May 2014

The population covered in this report, termed ‘release to the street population’, includes any criminally sentenced inmate released to the street from a Massachusetts Department of Correction (MADOC) facility as well as DOC inmates released from other correctional facilities (jurisdiction). Under this definition, DOC inmates released from Massachusetts’ Houses of Correction, other states’ correctional facilities and the Federal Bureau of Prisons during 2013 are included in the population. The population described in this report includes criminally sentenced inmates released via expiration of sentence, parole to the street, release from parole detainer and court releases.

Introduction

Inmates under the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts Department of Correction (MADOC) are released to many different communities throughout the state and in some cases are released to communities outside of Massachusetts. This brief is a statistical look at the communities to which criminally sentenced inmates are being released<sup>1</sup>. For the purposes of this report, communities may refer to counties, cities, towns or municipalities both in and outside of Massachusetts. As of 2012, releases from parole detainees as well as court releases were added to the definition of “release to the street”.

Note: Excludes 156 inmates including 151 releasing to communities outside of Massachusetts and 5 unreported

In the calendar year 2013, there were 2,678 inmates released to the street, which was a decrease of 27 (1%) from 2012. This decrease was driven by a decrease in female releases from 601 in 2012 to 581 in 2013 (n = 20), namely court releases. Male releases also decreased on a smaller scale from 2,104 in 2012 to 2,097 in 2013 (n = 7).

<sup>1</sup> Information regarding release address is self-reported by inmates prior to their release. It is likely that some release addresses reflect temporary, even residential treatment locales, not necessarily long term homes in the community.

- ◆ Over half (51%) of the inmates released during 2013 reported a release address in one of the top ten cities/towns listed in Table 1.
- ◆ Similar to 2012, the release address with the highest number of releases reported was to the various communities in the city of Boston (19%) followed by Springfield (8%) and Worcester (5%).
- ◆ Despite having the greatest reduction in releases from 2012 (n = 54) Boston still remained the number one release address in 2013.
- ◆ Twenty percent of court releases due to the crime lab situation were released to Boston.

- ◆ In contrast, the majority of females (56%) reported a release address outside one of the top ten cities/towns, while (39%) reported a release address in the top ten.
- ◆ Though there are many repeat release communities from previous years' lists for females, Quincy is no longer in the top ten compared to releases in 2012. Salisbury is now a top ten community of release for females.
- ◆ Female releases by community are also somewhat skewed due to the fact that not all counties house females.<sup>3</sup>

- ◆ Boston was the top city reported by both male (21%) and female (11%) inmates as their release address. The second most commonly reported city for males was Springfield (9%), followed by Worcester (6%) and Fall River and New Bedford (each 3%).
- ◆ Females differed from the males where the second most commonly reported release address was Lynn (5%), followed by Haverhill (5%) and Ashland (4%).
- ◆ Similar to 2012, a majority of the male releases (56%) reported a release address in one of the top ten cities/towns.

<sup>3</sup> Not all Massachusetts counties house their female inmates. Massachusetts General Law dictates that females may be committed directly by the courts to the DOC for a House of Correction sentence. The counties of Barnstable, Berkshire, Bristol, Franklin, Hampden, and Suffolk house females in their county correctional facilities. Hampden County has increased their capacity to house county sentenced females for other western Massachusetts regions (including Worcester).

* Source: U.S. Census Bureau, 2012 county population count

Twenty-three percent of the total population reported a release address located in Suffolk County. The greatest percentage of female releases were to Middlesex county (24%), followed by Essex (22%) and Suffolk (13%) counties.<sup>2</sup> The greatest percentage of males were released to Suffolk county (23%), followed by Hampden (13%) and Worcester (12%) counties. When looking at the concentration (the rate per 100,000 residents) of releases to the street, Suffolk county had the greatest concentration at 75 followed by Hampden county with 61, then Essex county with 47.
