the real estate.

Section 9-404. Termination Statement.

(1) If a financing statement covering consumer goods is filed on or after July first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, then within one month or within ten days following written demand by the debtor after there is no outstanding secured obligation and no commitment to make advances, incur obligations or otherwise give value, the secured party must file with each filing officer with whom the financing statement was filed, a termination statement to the effect that he no longer claims a security interest under the financing statement, which shall be identified by file number. In other cases whenever there is no outstanding secured obligation and no commitment to make advances, incur obligations or otherwise give value, the secured party must on written demand by the debtor send the debtor, for each filing officer with whom the financing statement was filed, a termination statement to the effect that he no longer claims a security interest under the financing statement, which shall be identified by file number. A termination statement signed by a person other than the secured party of record must be accompanied by a separate written statement of assignment signed by the secured party of record and complying with subsection (2) of section 9-405, including payment of the required fee. If the affected secured party fails to file such a termination statement as required by this subsection, or to send such a termination statement within ten days after proper demand therefor he shall be liable to the debtor for twenty-five dollars, and in addition for any loss caused to the debtor by such failure.

(2) On presentation to the filing officer of such a termination statement he must note it in the index. If he has received the termination statement in duplicate, he shall return one copy of the termination statement to the secured party stamped to show the time of receipt thereof. If the filing officer has a microfilm or other photographic record of the financing statement, and of any related continuation statement, statement of assignment and statement of release, he may remove the originals from the files at any time after receipt of the termination statement, or if he has no such record, he may remove them from the files at any time after one year after receipt of the termination statement.

(3) The fee for filing and indexing a termination statement including sending or delivering the financing statement shall be two dollars except in registries of deeds where it shall be four dollars.

Section 9-405. Assignment of Security Interest; Duties of Filing Officer; Fees.

(1) A financing statement may disclose an assignment of a security interest in the collateral described in the financing statement by indication in the financing statement of the name and address of the assignee or by an assignment itself or a copy thereof on the face or back of the statement. On presentation to the filing officer of such a financing statement the filing officer shall mark the same as provided in subsection (4) of section 9-403. The uniform fee for filing, indexing and furnishing filing data for a financing statement so indicating an assignment shall be five dollars, except in registries of deeds where it shall be four dollars.

(2) A secured party may assign of record all or part of his rights under a financing statement by the filing in the place where the original financing statement was filed of a separate written statement of assignment signed by the secured party of record and setting forth the name of the secured party of record and the debtor, the file number and the date of filing of the financing statement and the name and address of the assignee and containing a description of the collateral assigned. A copy of the assignment is sufficient as a separate statement if it complies with the preceding sentence. On presentation to the filing officer of such a separate statement, the filing officer shall mark such separate statement with the date and hour of the filing. He shall note the assignment on the index of the financing statement, or in the case of a fixture filing, or a filing covering timber to be cut, or covering minerals or the like, including oil and gas, or accounts subject to subsection (5) of section 9-103, he shall index the assignment under the name of the assignor as grantor and, to the extent that the law of this state provides for indexing the assignment of a mortgage under the name of the assignee, he shall index the assignment of the financing statement under the name of the assignee. The uniform fee for filing, indexing and furnishing filing data about such a separate statement of assignment shall be five dollars, except in registries of deeds where it shall be four dollars. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, an assignment of record of a security interest in a fixture contained in a mortgage effective as a fixture filing (subsection (6) of section 9-402) may be made only by an assignment of the mortgage in the manner provided otherwise by special or general law.

(3) After the disclosure or filing of an assignment under this section, the assignee is the secured party of record.

Section 9-406. Release of Collateral; Duties of Filing Officer; Fees. A secured party of record may by his signed statement release all or a part of any collateral described in a filed financing statement. The statement of release is sufficient if it contains a description of the collateral being released, the name and address of the debtor, the name and address of the secured party, and the file number of the financing statement. A statement of release signed by a person other than the secured party of record must be accompanied by a separate written statement of assignment signed by the secured party of record and complying with subsection (2) of section 9-405, including payment of the required fee. Upon presentation of such a statement of release to the filing officer he shall mark the statement with the hour and date of filing and shall note the same upon the margin of the index of the filing of the financing statement. The uniform fee for filing and noting such a statement of release shall be five dollars, except in registries of deeds where it shall be four dollars.

Section 9-407. Information From Filing Officer. (1) If the person filing any financing statement, termination statement, statement of assignment or statement of release, furnishes the filing officer a copy thereof, the filing officer shall upon request note upon the copy the file number and date and hour of the filing of the original and deliver or send the copy to such person.

(2) Upon request of any person, the filing officer, except the registers of deeds and assistant recorders of the land court, shall issue his certificate showing whether there is on file on the date and hour stated therein, any presently effective financing statement naming a particular debtor and any statement of assignment thereof and, if there is, giving the date and hour of filing of each such statement and the names and address of each secured party named therein. The fee for such a certificate shall be five dollars. Upon request the filing officer shall furnish a copy of any filed financing statement, continuation statement, termination statement, statement of assignment or statement of release for a fee of two dollars and, if such statement consists of more than three pages, an additional fee of one dollar for the fourth and each succeeding page.

Section 9-408. Financing Statements Covering Consigned or Leased Goods. A consignor or lessor of goods may file a financing statement using the terms "consignor", "consignee", "lessor", "lessee" or the like instead of the terms specified in section 9-402. The provisions of this part shall apply as appropriate to such a financing statement but its filing shall not of itself be a factor in determining whether or not the consignment or lease is intended as security (subsection (37) of section 1-201). However, if it is determined for other reasons that the consignment or lease is so intended, a security interest of the consignor or lessor which attaches to the consigned or leased goods is perfected by such filing.

Section 9-409. Destruction of Old Records. Unless a filing officer has notice of an action pending relative thereto, he may remove from the files and destroy.

(a) a lapsed financing statement, a lapsed continuation statement, a statement of assignment or release relating to either, and any index of any of them, one year or more after lapse; and

(b) a termination statement and the index on which it is noted, one year or more after the filing of the termination statement.

Section 9-410. Special Provisions for Filings as to Fixtures in Registries of Deeds; Duties of Registers of Deeds.

(1) Financing statements, security agreements, continuation statements, amendments, termination statements, statements of assignment and statements of release which are filed in registries of deeds and which comply with the requirements of this Part shall be recorded and indexed in the manner provided in chapter thirty-six if they relate to unregistered land, and shall be registered in the manner provided in chapter one hundred and eighty-five if they relate to registered land. Each statement and amendment shall be indexed according to the name of the debtor and, if the statement shows the name of a record owner of the real estate which is other than that of the debtor, the statement shall also be indexed according to the name of such record owner. Except as provided in subsection (3), the fees for recording, indexing and registering shall be as provided in this Part.

(2) In addition to other requirements of this Part, a continuation statement, amendment, termination statement, statement of assignment or statement of release which is filed in a registry of deeds must refer to the record of the original financing statement by book and page if it related to unregistered land and by document number if it relates to registered land. The register of deeds shall enter upon the margin of the record of the original financing statement a notation of the record of the subsequent statement or amendment.

(3) If a person filing any financing statement, continuation statement, amendment, termination statement, statement of assignment or statement of release, furnishes the register of deeds a copy thereof, the register of deeds shall upon request note upon the copy the file number and date and hour of the filing of the original and deliver or send the copy to such person.

PART 5. DEFAULT.

Section 9-501. Default; Procedure When Security Agreement Covers Both Real and Personal Property.

(1) When a debtor is in default under a security agreement, a secured party has the rights and remedies provided in this Part and except as limited by subsection (3) those provided in the security agreement. He may reduce his claim to judgment, foreclose or otherwise enforce the security interest by any available judicial procedure. If the collateral is documents the secured party may proceed either as to the documents or as to the goods covered thereby. A secured party in possession has the rights, remedies and duties provided in section 9-207. The rights and remedies referred to in this subsection are cumulative.

(2) After default, the debtor has the rights and remedies provided in this Part, those provided in the security agreement and those provided in section 9-207.

(3) To the extent that they give rights to the debtor and impose duties on the secured party, the rules stated in the subsections referred to below may not be waived or varied except as provided with respect to compulsory disposition of collateral (subsection (3) of sections 9-504 and 9-505) and with respect to redemption of collateral (section 9-506) but the parties may by agreement determine the standards by which the fulfillment of these rights and duties is to be measured if such standards are not manifestly unreasonable:

(a) subsection (2) of section 9-502 and subsection (2) of section 9-504 insofar as they require accounting for surplus proceeds of collateral;

(b) subsection (3) of section 9-504 and subsection (1) of section 9-505 which deal with disposition of collateral;

(c) subsection (2) of section 9-505 which deals with acceptance of collateral as discharge of obligation;

(d) section 9-505 which deals with redemption of collateral; and

(e) subsection (1) of section 9-507 which deals with the secured party's liability for failure to comply with this Part.

(4) If the security agreement covers both real and personal property, the secured party may proceed under this Part as to the personal property in accordance with his rights and remedies in respect of the real property in which case the provisions of this Part do not apply.

(5) When a secured party has reduced his claim to judgment the lien of any levy which may be made upon his collateral by virtue of any execution based upon the judgment shall relate back to the date of the perfection of the security interest in such collateral. A judicial sale, pursuant to such execution, is a foreclosure of the security interest by judicial procedure within the meaning of the section, and the secured party may purchase at the sale and thereafter hold the collateral free of any other requirements of this Article.

Section 9-502. Collection Rights of Secured Party.

(1) When so agreed and in any event on default the secured party is entitled to notify an account debtor or the obligor or an instrument to make payment to him whether or not the assignor was theretofore making collections on the collateral, and also to take control of any proceeds to which he is entitled under section 9-306.

(2) A secured party who by agreement is entitled to charge back uncollected collateral or otherwise to full or limited recourse against the debtor and who undertakes to collect from the account debtors or obligors must proceed in a commercially reasonable manner and may deduct his reasonable expenses of realization from the collections. If the security agreement secures an indebtedness, the secured party must account to the debtor for any surplus, and unless otherwise agreed, the debtor is liable for any deficiency. But, if the underlying transaction was a sale of accounts or chattel paper, the debtor is entitled to any surplus or is liable for any deficiency only if the security agreement so provides.

Section 9-503. Secured Party's Right to Take Possession After Default. Unless otherwise agreed a secured party has on default the right to take possession of the collateral. In taking possession a secured party may proceed without judicial process if this can be done without breach of the peace or may proceed by action. If the security agreement so provides the secured party may require the debtor to assemble the collateral and make it available to the secured party at a place to be designated by the secured party which is reasonably convenient to both parties. Without removal a secured party may render equipment unusable, and may dispose of collateral on the debtor's premises under section 9-504.

Section 9-504. Secured Party's Right to Dispose of Collateral After Default; Effect of Disposition.

(1) A secured party after default may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of any or all of the collateral in its then condition or following any commercially reasonable preparation or processing. Any sale of goods is subject to the Article on Sales (Article 2).

The proceeds of disposition shall be applied in the order following to

(a) the reasonable expenses of retaking, holding, preparing for sale or lease, selling, leasing and the like and, to the extent provided for in the agreement and not prohibited by law, the reasonable attorneys' fees and legal expenses incurred by the secured party;

(b) the satisfaction of indebtedness secured by the security interest under which the disposition is made;

(c) the satisfaction of indebtedness secured by any subordinate security interest in the collateral if written notification of demand therefor is received before distribution of the proceeds is completed. If requested by the secured party, the holder of a subordinate security interest must seasonably furnish reasonable proof of his interest, and unless he does so, the secured party need not comply with his demand.

(2) If the security interest secures an indebtedness, the secured party must account to the debtor for any surplus and, unless otherwise agreed, the debtor is liable for any deficiency. But if the underlying transaction was a sale of accounts or chattel paper, the debtor is entitled to any surplus or is liable for any deficiency only if the security agreement so provides.

(3) Disposition of the collateral may be by public or private proceedings and may be made by way of one or more contracts. Sale or other disposition may be as a unit or in parcels and at any time and place and on any terms but every aspect of the disposition including the method, manner, time, place and terms must be commercially reasonable. Unless collateral is perishable or threatens to decline speedily in value or is of a type customarily sold on a recognized market, reasonable notification of the time and place of any public sale or reasonable notification of the time after which any private sale or other intended disposition is to be made shall be sent by the secured party to the debtor, if he has not signed after default a statement renouncing or modifying his right to notification of sale. In the case of consumer goods no other notification need be sent. In other cases notification shall be sent to any other secured party from whom the secured party has received, before sending his notification to the debtor or before the debtor's renunciation of his rights, written notice of a claim of an interest in the collateral. The secured party may buy at any public sale and if the collateral is of a type customarily sold in a recognized market or is of a type which is the subject of widely distributed stand price quotations he may buy at private sale.

(4) When collateral is disposed of by a secured party after default, the disposition transfers to a purchaser for value all of the debtor's rights therein, discharges the security interest under which it is made and any security interest or lien subordinate thereto. The purchaser takes free of all such rights and interests even though the secured party fails to comply with the requirements of this Part or of any judicial proceedings

(a) in the case of a public sale, if the purchaser has no knowledge of any defects in the sale and if he does not buy in collusion with the secured party, other bidders or the person conducting the sale; or

(b) in any other case, if the purchaser acts in good faith.

(5) A person who is liable to a secured party under a guaranty, indorsement, repurchase agreement or the like and who receives a transfer of collateral from the secured party or is subrogated to his rights has thereafter the rights and duties of the secured party. Such a transfer of collateral is not a sale or disposition of the collateral under this Article.

