Action Needed: Information about an issue affecting your account

Reference Number: PRI-12415222- A

Dear XXX:

Between May 24-28, 2021, a technical issue mistakenly allowed another customer to see your account information on Chase.com or in the Chase Mobile app. We have found no indication that your information has been used inappropriately.

Here's what happened and how it affects you

While reviewing the issue affecting your account, we identified another customer, perhaps by accident, performed monetary transactions such as sending or receiving a Zelle payment. Also, they might have seen summary information about your accounts, including balance(s), your name, and the last four digits of your account number(s).

You won't be liable for any fraudulent activity on your Chase accounts that you promptly tell us about. I encourage you, as always, to review your account settings and transactions on chase.com, Chase Mobile and in monthly statements. Should you identify any inconsistencies and need assistance, please contact us at the number on your statement or on the back of your card.

You can sign up for free credit monitoring

We are sorry for letting you down and would like to offer you one year of free credit monitoring through Experian's® IdentityWorks®. Credit monitoring helps you detect when there are changes to your credit bureau information. Please see the enclosed important information describing the benefits and how to enroll.

Thank you for being a Chase Customer.

Sincerely,

Andrew North

The description herein is a summary and intended for informational purposes only and does not include all terms, conditions and exclusions of the policies described. Please refer to the actual policies for terms, conditions, and exclusions of coverage. Coverage may not be available in all jurisdictions.

You Can Take Additional Steps to Help Protect Yourself

Place a 90-Day fraud alert on your credit file

An initial 90-day fraud alert tells anyone requesting your credit file that you might be at risk for fraud. A lender should verify that you have authorized any request to open a credit account in your name, increase the credit limit and/or get a new card on an existing account. If the lender can't verify this, they shouldn't process the request.

Contact any one of the credit reporting agencies to set up an initial 90-day fraud alert.

Place a security freeze on your credit file

A security freeze on your credit file prevents anyone from accessing your credit report and therefore from issuing credit in your name. However, placing a security freeze also may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit, mortgages, employment, housing or other services.

Contact all three of the credit reporting agencies above to set up a security freeze with each of them.

Order your free annual credit reports

Visit annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228 to get a free copy of your credit reports. Once you receive them:

- Verify that all information is correct.
- Look for discrepancies such as accounts you didn't open or creditor inquiries you didn't authorize.
- Contact the credit reporting agency if you notice incorrect information or have questions.

Manage your personal information

- Carry only essential documents with you.
- Be cautious about sharing your personal information with anyone else.
- Shred receipts, statements, and other documents containing sensitive information.
- Use anti-virus software on your computer and keep it updated.

Use tools to monitor your credit and financial accounts

- Carefully review your credit reports and bank, credit card and other account information online and in statements.
- Create alerts with your credit card company and bank to notify you of activity.
- File an identity-theft report with your local police and contact the credit reporting agency that issued the report if you find unauthorized or suspicious activity on your credit report.

Get more information about identity theft and ways to protect yourself

- Visit www.experian.com/Credit-Advice/Topic-Fraud-And-Identity-Theft.html.
- Call the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) identity theft hotline at 1-877-438-4338 (TTY: 1-866-653-4261) or visit ftc.gov/IdTheft.

U.S. State Notification Requirements

For residents of California, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oregon, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wyoming:

It is recommended by state law that you remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing financial account statements carefully and monitoring your credit report for unauthorized activity. You may request your free annual credit report, whether or not you suspect any unauthorized activity on your account, by visiting www.AnnualCreditReport.com or calling 1-877-FACTACT (1-877-322-8228). You may also obtain a free copy of your credit report by contacting any one or more of the national consumer reporting agencies listed below. They can also provide you with information about fraud alerts and security freezes.

For residents of Iowa:

State law advises you to report any suspected identity theft to law enforcement or to the Attorney General.

For residents of Oregon:

State laws advise you to report any suspected identity theft to law enforcement, as well as the Attorney General and the Federal Trade Commission.

For residents of Illinois, Maryland, New York, North Carolina, and Rhode Island:

State laws require us to tell you that you can obtain information from the Federal Trade Commission about steps you can take to avoid identity theft (including how to place a fraud alert or security freeze). If you are a Maryland, New York, North Carolina or Rhode Island resident, you may also be able to obtain this information from your state's Attorney General.

For residents of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Rhode Island, and West Virginia:

You have the right to place a security freeze on your credit report. This prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information about your credit report without your written authorization. However, placing a security freeze also may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit, mortgages, employment, housing or other services. You can place a security freeze on your credit report free of charge.

If you are the victim of identity theft, you have the right to file a police report and obtain a copy. For instructions on how to place a security freeze, visit the websites of all three major credit reporting agencies, call or write them.

When requesting a security freeze, you may need to include the following:

- Your full name, with middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, etc.
- Social Security number
- Date of birth
- Current address and all addresses for the past two years
- Proof of current address such as a current utility bill or telephone bill
- Legible copy of a government-issued identification card, such as a state driver's license, state identification card, or military identification
