Dear <CUSTOMER NAME>:

We are writing about a matter involving the inadvertent disclosure of some personal information related to your brokerage account(s) managed by <ADVISOR NAME>. We deeply regret this situation and are keenly aware of how important the security and privacy of your personal information are to you.

WHAT HAPPENED?

Due to a manual processing error by a Fidelity associate, information about you was inadvertently included in a report that was provided through our secure website to another advisory firm, with whom Fidelity does business. We received confirmation that only one employee at that advisory firm viewed, saved and subsequently deleted that report. This employee is generally responsible for handling personal data on a confidential basis in [his/her] role.

WHAT INFORMATION WAS INVOLVED?

The report included your name, address, Social Security number, and account number(s).

WHAT WE ARE DOING.

Fidelity became aware of the matter on October 4, 2019 after the advisory firm notified us of the error. Upon notification, Fidelity removed the report from the secure website on the same day. Making your information no longer accessible to that advisory firm. Additionally, the employee who accessed the report confirmed that it has been deleted.

This matter has been reviewed with the Fidelity associate responsible for the error to stress the importance of accuracy and attention to detail when sending reports to our advisory firm clients.

WHAT YOU CAN DO.

At this time, we are not aware of any misuse of your personal information. However, it is always a sensible precaution to remain vigilant for fraudulent activity or identity theft by regularly reviewing your account statement, monitoring free credit reports, and promptly reporting any suspicious activity to local law enforcement, or your appropriate state authority, such as your state Attorney General. Fidelity has arranged for you to enroll, at your option, in a credit monitoring service for one year at no cost to you. This service allows you to monitor your credit reports and to detect any unusual activity that may affect your personal financial situation. The service is provided by TransUnion Interactive, a subsidiary of TransUnion®, one of the three nationwide credit reporting companies. If you decide to enroll, please refer to the enclosed instruction sheet.

OTHER IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

Enclosed is information on additional ways you can protect yourself.

FOR MORE INFORMATION.

Please contact your advisor.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Susan Myers".

ADDITIONAL STEPS TO PROTECT YOURSELF

Directions for Placing a Fraud Alert

You may want to consider placing an initial fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert tells creditors to contact you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling one of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies. The agency that processes your fraud alert will notify the other two credit reporting agencies on your behalf. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for 90 days. When you place this alert on your credit report, you will receive information about ordering one free credit report from each of the credit reporting companies. Once you receive your reports, review them carefully for inquiries from companies you did not contact, accounts you did not open, and debts on your accounts that you cannot explain. Verify the accuracy of your Social Security number, address(es), full name and employer(s). Notify the credit reporting companies if any information is incorrect.