Section 9-505. Compulsory Disposition of Collateral Acceptance of the Collateral as Discharge of Obligation.

(1) If the debtor has paid sixty per cent of the cash price in the case of a purchase money security interest in consumer goods or sixty per cent of the loan in the case of another security interest in consumer goods, and has not signed after default a statement renouncing or modifying his rights under this Part a secured party who has taken possession of collateral must dispose of it under section 9-504 and if he fails to do so within ninety days after he takes possession the debtor at his option may recover in conversion or under subsection (1) of section 9-507 on secured party's liability.

(2) In any other case involving consumer goods or any other collateral a secured party in possession may, after default, propose to retain the collateral in satisfaction of the obligation. Written notice of such proposal shall be sent to the debtor if he has not signed after default a statement renouncing or modifying his rights under this subsection. In the case of consumer goods no other notice need be given. In other cases notice shall be sent to any other secured party from whom the secured party has received, before sending his notice to the debtor or before the debtor's renunciation of his rights, written notice of a claim of an interest in the collateral. If the secured party receives objection in writing from a person entitled to receive notification within twenty-one days after the notice was sent, the secured party must dispose of the collateral under section 9-504. In the absence of such written objection the secured party may retain the collateral in satisfaction of the debtor's obligation.

Section 9-506. Debtor's Right to Redeem Collateral. At any time before the secured party has disposed of collateral or entered into a contract for its disposition under section 9-504 or before the obligation has been discharged under subsection (2) of section 9-505 the debtor or any other secured party may unless otherwise agreed in writing after default redeem the collateral by tendering fulfillment of all obligations secured by the collateral as well as the expenses reasonably incurred by the secured party in retaking, holding and preparing the collateral for disposition, in arranging for the sale, and to the extent provided in the agreement and not prohibited by law, his reasonable attorneys' fees and legal expenses.

Section 9-507. Secured Party's Liability for Failure to Comply with This Part.

(1) If it is established that the secured party is not proceeding in accordance with the provisions of this Part disposition may be ordered or restrained on appropriate terms and conditions. If the disposition has occurred the debtor or any person entitled to notification or whose security interest has been made known to the secured party prior to the disposition has a right to recover from the secured party any loss caused by a failure to comply with the provisions of this Part. If the collateral is consumer goods, the debtor has a right to recover in any event an amount not less than the credit service charge plus ten per cent of the principal amount of the debt or the time price differential plus ten per cent of the cash price.

(2) The fact that a better price could have been obtained by a sale at a different time or in a different method from that selected by the secured party is not of itself sufficient to establish that the sale was not made in a commercially reasonable manner. If the secured party either sells the collateral in the usual manner in any recognized market therefor or if he sells at the price current in such market at the time of his sale or if he has otherwise sold in conformity with reasonable commercial practices amount dealers in the type of property sold he has sold in a commercially reasonable manner. The principles stated in the two preceding sentences with respect to sales also apply as may be appropriate to other types of disposition. A disposition which has been approved in any judicial proceeding or by any bona fide creditors' committee or representative of creditors shall conclusively be deemed to be commercially reasonable, but this sentence does not indicate that any such approval must be obtained in any case nor does it indicate that any disposition not so approved is not commercially reasonable.

SECTION 8. For the purpose of sections nine to fifteen, inclusive, the term the "old U.C.C." shall mean chapter one hundred and six of the General Laws in effect subsequent to October first, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight and prior to the effective date of this act, and the term "new U.C.C." shall mean said chapter one hundred and six, as amended by sections one to seven, inclusive, of this act.

SECTION 9. The provisions of section nineteen of chapter seven hundred and sixty-five of the acts of nineteen hundred and fifty-seven shall continue to apply to the new U.C.C. and for this purpose the old U.C.C. and the new U.C.C. shall be considered one statute.

SECTION 10. Transactions validly entered into after October first, nineteen hundred and fifty-eight and before the effective date of this act, and which were subject to the provisions of the old U.C.C. and which would be subject to the provisions of the new U.C.C. if they had been entered into after the effective date of this act and the rights, duties and interests flowing from such transactions remain valid after the effective date of this act and may be terminated, completed, consummated or enforced as required or permitted by the new U.C.C. Security interests arising out of such transactions which are perfected when this act becomes effective shall remain perfected until they lapse as provided in the new U.C.C., and may be continued as permitted by the new U.C.C., except as stated in section thirteen.

SECTION 11. A security interest for the perfection of which filing or the taking of possession was required under the old

U.C.C. and which attached prior to the effective date of this act but was not perfected shall be deemed perfected on the effective date of this act if the new U.C.C. permits perfection without filing or authorizes filing in the office or offices where a prior ineffective filing was made.

SECTION 12. A financing statement or continuation statement filed prior to the effective date of this act which shall not have lapsed prior to the effective date of this act shall remain effective for the period provided in the old U.C.C., but not less than five years after filing.

With respect to any collateral acquired by the debtor subsequent to the effective date of this act, any effective financing statement or continuation statement described in this section shall apply only if the filing or filings are in the office or offices that would be appropriate to perfect the security interests in the new collateral under the new U.C.C.

The effectiveness of any financing statement or continuation statement filed prior to the effective date of this act may be continued by a continuation statement as permitted by the new U.C.C., except that if the new U.C.C. requires a filing in an office where there was no previous financing statement, a new financing statement conforming to section thirteen of this act shall be filed in that office.

If the record of a mortgage of real estate would have been effective as a fixture filing of goods described therein if the new U.C.C. had been in effect on the date of recording the mortgage, the mortgage shall be deemed effective as a fixture filing as to such goods under subsection (6) of section 9-402 of the new U.C.C. on the effective date of this act.

SECTION 13. If a security interest is perfected or has priority when this act takes effect as to all persons or as to certain persons without any filing or recording, and if the filing of a financing statement would be required for the perfection or priority of the security interest against those persons under the new U.C.C., the perfection and priority rights of the security interest continue until three years after the effective date of this act. The perfection shall then lapse unless a financing statement is filed as provided hereinafter or unless the security interest is perfected otherwise than by filing.

If a security interest is perfected when the new U.C.C. takes effect under a law other than the old U.C.C. which requires no further filing, refiling or recording to continue its perfection, perfection continues until and shall lapse three years after the effective date of this act, unless a financing statement is filed as hereinafter provided or unless the security interest is perfected otherwise than by filing, or unless under subsection (3) of section 9-302 of the new U.C.C. the other law continues to govern filing.

(3) If a security interest is perfected by a filing, refiling or recording under a law repealed by this act which required further filing, refiling or recording to continue its perfection, perfection continues and shall lapse on the date provided by the law so repealed for such further filing, refiling or recording unless a financing statement is filed as hereinafter provided or unless the security interest is perfected otherwise than by filing.

A financing statement may be filed within six months before the perfection of a security interest would otherwise lapse. Any such financing statement may be signed by either the debtor or the secured party. It must identify the security agreement, statement or notice, however denominated in any statute or other law repealed or modified by this act, state the office where and the date when the last filing, refiling or recording, if any, was made with respect thereto, and the filing number, if any, or book and page, if any, of recording and further state that the security agreement, statement or notice, however denominated, in another filing office under the old U.C.C. or under any statute or other law repealed or modified by this act is still effective. Sections 9-103 and 9-401 of the new U.C.C. determine the proper place to file such a financing statement. Except as specified in this subsection, the provisions of subsection (3) of section 9-403 of the new U.C.C. for continuation statements apply to such a financing statement.

SECTION 14. Except as otherwise provided in sections eight to thirteen, inclusive, of this act, the old U.C.C. shall apply to any questions of priority if the positions of the parties were fixed prior to the effective date of the new U.C.C. In other cases questions of priority shall be determined by the new U.C.C.

SECTION 15. Unless a change in law has clearly been made, the provisions of the new U.C.C. shall be deemed declaratory of the meaning of the old U.C.C.

SECTION 16. This act shall take effect on January first, nineteen hundred and eighty.

Approved August 16, 1979.

SECTION 4. Said subdivision 2 of said section 9 of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by striking out paragraph (b), added by section 3 of chapter 1145 of the acts of 1973, and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:-

(b) The minimum standard for the valuation of all individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued on or after January first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, and for all annuities and pure endowments purchased on or after such date under group annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods, as defined in subdivisions 3 and 3A, and the tables of mortality and interest rates hereinafter specified.

First, for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts issued prior to December first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, excluding any disability and accidental death benefit in such contracts, the "1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table", or any modification of this table approved by the commissioner, and six per cent interest per annum for single premium immediate annuity contracts, and four per cent interest per annum for all other individual annuity and pure endowment contracts.

SECTION 5. Said section 9 of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by striking out subdivisions 3 and 4 and inserting in place thereof the following three subdivisions:-

3. Except as otherwise provided in subdivisions 3A and 6, the net value of the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies, referred to in subdivision 2, providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (a) a net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of one per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due; provided, that such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the nineteen year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age one year higher than the age at issue of such policy, over (b) a net one year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year.

The net value of (a) policies of life insurance providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums (b) group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer, including a partnership or sole proprietorship, or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, (c) provisions for total and permanent disability or for accidental death benefits in, or supplementary to, all policies and contracts, and (d) provisions for any other insurance benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies and benefits provided by all other annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall be computed by a method consistent with the principles of the first paragraph of this subdivision, except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums.

3A. This subdivision shall apply to all annuity and pure endowment contracts other than group annuity and pure endowment contracts purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation, established or maintained by an employer, including a partnership or sole proprietorship, or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Reserves according to the Commissioners Annuity Reserve Method for benefits under annuity or pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such contracts, shall be the greatest of the respective excesses of the present values, at the date of valuation, of the future guaranteed benefits, including guaranteed nonforfeiture benefits, provided for by such contracts at the end of each respective contract year, over the present value, at the date of valuation, of any future valuation considerations derived from future gross considerations, required by the terms of such contract, that become payable prior to the end of such respective contract year. The future guaranteed benefits shall be determined by using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rate, or rates, specified in such contracts for determining guaranteed benefits. The valuation considerations are the portions of the respective gross considerations applied under the terms of such contracts to determine nonforfeiture values.

4. The aggregate net value of all life insurance policies, excluding total and permanent disability and accidental death benefits, described in subdivision 2, shall in no case be less than the aggregate net value computed in accordance with the Commissioners Reserve Valuation Methods, as defined in subdivisions 3, 3A and 6 and the mortality table or tables and the rate or rates of interest used in computing the nonforfeiture benefits under such policies.

The net value of any class or classes of policies or contracts described in subdivision 2, established by the commissioner, may be computed, at the option of the company, on any basis which produces aggregate reserves for such class or classes greater than those computed according to the minimum standard prescribed by subdivision 2; provided, that the rate or rates of interest used for policies and contracts, other than annuity and pure endowment contracts, shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates used in computing any nonforfeiture benefits thereunder.

SECTION 6. Said section 9 of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by striking out subdivisions 6 and 7 and inserting in place thereof the following two subdivisions:-

6. If, in the case in any contract year the gross premium charged on any life policy or annuity or pure endowment contract, described in this section, is less than the valuation net premium therefor calculated by the method used in computing the net value thereof but using the minimum valuation standards of mortality and rate of interest, the minimum reserve required for such policy or contract shall be the greater of either the reserve calculated according to the mortality table, rate of interest, and method actually used for such policy or contract, or the reserve calculated by the method actually used for such policy or contract but using the minimum standards of mortality and rate of interest and replacing the valuation net premium by the actual gross premium in each contract year for which the valuation net premium exceeds the actual gross premium.

7. When the commissioner is satisfied that the risks which a company has assumed under policies or contracts referred to in subdivision 1 cannot be properly measured by the mortality tables specified in said subdivision, he may compute such additional reserve as in his judgment is warranted by the extra hazard assumed, and he may further in his discretion prescribe such table or tables of mortality as he may deem necessary properly to measure such additional risks with interest at not greater than four and one-half per cent per annum, for the computation of the net value of any special class or classes of risks.

SECTION 7. Subdivision 6 of section 144 of said chapter 175 is hereby amended by striking out paragraph (b), as amended by section 4 of chapter 1145 of the acts of 1973, and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:-

(b) In the case of policies of ordinary insurance issued on or after January first, nineteen hundred and sixty-six, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall be computed on the basis of the "Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table", and the rate of interest specified in the policy for the computation of the cash surrender values and other nonforfeiture benefits provided that such rate of interest shall not exceed three and one-half per cent per annum for policies issued prior to March sixth, nineteen hundred and seventy-four, shall not exceed four per cent per annum for policies issued on or after March sixth, nineteen hundred and seventy-four and prior to December first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine and shall not exceed five and one-half per cent per annum for policies issued on or after December first, nineteen hundred and seventy-nine, provided that for any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be computed according to an age not more than six years younger than the actual age of the insured; and provided further that in computing the present value of any extended term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, the rates of mortality assumed may not be more than those shown in the "Commissioners 1958 Extended Term Insurance Tables"; and provided, further, that in the case of any policy issued on a substandard basis any such adjusted premiums and present values may be computed on such other table of mortality as the company may specify with the approval of the commissioner.

