

Andrew Thompson

Boston Building Resources

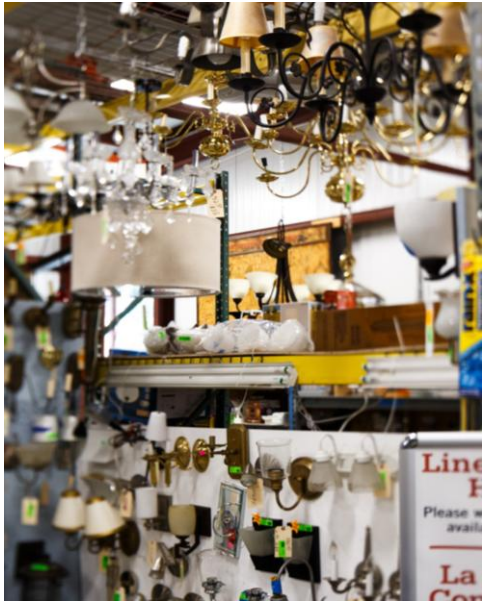

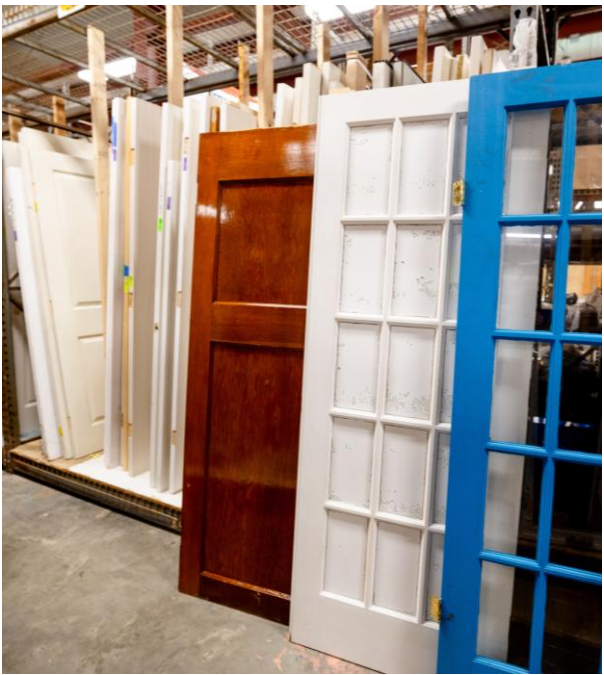

We inspire, educate, and empower homeowners to increase the efficiency and value of their homes.

Who are we?

- Nonprofit focused on building material reuse and education
- Open in Roxbury Crossing since 1993
- Over 5,000 customers, donors, workshop attendees, etc. in 2024
- Serving homeowners, renters, contractors, designers, etc.
- Store open to the public
 - Program for low-income customers to get deeper discount
- Broad range of educational workshops
 - Home improvement skills and concepts, art making/creative reuse, intro to tools for women, etc.

Community Resource

- Tool Box event—networking for women and gender diverse folks in the building trades
- Boston Architectural College partnership—working with the next generation of architects to show the potential of building materials reuse
- Robust and growing volunteer group—over 85 individuals in 2024
 - Students—Northeastern, BAC, Wentworth, MassArt
 - Community members
 - Other organizations

