Obtaining a security freeze on your credit report.

Although we have no reason to believe that your Social Security number was compromised, you may place a security freeze on your credit report by contacting each of the nationwide credit reporting companies listed above. A security freeze prohibits a credit reporting agency from releasing any information from a consumer's credit report without written authorization. Under federal law, you cannot be charged to place a security freeze. You'll need to supply your name, address(es) (and proof of current address), date of birth, Social Security number, a copy of a government issued identification card and other personal information, depending on whether you make the request by phone, mail or online. After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting company will send you a confirmation letter containing a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

Right to obtain a police report.

Under Massachusetts law, you have the right to file and obtain a copy of a police report.

Be vigilant.

Furthermore, we advise you to be vigilant in monitoring your financial and credit card accounts and free credit reports for any suspicious or unauthorized activity. Please report any suspected identity theft activity to your financial institution or credit card company, law enforcement and/or the Federal Trade Commission.

For More Information.

On behalf of Heavy Hammer, we have set up a hotline to answer your questions and provide additional information. The telephone number is (833) 901-4614; email is ms@heavyhammer.com. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.

We deeply regret that this incident occurred and any impact that it may have on you or your business. We continue to take the privacy of your personal information very seriously.

Sincerely,

Michael Urbanski
CEO of Heavy Hammer, Inc.

* Offline members will be eligible to call for additional reports quarterly after enrolling.
