Dear Sample A Sample,

Rand Worldwide takes seriously the privacy and security of its employees, vendors and shareholders, and therefore wanted to timely release information regarding a data privacy incident involving your name and Social Security number. It is important to us that we provide information regarding this matter as well as resources that you can use to safeguard your personal information.

What happened?

On June 24, 2020, Rand Worldwide discovered that it fell victim to a ransomware attack that resulted in certain data being encrypted. Upon discovery, the Company immediately engaged a third party to conduct a forensic investigation with the objective of identifying the potential scope of access the threat actor may have had to the environment during the period of unauthorized access, which included arriving at a determination as to whether sensitive personal data was accessed by an unauthorized third party. The forensic investigation was recently completed and did conclude that certain information was compromised during the period of unauthorized access, including your name and Social Security number. Although the investigation did not find any evidence that the information has been misused, we have chosen to notify all potentially impacted parties of this incident out of an abundance of caution and in full transparency.

What we are doing?

Privacy of data is a top priority for Rand Worldwide. The Company can report that it did not lose access to its systems, backup systems, or other operational data. However, in an abundance of caution, it has implemented additional safeguards to further secure system information.

As an added precaution, Rand Worldwide is providing you with two years of credit monitoring and identity protection services through Experian. A description of services and instructions on how to enroll can be found within the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Your Personal Information. Please note that you must complete the enrollment process yourself, as we are not permitted to enroll you in these services on your behalf.

Monitor Your Accounts.

To protect against the possibility of identity theft or other financial loss, we encourage you to remain vigilant, to review your account statements, and to monitor your credit reports for suspicious activity.

Credit Reports.

Under U.S. law, you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also contact the three major credit bureaus directly to request a free copy of your credit report.

Security Freeze.

You have the right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a security freeze on your credit report. Should you wish to place a security freeze, please contact the major consumer reporting agencies listed below:

Experian PO Box 9554 Allen, TX 75013 1-888-397-3742 www.experian.com/freeze/center.html	TransUnion P.O. Box 160 Woodlyn, PA 19016 1-888-909-8872 www.transunion.com/credit-freeze	Equifax PO Box 105788 Atlanta, GA 30348 1-888-298-0045 www.equifax.com/personal/credit-report-services

To remove the security freeze, you must send a written request to each of the three credit bureaus by mail and include proper identification (name, address, and social security number) and the PIN number or password provided to you when you placed the security freeze. The credit bureaus have three (3) business days after receiving your request to remove the security freeze.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on your file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the agencies listed below:
