Although there is no indication that your information has been misused in relation to this event, we are providing you with information about the event, our response to it, and resources available to you to help protect your information, should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On or about December 21, 2022, Hutchinson Clinic became aware of suspicious activity related to certain Hutchinson Clinic computer systems. We immediately worked to secure and restore our systems and launched an investigation, with assistance from third-party cybersecurity and forensic specialists, to determine the nature and scope of the incident. Through the investigation, it was determined that there was unauthorized access to Hutchinson Clinic’s network between December 19, 2022, and December 21, 2022. The unauthorized actor had the ability to acquire and claims to have taken certain information stored on the network during the period of access.

We undertook a comprehensive programmatic and manual review of the involved files to determine the type of information contained within the files and to whom the information related. To honor our commitment to maintaining timely and transparent communication with our employees, our patients, and the community, while this review was ongoing, we provided notice of this event on our website. Our review was recently completed, and then we conducted additional review of our files for contact information to notify potentially impacted individuals about the incident.

What Information Was Involved? The investigation determined that your <<b2b_text_2 (name and Data Elements)>><<b2b_text_3 (Data Elements cont)>> were included within files that may have been accessed and/or acquired by an unauthorized individual.

Notice was also provided to federal law enforcement and to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and we remain committed to fully complying with all state and federal requirements.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
