

Blue Hills State Reservation

White-Tailed Deer Management Program 2022

Deer Management to Improve Forest Health in the Blue Hills Reservation

From the canopy to the understory, healthy forests are made up of trees and plants of multiple age classes and a diversity of vegetation. This forest system also provides habitat for a rich and varied wildlife population. Forests with high deer densities prevent forest regeneration as deer over-browse on the forest’s vegetation. Extremely high deer densities also contribute to the growth of invasive species and reduce biodiversity.

The Blue Hills Deer Management Program is part of DCR’s long-term effort to manage high deer densities within the Blue Hills Reservation. The primary objective is to maintain an ecologically sustainable deer density that allows for the continuous growth and development of forest regeneration. The DCR wishes to reduce the negative impacts that high deer densities have on the regenerating forest to ensure a healthy forest composed of adequate diversity of species and age classes.

To initiate deer management within the Blue Hills Reservation, DCR and MassWildlife successfully implemented the first-ever controlled deer hunt in the Reservation during the 2015 hunting season. Now in its seventh year, the program will feature a permitted archery hunt in designated areas of the Reservation.

2022 Permitted Archery Hunt

The 2022 permitted archery deer hunt will take place over the course of 11 days from November 7 through November 23, 2022 on Mondays through Thursdays only.
