Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<First Name>> <<Last Name>>,

What Happened

DRT, LLC ("DRT") recently experienced a cybersecurity incident that involves some of your personally identifiable information ("PII"). On January 19, 2023, we discovered unauthorized remote access to a DRT owned computer that occurred on January 18, 2023. After learning of the incident, DRT immediately hired a third-party computer security firm to conduct an investigation and to identify any PII which may have been compromised. Although that the investigation could not determine whether any information was accessed, acquired or misused, it is possible that there was unauthorized access or acquisition to PII in files saved to the computer, such as a spreadsheet or documents used for internal business purposes. DRT is providing this notice so that you can take steps to protect against possible misuse of personal information.

What Information Was Involved

DRT manually reviewed the contents of the computer, including all files located on the computer, to determine the type of PII potentially involved. Our investigation indicated that some of your information was on the affected computer. Information that may have been accessed or acquired includes full name and demographic information (such as address, city, state, and zip) <<Variable Data 2>> and your Social Security number.

What We Are Doing

After learning of the incident, DRT took a number of important steps to prevent similar incidents from occurring in the future. This included isolating the device from our network and the internet, temporarily disabling the user's account while a password reset was performed, revoking all active user logins as well as any multi-factor authentication and monitoring the user's activity within our on-premises and cloud-based environments. DRT is also working to implement additional technologies designed to prevent similar attacks including upgrading our software to deploy additional computer activity analysis applications which will provide real-time alerts and monitoring. DRT will also be providing expanded cybersecurity training for its employees.

Fraud Alert Information

Whether or not you enroll in credit monitoring, we recommend that you place a "Fraud Alert" on your credit file. Fraud Alert messages notify potential credit grantors to verify your identification before extending credit in your name in case someone is using your information without your consent. A Fraud Alert can make it more difficult for someone to get credit in your name; however, please be aware that it also may delay your ability to obtain credit. Call only one of the following three nationwide credit reporting companies to place your Fraud Alert: TransUnion, Equifax, or Experian. As soon as the credit reporting company confirms your Fraud Alert, they will also forward your alert request to the other two nationwide credit reporting companies so you do not need to contact each of them separately. Free Credit Report Information

Under federal law, you are also entitled to one free credit report once every 12 months from each of the above three major nationwide credit reporting companies. Call 1-877-322-8228 or make a request online at www.annualcreditreport.com.

Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recommends that you check your credit reports periodically. Victim information sometimes is held for use or shared among a group of thieves at different times. Checking your credit reports periodically can help you spot problems and address them quickly.

If you find suspicious activity on your credit reports or have reason to believe your information is being misused, call your local law enforcement agency and file a police report or notify your state's Attorney General Office. Attorney General Office contact information for each and every state and U.S. Territory can be found at <https://www.naag.org/find-my-ag/>. Get a copy of the report; many creditors want the information it contains to absolve you of the fraudulent debts. You also should file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) at www.identitytheft.gov or at 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338). Your complaint will be added to the FTC's Identity Theft Data Clearinghouse, where it will be accessible to law enforcers for their investigations. Also visit the FTC's website at www.ftc.gov/idtheft to review their free identity theft resources such as their comprehensive step-by-step guide "Identity Theft - A Recovery Plan".

Security Freeze Information

You can request a "Security Freeze" on your credit file by sending either, (i) a request in writing, by mail, to each of the three nationwide credit reporting companies, or (ii) via the Internet at the credit reporting companies' websites listed below. When a Security Freeze is added to your credit report, all third parties, such as credit lenders or other companies, whose use is not exempt under law will not be able to access your credit report without your consent. The Security Freeze may delay, interfere with or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make that involves access to your credit report. This may include, but is not limited to, new loans, credit, mortgages, insurance, rental housing, employment, investments, licenses, cellular phone service, utility service, digital signature service, Internet credit card transactions and extension of credit at point of sale.
