SECTION 1 – Hourly Rates

We begin charging the hourly rate when we arrive at the shippers origin address. The arrival time is calculated by our truck GPS system. We refer to the time we are charging our hourly rate as the “move clock”. The move clock starts when the team arrives at the starting location and the move clock stops after the team has placed your last item to its destination and we collect the final bill. There is a 2 hour minimum on our moving services. After the first 2 hours partial hours are calculated in 15 minute increments.

The hourly rate is dependent upon the number of movers and the date. All dates and the corresponding hourly rates are shown below :

SECTION 2 – Truck & Travel Fee

We charge a flat rate truck and travel fee that covers our travel from our office to the origin location and from the origin location to the destination. The flat rate truck & travel fee is based on the cumulative driving time from our office to the origin and from the destination back to our office. Travel time from the origin to the destination will be billed hourly while our team is on the move clock

The truck and travel fee is a flat rate fee, but is based on our standard hourly rate for the cumulative time it takes to drive from our office to the origin and from the destination back to our office. If the cumulative time is less than one hour, then the truck and travel fee will be equivalent to one hour of moving labor.
