

Ashumet Pond, Falmouth/Mashpee

General Information

Ashumet Pond is a 220 acre natural kettlehole pond with an average depth of 23 feet and a maximum depth of 69 feet. The pond's water source is primarily groundwater but it does have a small inlet from an abandoned cranberry bog on the north end. Transparency is good, averaging about 12 feet, and aquatic vegetation is sparse. The water color is generally clear, like most Cape Cod Ponds, but algae blooms in the summer may give the water a greenish tint. The pond is located just south of Joint Base Cape Cod and is divided by the town line between Mashpee and Falmouth. The 2.5 miles of shoreline are heavily developed with year round homes. At low water levels, there is an island in the southern end of the pond.