SECTION 8. Said section 144 of said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by striking out subdivision 9, as appearing in section 3 of chapter 227 of the acts of 1943, and inserting in place thereof the following subdivision:-

9. Every deferred annuity contract, other than a single premium contract, issued and delivered in the commonwealth by a domestic life company shall provide that, in the event of the nonpayment of any premium after three full years' premiums have been paid, the annuity shall, without any further act or stipulation, be converted into a paid-up annuity for such proportion of the original annuity as the number of completed years' premiums paid bears to the total number of premiums required under the contract; provided, however, that this subdivision shall not apply to any annuity contract subject to the provisions of section one hundred and forty-four A.

SECTION 9. Said chapter 175 is hereby further amended by inserting after section 144 the following section:-

Section 144A. 1. In the case of contracts issued on or after December first, nineteen hundred and eighty-one, no contract of annuity, except as stated in subdivision 10, shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state unless it contains in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commission are at least as favorable to the contract holder, upon cessation of payment of considerations under the contract.

(a) That upon cessation of payment of considerations under a contract, the company will grant a paid-up annuity benefit on a plan stipulated in the contract of such value as is specified in subdivisions 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8.

(b) If a contract provides for a lump sum settlement at maturity, or at any other time, that upon surrender of the contract at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments, the company will pay in lieu of any paid-up annuity benefit a cash surrender benefit of such amount as is specified in subdivisions 3, 4, 6 and 8. The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of such cash surrender benefit for a period of six months after demand therefor with surrender of the contract.

(c) A statement of the mortality table, if any, and interest rates used in calculating any minimum paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that are guaranteed under the contract, together with sufficient information to determine the amounts of such benefits.

(d) A statement that any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits that may be available under the contract are not less than the minimum benefits required by any statute of the state in which the contract is delivered and an explanation of the manner in which such benefits are altered by the existence of any additional amounts credited by the company to the contract, any indebtedness to the company on the contract or any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract.

Notwithstanding the requirements of this section, any deferred annuity contract may provide that if no considerations have been received under a contract for a period of two full years and the portion of the paid-up annuity benefit at maturity on the plan stipulated in the contract arising from considerations paid prior to such period would be less than twenty dollars monthly, the company may at its option terminate such contract by payment in cash of the then present value of such portion of the paid-up annuity benefit, calculated on the basis of the mortality table, if any, and interest rate specified in the contract for determining the paid-up annuity benefit, and by such payment shall be relieved of any further obligation under such contract.

2. The minimum values as specified in subdivisions 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8 of any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available under an annuity contract shall be based upon the following nonforfeiture amounts:

(a) With respect to contracts providing for flexible considerations, the minimum nonforfeiture amount at any time at or prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall be equal to an accumulation up to such time at a rate of interest of three per cent per annum of percentages of the net considerations, as hereinafter defined, paid prior to such time, decreased by the sum of

(i) any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract accumulated at a rate of interest of three per cent per annum; and

(ii) the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued; and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract.

The net considerations for a given contract year used to define the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be an amount not less than zero and shall be equal to the corresponding gross considerations credited to the contract during that contract year less an annual contract charge of thirty dollars and less a collection charge of one dollar and twenty-five cents per consideration credited to the contract during that contract year. The percentages of net considerations shall be sixty-five per cent of the net consideration for the first contract year and eighty-seven and one-half per cent of the net considerations for the second and later contract years. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding sentence, the percentage shall be sixty-five per cent of the portion of the total net consideration for any renewal contract year which exceeds by not more than two times the sum of those portions of the net considerations in all prior contract years for which the percentage was sixty-five per cent.

(b) With respect to contracts providing for fixed scheduled considerations, minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be calculated on the assumption that considerations are paid annually in advance and shall be defined as for contracts with flexible considerations which are paid annually with the two following exceptions:

(1) The portion of the net consideration for the first contract year to be accumulated shall be the sum of sixty-five per cent of the net consideration for the first contract year plus twenty-two and one-half per cent of the excess of the net consideration for the first contract year over the lesser of the net considerations for the second and third contract years.

(2) The annual contract charge shall be the lesser of (i) thirty dollars or (ii) ten per cent of the gross annual considerations.

minimum nonforfeiture amounts shall be defined as for contracts with flexible considerations except that the percentage of net consideration used to determine the minimum nonforfeiture amount shall be equal to ninety per cent and the net consideration shall be the gross consideration less a contract charge of seventy-five dollars.

3. Any paid-up annuity benefit available under a contract shall be such that its present value on the date annuity payments are to commence is at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount on that date. Such present value shall be computed using the mortality table, if any, and the interest rates specified in the contract for determining the minimum paid-up annuity benefits guaranteed in the contract.

4. For contracts which provide cash surrender benefits, such cash surrender benefits available prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value as of the date of surrender of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit which would be provided under the contract at maturity arising from considerations paid prior to the time of cash surrender reduced by the amount appropriate to reflect any prior withdrawals from or partial surrenders of the contract, such present value being calculated on the basis of an interest rate not more than one per cent higher than the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value, decreased by the amount of indebtedness to the company on the contract, including interest due and accrued, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. In no event shall any cash surrender benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time. The death benefit under such contracts shall be at least equal to the cash surrender benefit.

5. For contracts which do not provide cash surrender benefits, the present value of any paid-up annuity benefit available as a nonforfeiture option at any time prior to maturity shall not be less than the present value of that portion of the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit provided under the contract arising from considerations paid prior to the time the contract is surrendered in exchange for, or changed to, a deferred paid-up annuity, such present value being calculated for the period prior to the maturity date on the basis of the interest rate specified in the contract for accumulating the net considerations to determine such maturity value, and increased by any existing additional amounts credited by the company to the contract. For contracts which do not provide any death benefits prior to commencement of any annuity payments, such present values shall be calculated on the basis of such interest rate and the mortality table specified in the contract for determining the maturity value of the paid-up annuity benefit. However, in no event shall the present value of a paid-up annuity benefit be less than the minimum nonforfeiture amount at that time.

6. For the purpose of determining the benefits calculated under subdivisions 4 and 5, in the case of annuity contracts under which an election may be made to have annuity payments commence at optional maturity dates, the maturity date shall be deemed to be the latest date for which election shall be permitted by the contract, but shall not be deemed to be later than the anniversary of the contract next following the annuitant's seventieth birthday or the tenth anniversary of the contract, whichever is later.

7. Any contract which does not provide cash surrender benefits or does not provide death benefits at least equal to the minimum nonforfeiture amount prior to the commencement of any annuity payments shall include a statement in a prominent place in the contract that such benefits are not provided.

8. Any paid-up annuity, cash surrender or death benefits available at any time, other than on the contract anniversary under any contract with fixed scheduled considerations, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of any scheduled considerations beyond the beginning of the contract year in which cessation of payment of considerations under the contract occurs.