Deconstruction

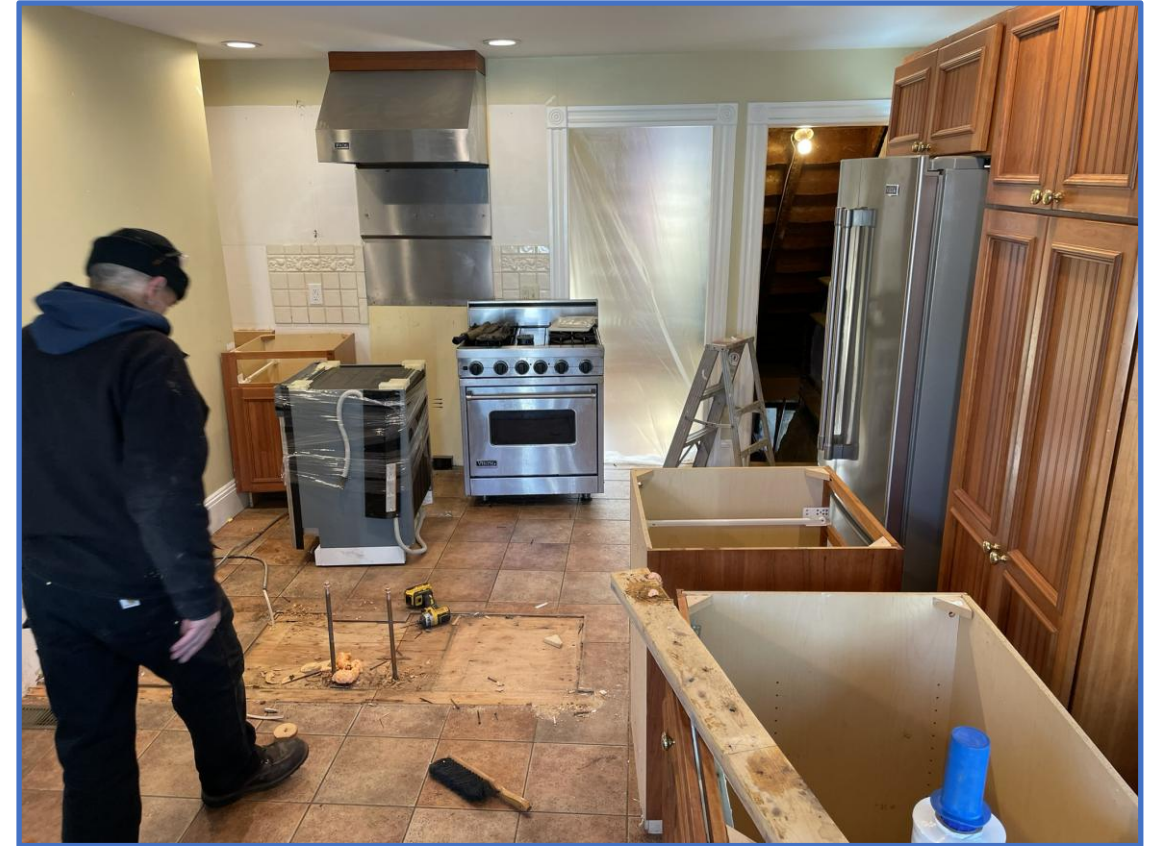

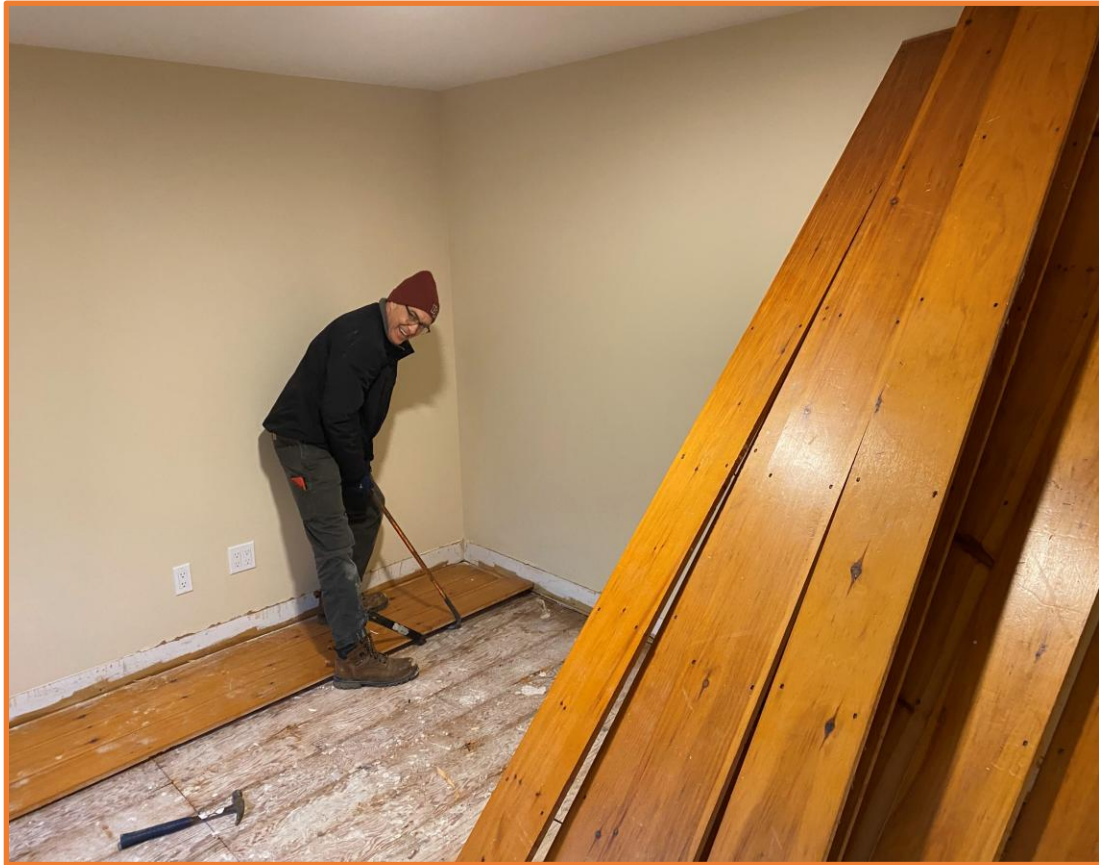

What do we deconstruct?

We focus on materials we can easily resell in the Reuse Center:

