Notice of Data Security Incident

Dear <<ClientFirstName>> <<ClientLastName>>,

Wings Etc., Inc. (“Wings Etc.”) is a food retailer across the United States. You are receiving this letter because you recently placed an online order with us. As a result of this incident, we have partnered with IDX to provide you this notification.

We are writing in order to inform you of an incident that may have exposed your personal information. We take the privacy of your personal information seriously and want to provide you with information and resources you can use to protect your information.

What Happened and What Information Was Involved:

On September 20, 2022, Wings Etc. detected and stopped a network security incident. An unauthorized third-party infiltrated our online ordering system. We immediately shut off access to the website, issued a global password reset, cleared existing tokens, and engaged specialized third-party forensic and technical resources to respond to the incident.

Our investigation has determined the unauthorized third party may have accessed certain individual personal information during this incident. Although we have no evidence that your information was specifically misused, it is possible that your following personal information was exposed to an unauthorized party: full name; credit card number, expiration date, security code, address, and zip code.

Please note that Wings, Etc. does not store any of this information, and we have secured and remediated the online ordering portal. Wings, Etc. has not received any reports of related identity theft or fraudulent credit card transactions since the date of the incident.

What We Are Doing:

Data security is one of our highest priorities. Upon detecting this incident, we moved quickly to initiate a response, which included engaging a team of cybersecurity and forensic experts to confirm the security of our online ordering portal. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for at least one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft and you have the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years. You can place a fraud alert on your credit report by contacting any of the three national credit reporting agencies.

The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, and display your name, current mailing address, and the date of issue.