9. For any contract which provides, within the same contract by rider or supplemental contract provision, both annuity benefits and life insurance benefits that are in excess of the greater of cash surrender benefits or a return of the gross considerations with interest, the minimum nonforfeiture benefits shall be equal to the sum of the minimum nonforfeiture benefits for the annuity portion and the minimum nonforfeiture benefits, if any, for the life insurance portion computed as if each portion were a separate contract. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions 3, 4, 5, 6 and 8, additional benefits payable (a) in the event of total and permanent disability, (b) as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits, or (c) as other policy benefits additional to life insurance, endowment and annuity benefits and considerations for all such additional benefits, shall be disregarded in ascertaining the minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits that may be required by this section. The inclusion of such additional benefits shall not be required in any paid-up benefits, unless such additional benefits separately would require minimum nonforfeiture amounts, paid-up annuity, cash surrender and death benefits.

10. This section shall not apply to any reinsurance, group annuity purchased under a retirement plan or plan of deferred compensation established or maintained by an employer, including a partnership or sole proprietorship, or by an employee organization, or by both, other than a plan providing individual retirement accounts or individual retirement annuities under Section 408 of the Internal Revenue Code, premium deposit fund, variable annuity, investment annuity, immediate annuity, any deferred annuity contract after annuity payments have commenced, or reversionary annuity, nor to any contract which shall be delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the contract.

Chap. 571. AN ACT ESTABLISHING AN ADDITIONAL CATEGORY OF LONG TERM CARE FACILITIES TO BE KNOWN AS INTERMEDIATE CARE FACILITIES FOR THE MENTALLY RETARDED AND REQUIRING THAT SUCH FACILITIES BE INSPECTED AND LICENSED BY THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter 111 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out section 71, as most recently amended by section 2 of chapter 868 of the acts of 1977, and inserting in place thereof the following section:-

Section 71. The department shall issue for a term of two years, and shall renew for like terms, a license, subject to revocation by it for cause, to any person whom it deems responsible and suitable to establish or maintain an infirmary maintained in a town, a convalescent or nursing home, a rest home, a charitable home for the aged or an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, which meets the requirements of the department established in accordance with its rules and regulations; provided, however, that each convalescent or nursing home and each intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded shall be inspected at least once a year.

No original license shall be issued to establish or maintain an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, unless there is a determination by the department that there is a need for such facility at the designated location; provided, however, that in the case of a facility previously licensed as an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded in which there is a change in ownership, no such determination shall be required and in the case of a facility previously licensed as an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded in which there is a change in location, such determination shall be limited to consideration of the suitability of the new location.

In the case of the transfer of ownership of a convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, the application of the new owner for a license shall have the effect of a license for a period of three months when filed with the department.

The department shall not reduce the number of beds originally approved by it in granting a license for a convalescent or nursing home or rest home upon the transfer of ownership of said convalescent or nursing home or rest home from one licensee to another, unless the public safety requires it.

In the case of an application for the renewal of a license, the local board of health shall first certify to the department that from its inspection and examination of said convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home or charitable home for the aged, it is suitable for the purpose. Any person aggrieved by the refusal of the local board of health to certify as required above may in writing appeal to the department. The commissioner and the council, acting as the department, shall hold a public hearing in the nature of an adjudicatory proceeding as provided in chapter thirty A and may modify, affirm or reverse the action of the local board of health.

No original license shall be issued or no license renewed hereunder unless there shall be first submitted to the department by the authorities in charge of the convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded with respect to each building occupied by patients, (1) a certificate of inspection of the egresses, the means of preventing the spread of fire and apparatus for extinguishing fire, issued by an inspector of the division of inspection of the department of public safety, and (2) a certificate of inspection issued by the head of the local fire department certifying compliance with the local ordinances.

Any applicant for an original or renewal license who is aggrieved, on the basis of a written disapproval of a certificate of inspection by the head of the local fire department or by the division of inspection of the department of public safety, may, within thirty days from such disapproval, appeal in writing to the department of public safety. Failure to either approve or disapprove within thirty days, after a written request by an applicant, shall be deemed a disapproval.

If the department of public safety approves the issuance of a certificate of inspection, it shall forthwith be issued by the agency that failed to approve. If said department disapproves, the applicant may appeal therefrom to the superior court. Failure of said department to either approve or disapprove the issuance of a certificate of inspection within thirty days after receipt of an appeal shall be deemed a disapproval. No original license shall be issued or no license shall be renewed by the department of public health until issuance of an approved certificate of inspection, as required in this section.

Nothing in this section or in section seventy-two or seventy-three shall be construed to revoke, supersede or otherwise affect any laws, ordinances, by-laws, rules or regulations relating to building, zoning, registration or maintenance of a convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home or charitable home for the aged.

Upon a written request by an applicant who is aggrieved by the revocation of a license or the refusal of the department to renew a license, the commissioner and the council shall hold a public hearing, after due notice, and thereafter they may modify, affirm or reverse the action of the department; provided, however, that the department may not refuse to renew and may not revoke the license of a convalescent or nursing home, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded until after a hearing before a hearings officer, and any such applicant so aggrieved shall have all the rights provided in chapter thirty A with respect to adjudicatory proceedings.

In no case shall the revocation of such a license take effect in less than thirty days after written notification by the department to the convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded.

The fee for the issue or renewal of each license in the case of a convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded shall be twenty-five dollars, and the license shall not be transferable or assignable and shall be issued only for the premises named in the application.

For the purposes of this section and sections seventy-two, seventy-two A and seventy-three, a convalescent or nursing home is defined as any institution, however named, whether conducted for charity or profit, which is advertised, announced or maintained for the express or implied purpose of caring for three or more persons admitted thereto for the purpose of nursing or convalescent care. An infirmary maintained in a town is an infirmary which hitherto the department of public welfare has been directed to visit by section seven of chapter one hundred and twenty-one. A rest home is defined as any institution, however named, which is advertised, announced or maintained for the express or implied purpose of providing care incident to old age to three or more persons who are ambulatory and who need supervision. A charitable home for the aged is defined as any institution, however named, conducted for charitable purposes and maintained for the purpose of providing a retirement home for elderly persons and which may provide nursing care within the home for its residents. An intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded is defined as any institution, however named, whether conducted for charity or profit, which is advertised, announced or maintained for the purpose of providing habilitative services and active treatment to mentally retarded persons or persons with related conditions, as defined in regulations promulgated pursuant to Title XIX of the federal Social Security Act (P.L. 89-97); which is not both owned and operated by a state agency; and which makes application to the department for a license for the purpose of participating in the federal program established by said Title XIX. An original license shall mean a license issued to a convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, not previously licensed or a license issued to an existing convalescent or nursing home, infirmary maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded in which there has been a change in ownership or location; provided, however, that an application for a license to establish or maintain a charitable home for the aged by any person licensed hereunder shall be deemed an application for renewal of a license and not an application for an original license.

Nursing institutions licensed by the department of mental health for mental cases shall not be licensed or inspected by the department of public health. The inspections herein provided shall be in addition to any other inspections required by law.

