Artifacts recovered from state lands (submerged bottom lands, wetlands, and uplands) are state property. It is a violation of state law to surface collect or excavate without having proper authorization. The only exceptions are for surface collection of Isolated Finds and at Exempted Sites. However, anyone who collects an Isolated Find must report these recoveries to the Board. The List of Exempted Sites is available from the Board. An Isolated Find is an artifact displaced from its original archaeological context through erosion, water currents or other natural processes. Determining a resource to be an Isolated Find rest exclusively with the Board.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: Isolated finds may NOT be recovered from inside Federal Parks, Refuges or Sanctuaries, or State Parks, Reservations, and Underwater Archaeological Preserves.
