NOTICE OF DATA INCIDENT

USAA takes the protection of our members' personal information very seriously, so we are writing to tell you about an incident that involved your information.

What Happened

On August 3, 2023, USAA was made aware that the personal information for some of our members was handled inappropriately by a bank call center representative employed by one of our third-party service providers. Upon learning of the issue, USAA promptly commenced an investigation and determined that your personal information may have been affected by this incident. Based on our investigation, this activity occurred between June 6, 2023, and July 7, 2023.

What Information Was Involved

Personal information involved in this incident could potentially have included the following: Your name, address, email address, phone number, date of birth, Social Security number, username, password, PIN, and bank account numbers including credit and debit card numbers.

What We Are Doing

For your protection, USAA is monitoring your accounts for any suspicious activity related to the incident. We are also working with the service provider to enhance its security measures and control environment to help protect against similar incidents in the future.

Complimentary Experian IdentityWorksSM Membership

As a precaution and to help protect your identity, we are offering a complimentary two-year membership of Experian's IdentityWorks program. This product provides you with superior identity detection and resolution of identity theft.] Please see the additional information we have attached on how to sign up.

What You Can Do

We recommend you closely review the Steps to Take to Protect Your Personal Information document included as part of this notice.

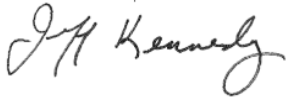

For More Information

We deeply regret that this incident occurred and take the privacy and security of your personal information very seriously. If you suspect you have been the victim of identity theft or have any questions, please call us at the following number:

STEPS TO TAKE TO PROTECT YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

Always remain vigilant, including over the next 12-24 months, for signs of fraud or identity theft, and consider taking one or more of the below steps to protect your personal information. You can also obtain information from the below sources about fraud alerts and security freezes.

- For breaches of username/email address in combination with a password or security question and answer that would permit access to an online account: Please promptly change your password or security question or answer and take appropriate steps to protect your online accounts which use the same username, email address, password, or security question or answer.
- Carefully examine all account transactions, statements, and free credit reports to verify transactions. If anything looks suspicious or unusual, or if you believe you are the victim of identity theft, promptly report it to USAA and your other financial institutions. In addition, you may contact the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) or law enforcement to report incidents of identity theft, file a police report or to learn about steps you can take to protect yourself from identity theft.
- The FTC offers consumer assistance relating to identity theft, fraud alerts and security freezes. You may wish to visit the FTC web site at www.ftc.gov/idtheft, call the FTC's toll-free number at 1-877-438-4338, or contact them by mail at 600 Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Washington, DC 20580, to obtain further guidance or report suspected identity theft.
- You may also periodically obtain credit reports from each nationwide credit reporting agency: Equifax, Experian or TransUnion. Under federal law, you are entitled to one free copy of your credit report every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies. If you discover information on your credit report arising from a fraudulent transaction, you should request that the credit reporting agency correct that information on your credit report file. You may request a free copy of your credit report by going to www.annualcreditreport.com, calling toll-free 1-877-322-8228, or completing the Annual Credit Request Form on the FTC's website at www.consumer.ftc.gov and mailing it to Annual Credit Report Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281.
- You may also request that a fraud alert be placed on your credit file. A fraud alert can make it more difficult for someone to get credit in your name because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to protect you, but it also may delay your ability to obtain credit. To place a fraud alert, contact the fraud department of one of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies detailed below. When you request a fraud alert from one agency, it will notify the other two for you. You can place an initial fraud alert for one year and cancel fraud alerts at any time. During this process, a consumer reporting agency will require you to provide appropriate proof of your identity, which may include your Social Security number.

- In addition, you can contact the three nationwide credit reporting agencies regarding if and how you may place a security freeze on your credit reports to prohibit a credit reporting agency from releasing information from your credit report without your prior authorization. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit report without your consent. As a result, using a security freeze may interfere with or delay your ability to obtain credit. You must separately place a security freeze on your credit file with each nationwide credit reporting agency listed above (Equifax, Experian or TransUnion). There is no charge to place or lift a security freeze. As the instructions for establishing a security freeze differ from state to state, please contact the three nationwide consumer reporting agencies to find more information.

In order to request a security freeze, you may need to provide the following information:

1. Your full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.); current residential address; social security number; and date of birth
2. If you have moved in the past five (5) years, you may also need to provide the addresses where you have lived over the prior five years
3. Proof of your current residential address (such as utility bill, pay stub with address or telephone bill)
4. A legible photocopy of a government issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, military identification, etc.)
5. If you are a victim of identity theft, include a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft

Note: Under Massachusetts law, you have the right to obtain a police report filed regarding this incident. You may also place a security freeze on your credit reports free of charge, as described above.