In the case of new construction, or major addition, alteration, or repair with respect to any facility subject to this section, preliminary architectural plans and specifications and final architectural plans and specifications shall be submitted to a qualified person designated by the commissioner. Written approval of the final architectural plans and specifications shall be obtained from said person prior to said new construction, or major addition, alteration, or repair.

Notwithstanding any of the foregoing provisions of this section, no original license for the establishment or maintenance of a convalescent or nursing home shall be issued by the department unless the applicant for such license submits to the department a certificate of an inspector of the division of inspection of the department of public safety that each building to be occupied by patients of such convalescent or nursing home meets the construction standards of the state building code, and is of at least type 1-B fireproof construction; provided, however, that this paragraph shall not apply in the instance of change of ownership of a convalescent or nursing home whose license had not been revoked as of the time of such change of ownership; and provided, further, that a public medical institution as defined under section two of chapter one hundred and eighteen E, which meets the construction standards as defined herein, shall not be denied a license as a nursing home under this section because it was not of new construction and designed for the purpose of operating a convalescent or nursing home at the time of application for a license to operate a nursing home. An intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded shall be required to meet the construction standards established for such facilities by Title XIX of the Social Security Act (P.L. 89-97) and any regulations promulgated pursuant thereto, and by regulations promulgated by the department.

The licensee of every convalescent or nursing home or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded shall biennially file with the department, at the time his license is renewed, a sworn statement of the names and addresses of the owners of such home, and, if such licensee is not the owner of the real property occupied and used as such home, the names and addresses of the owners of such real property. In case the licensee is a corporation, such statement shall set forth the names and addresses of all stockholders who, of record, hold ten per cent or more of the capital stock.

The department may, when public necessity and convenience require, or to prevent undue hardship to an applicant or licensee, under such rules and regulations as it may adopt, grant a temporary provisional or probationary license under this section; provided, however, that no such license shall be for a term exceeding one year.

For the purposes of this section "changes in ownership" of a convalescent or nursing home, infirmary, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded shall, in the case of a corporation, mean transfer of a majority of the stock thereof, and in all other cases, a transfer of a majority interest therein.

The department shall notify the secretary of elder affairs forthwith of the pendency of any proceeding of any public hearing or of any action to be taken under this section relating to any convalescent or nursing home, rest home, infirmary maintained in a town, or charitable home for the aged. The department shall notify the commissioner of mental health forthwith of the pendency of any proceeding, public hearing or of any action to be taken under this section relating to any intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded.

SECTION 2. Section 72 of said chapter 111, as most recently amended by section 1 of chapter 877 of the acts of 1975, is hereby further amended by striking out the first and second paragraphs and inserting in place thereof the following two paragraphs:-

The department shall classify convalescent and nursing homes, infirmaries maintained in towns, rest homes, charitable homes for the aged and intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded and shall, after a public hearing, promulgate rules and regulations for the conduct of the same. Such rules and regulations for convalescent and nursing homes, infirmaries maintained in a town, rest homes, charitable homes for the aged and intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded shall include minimum requirements for medical and nursing care, the keeping of proper medical and nursing records, uniform requirements for the handling of patient funds and sanitation. Regulations for intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded shall also include minimum requirements for social services, psychological services and other services appropriate for the care of mentally retarded and developmentally disabled persons and shall limit the size of intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded to not more than fifteen beds. The department in promulgating such rules and regulations for convalescent or nursing homes, rest homes, charitable homes for the aged and intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded shall consider the ability of such facilities to provide service under rates set under the provisions of section thirty-two of chapter six A. No such rule or regulation shall apply to a convalescent or nursing home, rest home, charitable home for the aged, or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded licensed at the time of promulgation of such rule or regulation, or a convalescent or nursing home, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded being constructed at the time of such promulgation under plans approved by the department, unless such rule or regulation has a direct and material relation to patient diet, cleanliness, nursing care or health of the patient, or to habilitative services and active treatment for mentally retarded persons or persons with related conditions; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be interpreted to prevent the department from adopting or interpreting rules and regulations more favorable toward existing convalescent or nursing homes, rest homes, charitable homes for the aged, or intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded.

The department or its agents and the board of health or its agents of the city or town wherein any portion of such convalescent home or nursing home, infirmery maintained in a town, rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded is located may visit and inspect such institution at any time.

SECTION 3. Section 73 of said chapter 111 is hereby amended by striking out the first paragraph, as appearing in section 11 of chapter 891 of the acts of 1967, and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:-

Whoever advertises, announces, establishes or maintains, or is concerned in establishing or maintaining, a convalescent or nursing home, infirmery maintained in a town, a rest home, charitable home for the aged or intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, or is engaged in any such business, without a license granted under section seventy-one, or whoever being licensed under said section violates any provision of sections seventy-one to seventy-three, inclusive, shall for a first offense be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, and for a subsequent offense by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than two years.

SECTION 4. Notwithstanding the provisions of section seventy-one of chapter one hundred and eleven of the General Laws as set forth in section one of this act, whoever is operating a facility which is participating as an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded in the federal program established by Title XIX of the Social Security Act (P.L. 89-97) on the effective date of this act shall apply to the department of public health for a license within thirty days; provided, however, that the department of public health shall not make a determination of need for a facility participating in such federal program on the effective date of this act.

SECTION 5. Notwithstanding the provisions of section seventy-two of chapter one hundred and eleven of the General Laws as set forth in section two of this act, an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded being constructed at the time the department of public health originally promulgates rules and regulations governing the conduct of such intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded shall be subject to all such rules and regulations.

Section 4B. If an employee organization duly recognized as representing the bargaining unit of the uniformed branch of the state police, or the unit representing the metropolitan district commission police officers subordinate to the rank of captain, is engaged in an impasse which has continued for thirty days after the publication of the fact-finder's report pursuant to section nine of chapter one hundred and fifty E of the General Laws, or, if the parties have mutually waived the fact-finding provisions contained in said section nine of said chapter one hundred and fifty E, said employee organization shall petition the board to make an investigation. (2) thirty days have passed since the date of publication of the fact-finding report pursuant to said section nine;

(3) the proceedings for the prevention of any prohibited practices have been exhausted, provided that any such complaints have been filed with the commission prior to the date of the fact-finder's report; and

(4) an impasse exists, the board shall notify the employer and the employee organization that the issues in dispute shall be resolved by a three-member arbitration panel, or when the parties mutually agree, the board shall select a single arbitrator in lieu of the arbitration panel.

Said panel shall be comprised of three arbitrators, one selected by the employer, one selected by the employee organization, and a third impartial arbitrator, who shall act as chairman of the panel, who shall be selected by the two previously selected arbitrators. In the event that either party fails to select an arbitrator or for any reason there is a delay in the naming of an arbitrator, or if the arbitrators fail to select a third arbitrator within the time prescribed by the board, the board shall appoint the arbitrator or arbitrators necessary to complete the panel, which shall act with the same force and effect as if the panel had been selected without intervention of the board.