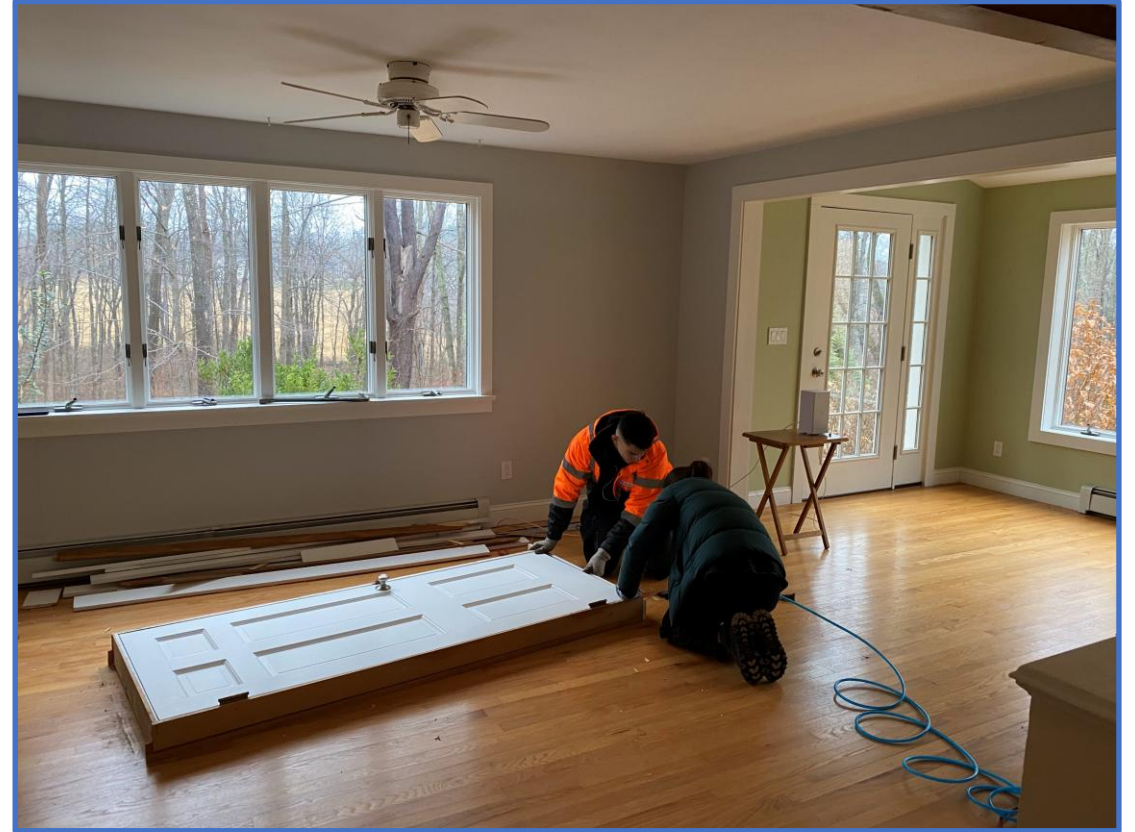

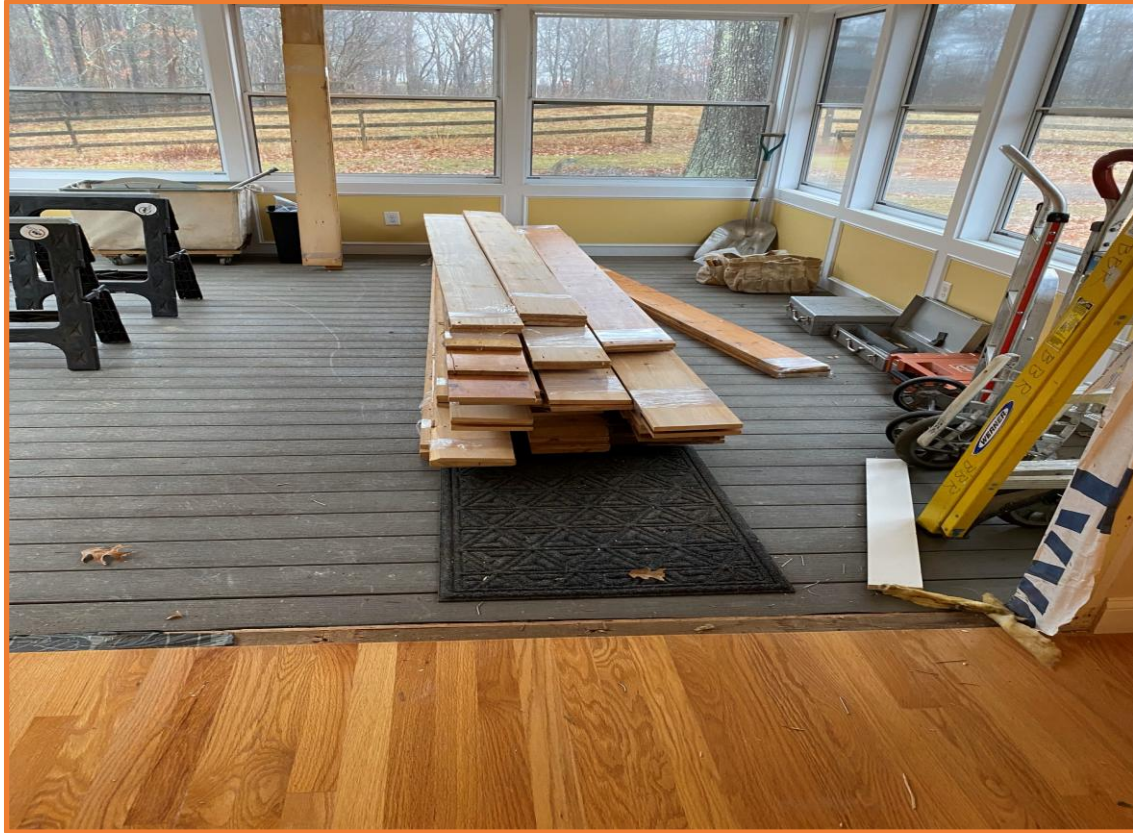

- Cabinets
- Appliances
- Windows
- Doors
- Architectural elements
- Plumbing fixtures
- Lighting
- Decking
- Flooring
- Millwork
- Framing
- Masonry
- Art installations

donations@bostonbuildingresources.com

Andrew Thompson

Assistant Director, Partnerships

andrew@bostonbuildingresources.com

339.222.9216 (mobile)