To whom it may concern:

We were distressed to learn that pneumatic elevators or shatless elevators are not allowed in Ma. We are aware that they are considered safe in all our abutting states. My husband has a late developing form of muscular dystrophy and is finding it very difficult to negotiate our second floor steps. We would hope to stay in our home as long as possible and were excited to learn about this elevator option. We do not have room for a more standard elevator with room for machines as well nor do the chair lifts work for our home.

We hope the state of Massachusetts will reconsider this option for those of us who are looking at all possibilities to help our loved ones they in their home.

Please reconsider the possibility of allowing these elevators in our state.

Thank you for your consideration.