In the event that the parties mutually elect to use a single arbitrator, selected by the board, the parties shall immediately request the board to appoint said arbitrator, who shall act with the same force and effect as if a three member panel had been selected by the parties.

The single arbitrator or the arbitration panel acting through its chairman, shall conduct a hearing within ten days after the date of appointment of its chairman. The chairman shall give at least seven days notice in writing to each of the other arbitrators. The chairman or single arbitrator shall give like notice to the representatives of the employer and employee organizations of the time and place of such hearing.

The proceedings shall be informal. Any oral or documentary evidence and other data deemed relevant by the arbitration panel or single arbitrator may be received into evidence. The arbitrators shall have the power to administer oaths and to require by subpoena the attendance and testimony of witnesses, the production of books, records, and other evidence relative to or pertinent to the issues presented to them for determination. If any person refuses to obey a subpoena, or refuses to be sworn or to testify, or if any witness, party, or attorney is guilty of any contempt while in attendance at any hearing, the arbitration panel or single arbitrator may, or the district attorney if requested, shall invoke the aid of the superior court within the jurisdiction in which the hearing is being held, whereupon the court shall issue an appropriate order.

A record of the proceedings shall be kept, and the chairman or single arbitrator shall arrange for the necessary recording service. Transcripts may be ordered at the expense of the party ordering them, but the transcripts shall not be necessary for an award by the panel or single arbitrator. The hearing may be continued at the discretion of the panel or single arbitrator and shall be concluded within forty days from the time of commencement. At the conclusion of the hearing, each party shall submit a written statement containing its last and best offer for each of the issues in dispute to the panel or single arbitrator, who shall take said statements under advisement. Within ten days after the conclusion of the hearing, a majority of the panel, or the single arbitrator, shall select as the last and best arbitration award either the employer's written statement of its last and best offer, the employee organization's written statement of its last and best offer, or the recommendations of the fact-finder, if a fact-finding report and recommendations have been issued, and immediately shall give written notice of the selection to the parties. The selection shall be final and binding upon the parties, subject to appropriation. Within thirty calendar days of the last and best offer selection and award, the impartial chairperson of the arbitration panel or, the single arbitrator, shall issue a written opinion inclusive of an analysis of all statutory factors applicable to the proceedings.

At any time before the rendering of an award, the chairman of the arbitration panel or single arbitrator, if he is of the opinion that it would be useful or beneficial to do so, may remand the dispute to the parties for further collective bargaining for a period not to exceed three weeks and notify the board of the remand. If the dispute is remanded for further collective bargaining the time provisions of this act shall be extended for a time period equal to that of the remand.

In the event that the representatives of the parties mutually resolve each of the issues in dispute and agree to be bound accordingly, said representatives may, at any time prior to the final decisions by the panel, or single arbitrator, request that the arbitration proceedings be terminated, the panel, acting through its chairman or single arbitrator, shall terminate the proceedings.

The factors among others, to be given weight by the arbitration panel or single arbitrator in arriving at the decision shall include, when applicable:

(1) The financial ability of the district or of the commonwealth to meet the costs. Such factors which shall be taken into consideration shall include but not be limited to (a) the district's state reimbursements and assessments; (b) the commonwealth's or district's long and short term bonded indebtedness; (c) the district's estimated share in the metropolitan district commission deficit; (d) the district's estimated share in the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority's deficit.

(2) The interests and welfare of the public.

(3) The hazards of employment, physical, educational and mental qualifications, job training and skills involved.

(4) A comparison of wages, hours and conditions of employment of the employees involved in the arbitration proceedings with the wages, hours and conditions of employment of other employees performing similar services and with other employees generally in public and private employment in comparable districts, communities, or other state or federal jurisdictions.

(5) The decisions and recommendations of the fact-finder, if any.

(6) The average consumer prices for goods and services, commonly known as the cost of living.

(7) The overall compensation presently received by the employees, including direct wages and fringe benefits.

(8) Changes in any of the foregoing circumstances during the pendency of the arbitration proceedings.

(9) Such other factors not confined to the foregoing, which are normally or traditionally taken into consideration in the determination of wages, hours and conditions of employment through voluntary collective bargaining, mediation, fact-finding, arbitration or otherwise between parties, in the public service or in private employment.

(10) The stipulation of the parties.

Any determination or decision of the arbitration panel or single arbitrator if supported by material and substantive evidence on the whole record shall be subject to appropriation, binding upon the parties and may be enforced at the instance of either party, the single arbitrator or the arbitration panel in the superior court in equity, provided however, that the scope of arbitration in police matters shall be limited to wages, hours, and conditions of employment and shall not include the following matters of inherent managerial policy: the right to appoint, promote, assign, and transfer employees. Assignments shall not be within the scope; provided, however, that the subject matters of initial station assignment upon appointment or promotion shall be within the scope of arbitration. The subject matter of transfer shall not be within the scope of arbitration, provided however, that the subject matters of relationship of seniority to transfers and disciplinary and punitive transfers shall be within the scope of arbitration.

The commencement of a new fiscal year prior to the final awards by the arbitration panel shall not be deemed to render a dispute moot, or to otherwise impair the jurisdiction or authority of the arbitration panel or its award. Any award of the arbitration panel may be retroactive to the expiration date of the last contract.

Any person assisted by a police officer to a police station shall have the right, and be informed in writing of said right, to request and be administered a breathalyzer test. Any person who is administered a breathalyzer test shall be presumed intoxicated if evidence from said test indicates that the percentage of alcohol in his blood is ten one hundredths or more and shall be placed in protective custody at a police station or transferred to a facility. Any person who is administered a breathalyzer test, under this section, shall be presumed not to be intoxicated if evidence from said test indicates that the percentage of alcohol

If any person who is administered a breathalyzer test, under this section, and evidence from said test indicates that the percentage of alcohol in his blood is more than five one hundredths and is less than ten one hundredths there shall be no presumption made based solely on the breathalyzer test. No person assisted to a police station pursuant to this section shall be held in protective custody against his will; provided, however, that if suitable treatment at a facility is not available, an incapacitated person may be held in protective custody at a police station until he is no longer incapacitated or for a period of not longer than twelve hours, whichever is shorter.

A police officer acting in accordance with the provisions of this section may use such force as is reasonably necessary to carry out his authorized responsibilities. If the police officer reasonably believes that his safety or the safety of other persons present so requires, he may search such person and his immediate surroundings, but only to the extent necessary to discover and seize any dangerous weapons which may on that occasion be used against the officer or other person present; provided, however, that if such person is held in protective custody at a police station all valuables and all articles which may pose a danger to such person or to others may be taken from him for safekeeping and if so taken shall be inventoried.

A person assisted to a facility or held in protective custody by the police pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall not be considered to have been arrested or to have been charged with any crime.
