

Dr. Mohammed Issa

Dr. Issa is an Assistant Professor at Harvard Medical School with clinical appointments in the Departments of Anesthesiology and Psychiatry. He is also the Fellowship Director for the pain medicine program at Brigham and Women's Hospital, and the Medical Director of the pain clinic at Brigham and Women's Faulkner Hospital. He is board certified in Psychiatry, Addiction Psychiatry and Pain Medicine. His clinical interest is focused on bridging the gap between psychiatry and chronic pain, and treating complex pain patients with psychiatric comorbidities, including substance use problems.