Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>,

We are writing to tell you about a data security incident that may have exposed some of your personal information. We take the protection and proper use of your information very seriously. For this reason, we are contacting you directly to explain the circumstances of the incident.

What happened?

On July 16, 2020, we were notified by one of our third-party software service providers, Blackbaud Inc., that they were the victim of a ransomware attack discovered in May of 2020. Blackbaud is a publicly-traded company and one of the world's largest cloud software and data management companies, and is used by tens of thousands of non-profit organizations and health care entities. Upon learning of the incident, the Foundation retained expert consultants and conducted a thorough investigation to determine what data was on Blackbaud's system at the time of the incident.

Given the size and complexity of the Foundation's databases, the investigation took some time to complete. However, the Foundation can now inform you that unfortunately we have determined your information was potentially affected by this incident.

Blackbaud reported that as a part of that ransomware attack, the cybercriminals removed a subset of data from the Blackbaud systems. Blackbaud paid the cybercriminals to delete and destroy the information they removed. It is Blackbaud's stated opinion that based on the nature of the incident, their research, and third party (including law enforcement) investigation, they have no reason to believe that any data went beyond the cybercriminals; was or will be misused; or will be disseminated or otherwise made available publicly. Blackbaud has hired a third-party team of experts to monitor the dark web as an extra precautionary measure.

This incident was not the result of any breach, vulnerability, or compromise of our systems, and was instead limited to the Blackbaud-hosted systems. We take the privacy and security of all personal information very seriously and employ a number of measures to ensure personal information remains secure.

What information was involved?

As a result of this incident, an unauthorized person may have accessed and/or acquired some of your personal information, including your:

- Name;
- Address;
- Phone number;
- Email address;
- Date of birth;
- Social Security number;
- Tax ID;
- Medical provider and health information; and/or
- Credit card information.

What we are doing.

Following receipt of notification from Blackbaud about this incident we worked with our legal counsel to investigate the incident. That work included an evaluation of the information provided by Blackbaud, the data at issue, and the potential risks.

We take the privacy and security of your personal information very seriously. We are working with Blackbaud to ascertain the security changes they are making to help guard against future attacks. We also continuously work to improve the security of our own systems.

Fraud Alerts. There are two types of fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for at least one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft and you have the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by contacting any of the three national credit reporting agencies.

Security Freeze. You have the ability to place a security freeze, also known as a credit freeze, on your credit report free of charge.

A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may use an online process, an automated telephone line, or submit a written request to any of the three credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that, if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past 5 years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, and display your name, current mailing address, and the date of issue.
