What We Are Doing

We are committed to making this right and are investing in internal processes, tools, and resources to reduce the likelihood that this could happen again. To further enhance our network security and help prevent similar occurrences in the future, we have taken, or will be taking, the following steps:

1. Closely monitoring and implementing higher restrictions on outside access to our network;
2. Initiating a global password reset exercise in order to achieve strong and unique passwords;
3. Enhancing network intrusion detection and response;
4. Expanding multi-factor authentication requirements to access digital services for employee accounts;
5. Strengthening our email filtering security services to help block dangerous emails;
6. Increasing security requirements around allowed workstations;
7. Increased frequency of security software patching;
8. Updating our incident response procedures to more quickly and effectively respond to incidents;
9. Enhancing our employee cyber security training and providing regular communications in order to increase cyber awareness.

In addition, consistent with our compliance obligations and responsibilities, we are providing notice of this incident to appropriate state regulators.

You should also monitor your credit reports. You may periodically obtain your credit reports from each of the national consumer reporting agencies. In addition, under federal law, you are entitled to one free copy of your credit report every 12 months from each of the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies listed above. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report by going to www.AnnualCreditReport.com or by calling (877) 322-8228. You also may complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form available from the FTC at www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/pdf-0093-annual-report-request-form.pdf and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. You may also contact any of the three major consumer reporting agencies to request a copy of your credit report.

For Massachusetts residents: You may obtain one or more (depending on the state) additional copies of your credit report, free of charge. You must contact each of the credit reporting agencies directly.

If you discover inaccurate information or a fraudulent transaction on your credit report, you have the right to request that the consumer reporting agency delete that information from your credit report file. Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the FTC recommends that you check your credit reports periodically, which can help spot and address problems quickly.

Fraud Alerts

You may want to consider placing a fraud alert on your credit report. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least 90 days. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you prior to establishing any new accounts in your name. To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any of the three national credit reporting agencies using the contact information listed above. Additional information is available at www.annualcreditreport.com.

Security Freeze

You have the ability to place a security freeze on your credit report at no cost to you. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may be able to use an online process, an automated telephone line, or a written request to any of the three credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; (5) a legible copy of a government-issued identification card, (6) proof of current address, such as a legible copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement, (7) a legible copy of a recent W-2, pay stub, or Social Security card, and (8) if you are a victim of identity theft, a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue. Under federal law, you cannot be charged to place, lift, or remove a security freeze.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting company will send you a confirmation letter containing a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place, you will need it if you choose to lift the freeze. If you do place a security freeze prior to enrolling in the credit monitoring service as described above, you will need to remove the freeze in order to sign up for the credit monitoring service. After you sign up for the credit monitoring service, you may refreeze your credit file.

Additional Helpful Information

Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recommends that you check your credit reports periodically. Checking your credit report periodically can help you spot problems and address them quickly.

If you find suspicious activity on your credit reports or have reason to believe your information is being misused, file a police report with your local law enforcement agency and contact your Attorney General. Be sure to obtain a copy of the police report, as many creditors will want the information it contains to absolve you of the fraudulent debts. You may also file a complaint with the FTC at the information provided above.

If your personal information has been used to file a false tax return, to open an account or to attempt to open an account in your name, or to commit fraud or other crimes against you, you may file a police report in the city in which you currently reside.

Re: Notice of Data Security Incident

Dear Undersecretary Edward A. Palleschi:

This notice is provided on behalf of my client, Pinova, Inc. ("Pinova"), following a data breach of Pinova's computer systems that involved the name and Social Security number of two (2) Massachusetts residents, and may have also involved one or more of the following types of information concerning those individuals: date of birth, address, and/or driver's license number. Pinova is providing written notice to the affected individuals later today, via U.S. mail. The notice letter describes the incident and the information that was potentially impacted, and includes general advice on how to protect one's identity and obtain free credit reports and security freezes. It also contains an offer of, and instructions to enroll in, 2 years of credit monitoring at no cost to the individual. A copy of the notice letter is enclosed. Additional information about the incident is below.

On August 24, 2021, a ransomware attack was detected that impacted computer systems which are networked with Pinova's computer systems. Pinova immediately engaged legal counsel with an expertise in data security, launched an investigation into the incident and alerted law enforcement. Legal counsel also hired cybersecurity experts to assist with the investigation to better understand what happened, and more importantly, to prevent something like this from happening again.

Through its ongoing investigation, Pinova discovered that the cybercriminals gained unauthorized access to files within Pinova's computer systems on June 30, 2021. Since then, Pinova has worked to determine whose information may have been included and locate those individuals so that it could provide proper notice of the incident. On September 1, 2021, Pinova learned that the compromised information included the personal information of two (2) Massachusetts residents.

Because cyber threats are always evolving, Pinova continuously evaluates and modifies its IT security protocols so that sensitive data is protected to the greatest extent possible. In addition, to further enhance its network security and help prevent similar occurrences in the future, Pinova has taken, or will be taking, the following steps:
