INTRODUCTION

Chapter 555 of the Acts of 1986 inserted Chapter 62F into the Massachusetts General Laws. This chapter provides for the establishment of a state tax revenue growth limit for each fiscal year beginning with the fiscal year ended June 30, 1987. This limit is calculated on the basis of the level of growth in total wages and salaries of the citizens of the Commonwealth. In addition, the law requires that the Commissioner of Revenue (Commissioner), annually on or before September 1, prepare and submit to the State Auditor a report of the net state tax revenues and the allowable state tax revenues of the Commonwealth for the preceding fiscal year.

In accordance with Chapter 62F of the General Laws, the State Auditor is responsible for reviewing the Commissioner's report for completeness and accuracy each fiscal year. In doing so, the State Auditor may make, or request that the Commissioner make, any necessary adjustments or modifications to ensure its completeness and accuracy. Further, the State Auditor, annually on or before the third Tuesday of September, independently determines whether net state tax revenues for the fiscal year exceeded allowable state tax revenues. If the State Auditor determines that there was an excess of state tax revenues, she reports that determination and the amount by which allowable state tax revenues were exceeded to the Governor, the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House, and the Commissioner. The law further states that the determination of the State Auditor (as to the existence and the amount of excess state tax revenues) shall be conclusive. Thereafter, the Commissioner is required by statute to take all the necessary actions to effectuate a credit equal to the total amount of such excess.

On July 30, 1987, the Commissioner prepared his first annual report, as required by Chapter 62F of the General Laws, on net state tax revenues and allowable state tax revenues and submitted it to the State Auditor for review. The State Auditor reviewed the report for completeness and accuracy and determined, on August 15, 1987, that state tax revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1987 exceeded allowable state tax revenues by $29,221,675 (Audit Report No. 88-5004-9). Accordingly, the State Auditor requested that the Commissioner effectuate a credit of $29,221,675. The Commissioner responded by adding a line on the 1987 version of the Massachusetts Individual Income Tax Return, upon which each individual taxpayer could insert their individually calculated share of the $29,221,675 credit.

After the State Auditor reviewed the Commissioner's fiscal year 2022 tax revenues report for completeness and accuracy, it was determined on September 15, 2022 that net state tax revenues for the fiscal year ended

June 30, 2022 exceeded allowable state tax revenues by $2,941,499,731 (Audit Report No. 2023-5555-3S). Accordingly, the State Auditor requested that the Commission effectuate a credit of $2,941,499,731, in accordance with Section 6 of Chapter 62F of the General Laws. The Commissioner responded by returning excess revenue to taxpayers based on their 2021 personal income tax returns.

For fiscal years 1987 through 2026, net state tax revenues increased approximately 432% from $8,102,373,437 to $43,113,374,039. Allowable state tax revenues increased approximately 498% from $8,073,151,762 to $48,266,193,259 during the same time period. For fiscal years 1988 through 2021 and 2023 through 2025, the State Auditor determined that net state tax revenues were less than allowable state tax revenues; therefore, no credit was required to be effectuated by the Commissioner for those years.

CONCLUSION

For the fiscal year ended June 30, 2026, we have determined that the net state tax revenues of $43,113,374,039 were below the allowable state tax revenues of $48,266,193,259 (as defined in Chapter 62F of the Massachusetts General Laws) by $5,152,819,220, resulting in no excess state tax revenues (see Exhibit I). As a result, no credit is required to be issued to taxpayers.

AUDIT OBJECTIVES, SCOPE, AND METHODOLOGY

Pursuant to Chapter 62F of the Massachusetts General Laws (inserted by St. 1986, C. 555, S. 2), the State Auditor is required to (1) review and ensure the completeness and accuracy of the Commissioner of Revenue's Report of the Net State Tax Revenues and Allowable State Tax Revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2026 and (2) independently determine whether net state tax revenues exceeded allowable state tax revenues and report the determination and amount of any excess state tax revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2026, which were the objectives of this audit.

