

The following information applies to the use of your new placard

This placard has been issued to you. You are the only person entitled to use it.

You may use it in any vehicle you are operating or in which you are being transported.

When the vehicle is parked, the placard must be hung from the rearview mirror with the identification number and expiration date visible from the front of the vehicle.

If there is no rearview mirror, place the placard on the dashboard with the identification number and expiration date visible.

The placard is to be displayed only when the vehicle is parked, not when it is in operation.

A citation could be issued for obstructing the driver's view if the placard is not removed when the vehicle is in operation.

You may be required to provide identification to law enforcement to establish that you are the person entitled to use the placard.

Is my placard permanent or temporary?

If the expiration date is in red ink, it is temporary, and you will need to reapply 30 days prior to the expiration date if you need additional time.

If the expiration date is in black ink, it is permanent and will renew automatically.

The color of the expiration date on the placard tells you and law enforcement if your placard is temporary or permanent.

Wrongful use by any other person carries 60 day loss of license, placard revocation, $500 fine for the first offense. $50 fine for covering placard number/date.
