Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

We are contacting you regarding a data security incident that we suspect occurred earlier this year at CJGO Fulfillment, Inc. DBA CoffeeAM. We have no direct evidence that any of your data was compromised, and are providing this notice to you out of an abundance of caution. We are prohibited by Massachusetts law from including a description of the nature of the breach of security in this letter, but wanted to inform you of our investigation of this incident, and let you know of the steps we suggest you take to protect yourself against any potential identity theft.

Please be assured that we began investigating this incident immediately after suspecting a problem, and worked diligently to resolve it and to prevent this type of incident from recurring. Our systems have been restored and are fully functional and operating with heightened system security.

Please review the enclosed Recommended Steps to Help Protect Your Information for steps you can take to identify and prevent identity theft. In addition, we are offering identity theft protection services through ID Experts®, the data breach and recovery services expert, to provide you with MyIDCare™. MyIDCare services include: 24 months of credit and CyberScan monitoring, a $1,000,000 insurance reimbursement policy, and fully managed id theft recovery services. With this protection, MyIDCare will help you resolve issues if your identity is compromised.

We encourage you to contact ID Experts with any questions about this incident and to enroll in free MYIDCare services by calling (833) 918-2056 or going to <https://app.myidcare.com/account-creation/protect> and using the Enrollment Code provided above. MyIDCare experts are available Monday through Friday 9 AM – 9 PM Eastern Time. The deadline to enroll is March 9, 2020. You will find detailed instructions for enrollment on the enclosed Recommended Steps document. You will need to reference the enrollment code at the top of this letter when calling or enrolling online, so please do not discard this letter. You can also contact us directly at 1-800-803-7774 should you have other questions or concerns.

We take the protection of your personal information seriously and sincerely apologize for this incident and regret any inconvenience or concern this may have caused.

Sincerely,

Andrew Cory, President

Recommended Steps to Help Protect Your Information

1. Activate Credit Monitoring. Credit monitoring is provided as part of your MyIDCare membership. The monitoring included in the membership must be activated to be effective. Note: you must have established credit to use this service.

2. Telephone Assistance. Contact MyIDCare at (833) 918-2056 for additional information about this incident, including what types of information we maintain about you or others in general, and to speak with knowledgeable representatives about the appropriate steps to take to protect your credit identity.

3. Review Account Statements and Credit Reports. We recommend that you regularly review statements from your credit card accounts and other accounts and periodically obtain your credit reports from the national consumer credit reporting agencies. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report online at www.annualcreditreport.com, by calling toll-free 1-877-322-8228, or by mailing an Annual Credit Report Request Form (available at www.annualcreditreport.com) to: Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA, 30348-5281. You may also purchase a copy of your credit report by contacting one or more of the three national consumer credit reporting agencies listed below:

Equifax, P.O. Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374, 1-800-685-1111, www.equifax.com

Experian, P.O. Box 2002, Allen, TX 75013, 1-888-397-3742, www.experian.com

TransUnion, P.O. Box 1000, Chester, PA 19016, 1-800-916-8800, www.transunion.com

When you receive your credit reports from the above consumer credit reporting agencies, review them carefully. Look for accounts or creditor inquiries that you did not initiate or do not recognize. Look for information such as a home address or Social Security Number that is not accurate. If you see anything you do not understand, call the consumer credit reporting agency at the telephone number on the report. If you discover any suspicious items and have enrolled in MyIDCare, notify MyIDCare immediately by calling or by logging into the MyIDCare website and filing a request for help. If you file a request for help or report suspicious activity, you will be contacted by a member of the ID Care team who will help you determine the cause of the suspicious items. In the unlikely event that you fall victim to identity theft as a consequence of this incident, you will be assigned an ID Care Specialist who will work on your behalf to identify, stop and reverse the damage quickly.

We recommend you remain vigilant in reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports to detect errors which may result from this incident and for instances of fraud and identity theft, and promptly report any fraud, suspicious activity or suspected identity theft to your credit card company/bank, the proper law enforcement authorities, including local law enforcement, your state's Attorney General and/or the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC"). You may contact the FTC and your state's regulatory authority to obtain additional information about the steps you can take to avoid identity theft. To contact the FTC, write to the Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20580, call 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), or visit their website, www.ftc.gov/idtheft.

For Massachusetts residents: You may also obtain information about preventing and avoiding identity theft from the Massachusetts Office of Consumer Affairs and Business Regulation, Ten Park Plaza, Suite 5170, Boston, MA 02116, Phone: (617) 973-8700, Fax: (617) 973-8799, Consumer Hotline: (617) 973-8787 or 888-283-3757 toll free (MA only), mass.gov/consumer. You have the right to obtain a police report in connection with this incident.

4. Rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act. You may have certain rights under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act. These rights include but are not limited to knowing what is in your credit file, disputing incomplete or inaccurate information; and requiring consumer reporting agencies to correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. You may find additional information about the Fair Credit Reporting Act on the FTC website, www.ftc.gov, or by contacting the FTC at the address and phone number above.

5. Place Fraud Alerts. If you choose to place a fraud alert, we recommend you do this after activating your credit monitoring. There are two types of fraud alerts that you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud: an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for at least one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report with the appropriate documentary proof if you have previously been a victim of identity theft. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for 7 years. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by calling the toll-free fraud number of any of the three national consumer credit reporting agencies listed above. You can obtain additional information about fraud alerts from the consumer credit reporting agencies and the FTC at the contact information listed above. It is necessary to contact only one of the credit reporting agencies to place a fraud alert. As soon as one of the three credit reporting agencies confirms your fraud alert, they are required to notify the other major credit reporting agencies.

6. Credit Freezes / Security Freezes. You may have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file by registering with each of the three consumer credit reporting agencies listed above. A credit freeze is a free tool that lets you restrict access to your credit report, which make it more difficult for identity thieves to open a new account in your name. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a credit freeze on your credit file at each consumer credit reporting agency. After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting agency will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password which you will need to lift the freeze. A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit reporting agency to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. It is free to lift the freeze and free to place it again when you're done accessing your credit. You can obtain additional information about credit freezes from the consumer credit reporting agencies and the FTC at the contact information listed above. To request a credit freeze, you will need to provide the following information (note, some requirements differ for each of the three credit reporting agencies): your full name, including middle initial and any suffix; current address; former address; telephone numbers; Social Security Number; and date of birth. Additionally, some credit reporting agencies may require your maiden name or other last name, and driver's license number, and specify that former addresses are required for the past two years. Credit reporting agencies may also request copies of supporting documents, such as those proving your identity, Social Security Number and address. These documents may include, for example, a copy of a government-issued identification card, such as a driver's license or state identification card, a copy of a utility bill or bank statement showing your address, and a copy of your Social Security card, pay stub with your Social Security Number, or IRS form W2 that includes your Social Security Number.