We conducted this performance audit in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our audit objectives. We believe that the evidence obtained provides a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our audit objectives.

We gained an understanding of the internal control environment related to the audit objectives at the Department of Revenue (DOR) and the other six state agencies that the Office of the Comptroller of the Commonwealth (CTR) identified as receiving Chapter 62F state tax revenues: the Massachusetts Gaming Commission, the Massachusetts State Lottery Commission, the Massachusetts State Athletic Commission, the Division of Insurance, the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and the Department of Unemployment Assistance. We accomplished this by reviewing policies and procedures, inspecting documents, and interviewing staff members and management at DOR and the other six state agencies. We also tested the operating effectiveness of controls related to the supervisory review and approval of the monthly bank reconciliations that DOR completes for each individual account. In addition, we also conducted a site-visit to observe the year-end closing procedures and lockbox processing of collections and deposits related to Chapter 62F revenues of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts lockboxes held at the Bank of America in Dorchester.

To obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to address our audit objectives, we performed the following procedures:

- We reconciled Chapter 62F state tax revenues received by DOR and the other six agencies to the information in the state's accounting system, Mosaic. To this end, we reviewed DOR's GeniSys accounting and reporting system and determined that GeniSys transactions were accurately reported in Mosaic (see Exhibit II and Exhibit VI).

- We obtained the most recent Massachusetts wage and salary data paid to the citizens of the Commonwealth for calendar year 2025 from the US Department of Commerce’s Bureau of Economic Analysis and recalculated the allowable state tax growth factor. We used the recalculated growth factor to determine the allowable net state tax revenue for fiscal year 2026 (see Exhibit IV and Exhibit V). We then compared the net state tax revenue to the allowable state tax revenue for fiscal year 2026 (see Exhibit I).

Data Reliability

To determine the reliability of the revenue data, we selected a judgmental sample¹ of three months—October 2025 and February and June 2026—from the audit period (the fiscal year ended June 30, 2026). For these months, we reviewed all recorded Chapter 62F state tax revenues in Mosaic, which replaced the Massachusetts Management Accounting and Reporting System in February 2026, and reconciled them to DOR’s revenue recorded in GeniSys and CTR’s revenue records. Furthermore, we compared and reconciled revenues recorded in GeniSys to CTR’s recorded Chapter 62F state tax revenues and the revenues recorded by the other six state agencies to CTR’s tax revenue records to confirm their accuracy. Additionally, we reviewed all revenues recorded by the other six state agencies and reconciled them to Mosaic.

The financial data from Mosaic constitutes the official accounting records of the Commonwealth and forms the basis of the Commonwealth’s audited annual financial statements. We performed a data reliability assessment of Mosaic that focused on testing selected system controls, including access controls, application controls, security management, and segregation of duties.

We selected a judgmental sample of three months of bank reconciliations (October 2025 and February and June 2026) performed by DOR during the audit period and verified that the deposits DOR recorded in its financial records reconciled with the information in its bank statements as well as with the deposit information maintained by the Office of the State Treasurer and Receiver General.

For GeniSys, we leveraged the results from a prior year’s audit (Audit Report No. 2025-5555-3S) and performed the following additional procedures. We interviewed DOR staff members and determined that there were no significant changes made regarding general information technology controls, including security management, access controls, configuration management, segregation of duties, and contingency planning. In addition, we tested access controls, background checks, and security awareness training for users for the audit period.

For example, an auditor might select data from areas of high risk. The results of testing using judgmental sampling cannot be projected to entire populations.

Also, for the audit period, we performed variance analyses on the Chapter 62F revenues reported by DOR and the six other agencies to determine whether significant changes between fiscal years were within reasonable ranges and whether all sources of Chapter 62F state tax revenues were reported.

Based on the results of the data reliability assessment procedures described above, we determined that the information we obtained during the course of our audit was sufficiently reliable for the purposes of our audit.
